Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

On September 29, 2009, the Board of Directors of Dynatronics Corporation appointed Douglas G. Sampson as Vice President of Production and Research and Development, replacing Ronald Hatch who has retired. Sampson, 55, was employed previously by the Philips companies in various subsidiaries in Asia and in the United States. From October 2002 to September 2007 he was Country Manager and Managing Director of NXP Semiconductor, Philips Semiconductor Thailand, where he was primarily responsible for all aspects of the manufacturing and sales operations of that subsidiary. From October 2007 to November 2008, Sampson was Vice President of Outsourced Manufacturing for Fairchild Semiconductors (Singapore). From December 2008 until he joined Dynatronics in September 2009, Sampson pursued personal interests and volunteer service opportunities. Sampson received an Executive Masters of Business Administration degree from the University of New Mexico, Anderson School of Management, in Albuquerque, New Mexico in 1997. He also holds a Bachelor of Science degree (Electronics Engineering Technology) from Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah (1980) and an Associates Degree (Electronics Engineering Technology) from Brigham Young University Idaho (formerly Ricks College), Rexburg, Idaho (1977).
