Item 8.01. Other Events.

Segment Reporting

As previously disclosed, The Home Depot, Inc. (the "Company") began to report its results of operations in two segments during the first quarter of fiscal year 2006 as a result of the purchase of Hughes Supply, Inc., which significantly increased the size of Home Depot Supply and resulted in changes to the Company's internal reporting and management structure. The Company now reports its results in two segments, Retail and Supply.

As required by Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 131, consolidated financial statements issued by the Company in the future will reflect modifications to the Company's reportable segment information resulting from the changes described above, including reclassification of all comparative prior period segment information.

The consolidated financial statements filed as Exhibit 99.1 hereto include corresponding segment information for prior periods on a comparative basis. The information presented affects only segment disclosures and does not in any way restate or revise the financial position, results of operations or cash flows in previously filed statements of earnings, balance sheets or statements of cash flows. Except as noted above, the consolidated financial statements remain unchanged from the consolidated financial statements that were filed in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended January 29, 2006. The additional segment information has no material impact on the disclosure in the Company's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations presented in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended January 29, 2006 and has no material impact on the disclosure in the description of Business.

Stock Option Practices

As disclosed on June 16, 2006, the Company conducted a review of its stock option grant practices and procedures since 1996. A copy of this press release is filed as Exhibit 99.2 hereto. On June 23, 2006, the Company was notified by the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission that it had initiated an informal inquiry in connection with the Company's disclosure. The Company intends to fully cooperate with the SEC staff. Although the Company cannot predict the outcome of this matter, it does not expect that this informal inquiry will have a material adverse effect on the Company's consolidated financial position or its results of operations.

Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements contained herein, including any statements related to Net Sales growth, impact of cannibalization, commodity price inflation and deflation, implementation of store initiatives, protection of intellectual property rights, Net Earnings performance, including Depreciation expense, earnings per share, stock-based compensation expense, store openings and closures, capital allocation and expenditures, the effect of adopting certain accounting standards, margins, return on invested capital, the growth of Home Depot Supply, our ability to successfully operate in a non-retail industry, management of our purchasing or customer credit policies, strategic direction and the demand for our products and services, constitute "forward-looking statements" as defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements are based on currently available information and are based on our current expectations and projections about future events. These statements are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from our historical experience and expectations. These risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to: economic conditions in North America; changes in our cost structure; the availability of sourcing channels consistent with our strategy of differentiation; conditions affecting new store development, such as our ability to find suitable store
