HireRight Team-

A few minutes ago we announced exciting news – a definitive agreement to merge HireRight with the commercial services business unit of USIS. Knowing that this comes as a great surprise to most of you, I’ve scheduled a series of special Town Hall Meetings today and tomorrow so that I can outline the reasons behind this merger, why we believe it is an exciting opportunity for the company, and additional merger details. The dates and times of the Town Hall Meetings are as follows.

Nicki will be sending out meeting invitations for each of these meetings shortly. I’ve also asked Randy Dobbs, the CEO of USIS, to visit and he will be coming to our Rancho and Irvine facilities on Tuesday, June 10. Invitations for additional Town Hall meetings with Randy will be sent shortly.

Prior to the Town Hall Meetings, let me provide a few high level thoughts on the merger. When we began our conversations with USIS, I wouldn’t have guessed that it would lead to today’s announcement. I didn’t know much about USIS as a company, its market focus, or vision for the future. What I’ve learned since, however, is that our combination presents a unique opportunity to create a truly exceptional global leader in the employment screening industry.

HireRight and USIS businesses are remarkably complementary. You’re well aware of HireRight’s key strengths – our culture of innovation and customer focus, the strength of our team, the quality and depth of our technology-based solutions, the breadth of our customer base, and the extent of our partner network. USIS complements our strengths with deep vertical expertise in the transportation, retail, and insurance industries, has direct ownership of valuable data sources, and has the leverage of the largest government sector business in the industry.

A combination of our two businesses will position us as one of the largest and most capable screening solution providers in the world. We will have many distinct advantages, including our solutions platform and technical capabilities, our extensive services portfolio, strong financial resources and subject matter expertise. As you know, we have five long-term strategic goals for HireRight – Maximize our Core Business, Expand Globally, Grow Small Business, Be a Best

Edgar Filing: HIRERIGHT INC - Form DEFA14A

Company to Work For, and Be Socially Responsible. Our merger with USIS will allow us to achieve these goals much faster; positioning us as the preeminent screening company in the world.

One thing to note is that USIS is not a public company. Rather, USIS is owned by Providence Equity Partners, an elite private equity company with a strong track record helping fund and grow outstanding businesses. This focus on growth is well aligned with our goals of growing our business both domestically and globally, and means that we will continue to focus on expansion and being the top player in the market.

We've posted information on the HireRight Intranet at the following link: <http://intranet.hireright.com/merger>. In case you get calls about this announcement, we've provided our communication guidelines on this site as well. Please take a moment to review them.

Having gone through several mergers during my career, I know that it can be difficult to deal with the uncertainty that comes with a change like this. Please know that I, along with my executive team and the senior team of USIS, will do everything we can to communicate actively and openly with you and to make decisions that reflect the best interests of our customers, employees, and shareholders. I appreciate your ongoing commitment to HireRight, our customers, and each other today and in the months ahead.

Sincerely, Eric
