ECOLAB FORECASTS CONTINUED 2009 EPS GROWTH TO $1.95 TO $2.05

2008 EPS Pro Forma EPS forecast remains $1.85-$1.87

ST. PAUL, Minnesota November 10, 2008 Ecolab has announced that, despite the increasingly challenging economic outlook, it looks for continued earnings growth in 2009.

Douglas M. Baker, Jr., Ecolab's Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer, said, "We presently expect 2009 to see continued revenue growth in fixed exchange rates. We look for both oil-based and inorganic raw materials to be well above year-ago levels in at least the first half of the year and expect significantly unfavorable foreign exchange throughout the year. We will work hard to offset these headwinds with new products, new account growth, better customer penetration and an even more aggressive drive to reduce costs and improve operational efficiency. For 2009, we believe we will have pro forma diluted earnings per share, excluding special gains and charges and discrete tax items and including the impact of the repurchase of shares expected under the agreement announced with Henkel today, in a $1.95 to $2.05 range.

Ecolab previously said it expects 2008 pro forma diluted earnings per share, excluding special gains and charges and discrete tax items, to be in a $1.85 to $1.87 range. Reported 2007 earnings per share of $1.70 included special gains and charges; excluding those items, pro forma 2007 earnings per share were $1.66.
