Item 8.01. Other Events.

As explained in more detail below, after causing 186-194 Imlay St. Realty Corp. ( Imlay ) to bring suit against Life Sciences, Inc. on August 12, 2008 and resigning more than 12 weeks later on November 6, 2008 as an officer and director of Life Sciences after more than 40 years, Simon Srybnik sent a letter dated November 26, 2008 to the Securities and Exchange Commission explaining, among other matters, that he resigned his positions, including as CEO of Life Sciences, solely because of the potential conflict brought about by his co-ownership of entities having to sue Life Sciences for amounts owed.

On August 12, 2008, Imlay, a New York corporation controlled by Simon Srybnik and his brother Louis D. Srybnik, commenced a legal action in the U.S. District Court, Eastern District of New York, against Life Sciences for monetary damages exceeding $1,665,000 relating to unpaid rent on Life Sciences St. Petersburg, Florida facilities, and associated real property taxes, attorneys fees and costs. See the Forms 8-K filed by the Company with the SEC on November 10, 2008 and November 26, 2008.

On November 6, 2008, Simon Srybnik, at the time and still a controlling person with his brother Louis D. Srybnik of Life Sciences through their direct and indirect beneficial share ownership of more than 60% of the stock of the Company, resigned as a director and officer of the Company. Simon Srybnik was a director and officer of Life Sciences for more than 40 years, including the Chairman of the Board, Chief Executive Officer and President for more than the 10 years preceding his resignation.

In Simon Srybnik s letter dated November 26, 2008 addressed to the SEC concerning his resignation as Chief Executive Officer of Life Sciences, he states, among other matters, that he resigned on November 6, 2008 solely because of the potential conflict brought about by his co-ownership of entities having to sue Life Sciences for amounts owed. See the attached Exhibit 99.2 which is incorporated herein by this reference.
