Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On March 27, 2012, the Federal Trade Commission (the "FTC"), with the consent of the parties as part of the FTC's consideration of a settlement proposal by Graco, served an order that allows Graco's proposed acquisition of the finishing businesses of Illinois Tool Works Inc. ("ITW") to proceed to an anticipated closing on April 2, 2012, subject to certain conditions. Graco has agreed to hold ITW's liquid finishing businesses separate from the rest of Graco's business following the closing, to allow the FTC time to conduct an investigation as to what portion of ITW's liquid finishing assets Graco must divest in order to resolve the competitive concerns with the acquisition that the FTC has alleged in its complaint against the parties. Following the conclusion of the FTC's investigation, the FTC will enter a decision and order in the matter. Graco will have 180 days from the date the FTC's decision and order becomes final to complete the required divestiture. The FTC has withdrawn the matter from administrative litigation and it is anticipated that it will shortly withdraw its federal court challenge to the transaction as well. The terms of the settlement are outlined in an Agreement between Graco, ITW, and ITW Finishing LLC, as respondents, and Counsel for the FTC, which has been approved by the FTC Commissioners and is filed as Exhibit 10.1 hereto.

Item 9.01. Financial Statements and Exhibits.
