GRAVITY TAKES STEPS TO DRIVE GLOBAL MARKETING EXPANSION

SEOUL, South Korea, December 27, 2005, GRAVITY Co., Ltd. (Nasdaq: GRVY), a developer and distributor of online games in Korea, announced that it has entered into a Software Licensing Agreement for the rights to publish "Emile Chronicle Online" outside of Japan and a Software Purchase Agreement of "Emile Chronicle Online" with GungHo Online Entertainment, Inc. ("GungHo"), a leading Japanese online game company.

Emile Chronicle Online, a Massively Multiplayer Online Role Playing Game ("MMORPG"), whose character design is Japanese manga (or Japanese comic book) and animation style presents a number of characteristics not commonly found in other online games, including the function which develops game characters without direct manipulation even when users log out of the game session. Since the beginning of a closed beta test on August 1, 2005, in Japan, one of the world's most developed online gaming markets, the number of total registered IDs of "Emile Chronicle Online" has currently reached approximately 310,000 and the game has been commercialized recently.

Mr. Il Young Ryu, the chief executive officer of Gravity, commented, "by entering into the agreements with GungHo, we hope to implement our strategic initiative of strengthening our overseas publishing business, as we had announced in August 2005. We believe that Emile Chronicle Online represents an ideal vehicle for such expansion, since we expect that the game will present a wide appeal to game users who are familiar with Japanese manga and animation. As well as expanding the overseas publishing business, we are actively pursuing the strengthening of the development of our own game, the core of our business."
