Item 1.01

Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On November 21, 2016, Nanophase Technologies Corporation (the “Company”) and Roche Diagnostics GmbH (“Roche”) entered into the Second Amendment (the “Second Amendment”) to the Supply Agreement of March 3, 2006, as previously amended by the First Amendment dated November 19, 2014, between the Company and Roche (as previously amended, the “Supply Agreement”). The Second Amendment, which is effective as of December 1, 2016, sets forth the price per kilogram that will be payable by Roche and/or its affiliates to the Company for the Company’s products, based on a non-binding forecasted volume of products to be purchased by Roche in a given calendar year. The Second Amendment also (i) revises the definition of the term “Affiliates,” (ii) addresses the parties’ agreements, responsibilities, obligations, cost allocation and liability with respect to foreign trade control and customs matters and (iii) adds a section regarding the Company’s compliance with those laws and regulations related to safety, health and environmental matters that are applicable to the manufacture of the Company’s products at its manufacturing site, its respect of human rights, and its compliance, and its suppliers’ compliance, with the Roche Supplier Code of Conduct, which section provides Roche with the right to terminate the Supply Agreement at any time by written notice to the Company in the case of non-compliance.

All other terms and conditions in the Supply Agreement as in effect immediately prior to the Second Amendment remain in full force and effect thereafter. The foregoing description of the Second Amendment does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the text of the Second Amendment, which is filed, with confidential portions redacted, as Exhibit 10.1 hereto and is incorporated herein by reference.
