MOODY'S REVIEWS PLDT'S RATINGS FOR POSSIBLE UPGRADE

MOODY'S REVIEWS PLDT'S RATINGS FOR POSSIBLE UPGRADE

Approximately US$1.3 billion in Debt Securities Affected

Hong Kong, October 13, 2005 -- Moody's Investors Service today placed the ratings of Philippine Long Distance Company (PLDT) on review for possible upgrade. At the same time, Moody's assigned PLDT a local currency corporate family rating of Ba2 and placed it on review for possible upgrade. The review for upgrade results from continual improvements in PLDT's financial risk profile.

The review will focus on: [1] the sustainability of improvements in

PLDT's operating and financial profile; [2] Prospective capex requirements, particularly as it relates to any investment in 3G technology; [3] Possible structural subordination given debt at the Smart Cellular subsidiary; [4] Ongoing exposure to movements in the USD/PHP exchange rate; and [5] PLDT's investment strategy. Moody's expects to complete its review by end-2005.

The ratings on review are:

Local Currency Corporate Family Rating of Ba2

Foreign Currency Senior Unsecured Rating of Ba3

Foreign Currency Senior Unsecured Shelf Rating of (P)Ba3

Foreign Currency Preferred Stock Rating of B1

Foreign Currency Preferred Stock Shelf Rating of (P)B1

Moody's went onto say that PLDT will be approaching holders of certain bonds, roughly US$312 million, to either gain their consent to a change in the restrictive payments covenant or to tender their bonds. The company is offering bondholders a reduction in its debt incurrence test ratio to 3.5x from 4.5x. Moody's does not expect either the covenant changes or the prospective tendering of the bonds to adversely impact PLDT's credit profile.

PLDT is well advanced in its debt reduction program, which is leading to lower interest costs, increased cash flows, and reduced exposure to foreign exchange rate risk. The company is targeting a reduction of over US$600 million in 2005, and has already achieved roughly $550 million of this objective. It has over US$530 million in cash at present.

Moody's notes up to five 3G licences may be awarded in the next 6 months. Upfront fees are unlikely; rather licensees will be required to provide an operable service offering within 12 months and a ubiquitous offering within 5 years. Current players are likely to acquire licences and continue to dominate the market.

PLDT does not expect capex to rise above PhP16-18 billion per annum. This projection encompasses funding for both 3G build-out and fixed-line network upgrades. Such a level of capex represents only a moderate increase on current levels.

Moody's continued to say that PLDT's current foreign currency senior unsecured debt rating of Ba3 is above the Philippines' foreign currency country ceiling of B1. The foreign currency senior unsecured debt rating incorporates convertibility risk, which is the likelihood of the government declaring a debt moratorium to counter a foreign currency crisis. Moody's views foreign currency bonds subject to international law as less likely to be subject to a debt moratorium than foreign currency obligations subject to local law.

Therefore, a differential is present between PLDT's foreign currency bond rating and the sovereign rating. As such, PLDT's foreign currency bond rating is a function of its own risk of default and the probability of a Philippine government default on its foreign debt (implied by its B1 rating), the likelihood that the government would declare a moratorium in the event of a default, and if it did, the chances that it would exempt a company such as PLDT.

Philippine Long Distance Company, based in Manila, Republic of Philippines, is that country's leading provider of integrated telecommunications services.
