FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Zebra Technologies to Acquire Fargo Electronics

Vernon Hills, IL, and Eden Prairie, MN, July 31, 2001-Zebra Technologies Corporation (Nasdaq: ZBRA) and Fargo Electronics, Inc., (Nasdaq: FRGO) today announced that the companies have signed a definitive agreement for Zebra to acquire all of the outstanding common stock of Fargo for $7.25 per share in cash, or approximately $86.0 million, plus the assumption of approximately $18.0 million in debt. The transaction will combine the companies' instant-issuance plastic card printing businesses. It will broaden Zebra's product line for on-demand printing of personalized identification cards to provide asset, information and transaction security.

Under the terms of the agreement, Zebra will begin a cash tender offer for Fargo Electronics common stock. The tender offer will be subject to certain conditions, including successful termination of Hart-Scott-Rodino antitrust review, and at least a majority of the outstanding shares of Fargo's common stock on a fully diluted basis being tendered without withdrawal before expiration of the offer. The tender offer is expected to be completed by the end of August. Following completion of the tender offer, and subject to certain conditions, Zebra intends to consummate a second-step merger in which all of the remaining Fargo stockholders receive the same price paid in the tender offer.

The $7.25 per share to be paid by Zebra represents a premium of approximately 32% over the closing price of Fargo's common stock on July 30, 2001 and a premium of approximately 60% over the average closing price of Fargo's common stock during the previous 60 days.

"We respect Fargo for its products, technology and markets served, which will complement Zebra's own capacities in these areas and help deliver enhanced products and services to customers around the world," stated Edward Kaplan, Zebra's chairman and chief executive officer. "The acquisition will bring high-definition printing and image processing technology and an outstanding patent portfolio. We intend to offer customers more products and value-added features by integrating the best from both companies' product lines. Zebra's market strengths in driver's licenses and personal identification will complement Fargo's presence in government applications and access control. We expect that our combined engineering capability will help ensure an ongoing stream of innovative products and accessories, including competitive alternatives to other printing systems and technologies. Overall, this acquisition will further diversify Zebra, as we continue to pursue specialty-printing applications in high-growth emerging markets. It follows our stated plans to use our abundant cash resources, which stood at $183.5 million at June 30, to make strategic acquisitions to build stockholder value."

Mr. Kaplan added, "World-wide concern continues to grow over the safety and security of people and property. With advances in digital printing and imaging, our products address these issues by delivering high-quality customized identification cards incorporating digital pictures, bar codes, magnetic stripes, and smart card technology. These benefits are provided at the point of issuance by creating a cost-effective card in about a minute or less. Card issuers avoid the cost of providing temporary cards and get the advantage of users immediately putting the card to work, from organization memberships to high-security applications. New applications for instant-issuance ID cards are developing nearly every day, including electronic purse and portable data file uses. We are enthusiastic about this market's growth opportunities and the capabilities of our combined organizations to meet them."

Fargo Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Gary Holland continued, "We are very pleased to join Zebra in addressing the growing need for personal information and identification systems. Backed by Zebra's exceptional financial strength and resources, our combined companies will be able to address the market with enhanced products and services. Our combined technologies and products, enhanced engineering capabilities, and stronger sales and marketing will help us capture the tremendous opportunities ahead for personalization solutions for access and privacy."

Certain Fargo key stockholders and management representing approximately 45% of Fargo shares outstanding have signed agreements to tender their shares in the offer.

U.S. Bancorp Piper Jaffray served as exclusive financial advisor to Zebra Technologies Corporation. Raymond James & Associates, Inc. acted as exclusive financial advisor to Fargo Electronics, Inc. and issued a fairness opinion on this transaction.
