Dear <insert recipient>,

By now, you have likely seen the attached press release announcing that CVS Health has agreed to acquire Aetna. At bswift, we are very excited about this news and we remain committed to serving our clients and partners with the same focus and promise as always. This is an exciting time, not only for Aetna, but for all of us as we look to impact the lives of people in today's healthcare system.

Some points from bswift directly:

bswift is a healthy & profitable business – adding great value to our clients and Channel Partners while maintaining our carrier agnostic position in the marketplace.

bswift plays a key role in driving customer engagement and reducing the health care cost curve through its compelling shop/buy/enroll technology platform and Ask Emma decision support capability.

Since our acquisition by Aetna, we have continued to enhance our comprehensive suite of technology and services and now offer compelling value propositions across a wide range of businesses – small group, mid-market, and large group clients; Group and Individual Medicare; and Public and Labor clients.

The CVS agreement provides that Aetna would continue as a brand and operate as a separate stand-alone business within the CVS Health enterprise, and will be led by members of the current Aetna management team.

bswift will continue to operate with laser focus on our customers, striving to improve upon our 97% client retention rate and 52 Net Promoter Score by creating raving fans.

Please let us know if you have any questions; we'd love to talk with you. For your reference we have also included below a copy of a letter that Mark Bertolini sent to plan sponsors, which some of you may have already received.

To Our Valued Plan Sponsors,

As you may have seen in the news, CVS Health, the largest pharmacy health care provider in the U.S., has agreed to acquire Aetna.

Importantly, this transaction will have no immediate impact on the plans or service we provide. We remain as committed as ever to delivering low cost, high quality health care plans and improving the overall experience for our members. This combination with CVS Health will help us realize these goals, making us a better partner with greater capabilities.

Our combined company will use CVS Health's footprint of more than 9,700 retail stores and 1,100 in-store clinics to establish entirely new community health hubs dedicated to improving consumer wellbeing and answering questions about health, prescription drugs and health care benefits.

We want to assure you that customer satisfaction remains, as always, our top priority. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call your account manager. You may also visit <http://www.Aetna.com> for more information.

We greatly value our relationship with you and appreciate your business.

Sincerely,

Mark Bertolini, Chairman and CEO
