This Amendment No. 14 to Schedule 13D amends and supplements Item 4 of Amendment No. 13 to the Schedule 13D dated May 7, 2004. Each capitalized term used herein and not otherwise defined has the meaning given such term in the original Schedule 13D dated October 14, 1999.

ITEM 4. PURPOSE OF TRANSACTION

On May 28, 2004, the Issuer issued a press release announcing that its board of directors (the "BOARD") "has postponed indefinitely the Annual Shareholders' Meeting." The meeting was scheduled to be held on June 3, 2004. The press release stated that the Board has postponed the meeting "[f] or a number of reasons, including the pending selection of a financial advisor and exploration of strategic alternatives." Mr. Toll believes that the actual reason why the Board postponed the Annual Shareholders' Meeting is because the Board was aware that Mr. Toll held sufficient proxies to elect a slate of nominees to the Board that did not include the current directors Messrs. Adams and Dimitriadis or their hand picked nominees to fill the two vacant seats on the Board. Mr. Toll believes that the postponement of the Annual Meeting is nothing more than an attempt by Messrs. Adams and Dimitriadis to entrench themselves on the Board and to ensure that their self-interests are protected at the expense of the Issuer's shareholders. Mr. Toll has been advised that the United States District Court for the State of Nevada, in Hilton Hotels Corporation et al. v. ITT Corporation, 978 F.Supp. 1342, has determined that "nothing in the Nevada statutes, or elsewhere in the law of Nevada, authorizes the incumbent board of a corporation to entrench itself by effectively removing the right of the corporation's shareholders to vote on who may serve on the board of the corporation..." and that the Nevada courts have accepted the reasoning of the Delaware courts in Blausius Industries Inc. v. Atlas Corp., 564 A.2d 651, which concludes that a board of directors may act for the primary purpose of interfering with or impeding the effective exercise of a shareholder vote only if the board "bears the heavy burden of demonstrating a compelling justification for such action." Mr. Toll believes that the justification provided by the Board of "the pending selection of a financial advisor and exploration of strategic alternatives" is anything but "compelling" and that the Board's actions are illegal, a breach of duties to the Issuer's shareholders and should result in personal liability to each of the members of the Board who approved the action.

Mr. Toll further questions whether the Board is seriously considering a sale of the Issuer that would benefit all shareholders, or whether the process that has been proposed by the Board is simply a means of furthering the interests of Messrs. Adams and Dimitriadis who have already demonstrated that their own self interests are paramount as evidenced by their rejection of the nominees selected by the independent Nominating Committee of the Board and the subsequent postponement of the Annual Meeting when their control over the Board would be lost. Mr. Toll believes that Messrs. Adams and Dimitriadis have consistently taken actions as directors, including the decision to explore strategic alternatives at a time when they had control of the Board, so that LTC Properties, Inc., a company controlled by Mr. Dimitriadis in which an affiliate of Mr. Adams has a significant ownership interest, could use the change in control provision of the lease between LTC Properties, Inc. and the Issuer for purposes of ensuring that Messrs. Adams and Dimitriadis could benefit from a transaction with the Issuer at the expense of the other shareholders. Mr. Toll believes that Steven Vick, the Chief Executive Officer of the Issuer, has supported the actions of Messrs. Adams and Dimitriadis as a director in the expectation of being personally rewarded for such actions. Mr. Toll believes that so long as the Board of Directors of the Issuer is controlled by interested directors such as Messrs. Adams, Dimitriadis and Vick, the recommendations of the independent Special Committee with regard to the Issuer's strategic alternatives would have no more authority than the independent Nominating Committee whose nominees were rejected by these same interested directors.

As a consequence of the foregoing, in addition to the possible actions set forth in Item 4 to Amendments No. 9 and 13 to Schedule 13D, which are incorporated herein by reference, the Filing Persons may (a) file litigation against the Company and its interested directors for breaches of fiduciary duty, (b) form a group to protect the interests of all of the shareholders of the Issuer, and (c) communicate with various regulatory agencies regarding conduct of the Board that Mr. Toll considers to be inappropriate and designed primarily to entrench and enrich certain insiders.
