QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE ACQUISITION AND THE SPECIAL MEETING

The following questions and answers briefly address some commonly asked questions about the acquisition and the special meeting. They may not include all the information that is important to you. We urge you to read carefully this entire proxy statement, including the annexes and the other documents we refer to in this proxy statement.

Frequently Used Terms

We have generally avoided the use of technical defined terms in this proxy statement but a few frequently used terms may be helpful for you to have in mind at the outset. We refer to:

Chicago Bridge & Iron Company N.V., as CB&I or the Company ;

ABB Asea Brown Boveri Ltd., as ABB ;

ABB Lummus Global Inc. and ABB Oil & Gas Europe B.V., the entities being acquired by CB&I, as Lummus Global ;

the proposed acquisition of Lummus Global by CB&I as the acquisition ;

the Share Sale and Purchase Agreement dated as of August 24, 2007, among ABB Holdings Inc., ABB Holdings B.V., ABB, Chicago Bridge & Iron Company, Chicago Bridge & Iron Company B.V. and CB&I as the acquisition agreement ; and the United States Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, as amended, as the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act.

About the Acquisition

Q1: What am I voting on?

A1: CB&I is proposing to acquire Lummus Global. CB&I shareholders are being asked to vote to approve and authorize the acquisition, which is required pursuant to Netherlands law. Pursuant to the terms of the acquisition agreement, certain subsidiaries of CB&I will acquire Lummus Global for a net cash purchase price, including estimated transaction costs, of approximately $850 million, subject to adjustments at closing.

Q2: What is the required vote to approve and authorize the acquisition?

A2: Holders of a majority of the outstanding CB&I common shares present in person or by proxy at the special meeting must vote to approve and authorize the acquisition.

Q3: What happens if I do not vote?

A3: Because the required vote of CB&I shareholders is based upon the number of outstanding shares of CB&I present in person or by proxy at the special meeting, abstentions from voting will have no effect on the vote for approval and authorization of the acquisition. If you return a properly signed proxy card but do not indicate how you want to vote, your proxy will be counted as a vote FOR approval and authorization of the acquisition.

Q4: How does the CB&I Board of Supervisory Directors recommend I vote?

A4: The Board of Supervisory Directors of CB&I unanimously recommends that CB&I's shareholders vote FOR approval and authorization of the acquisition. The Board of Supervisory Directors of CB&I believes the acquisition is advisable and in the best interests of CB&I and its shareholders.

Q5: Do I have appraisal rights with respect to the acquisition?

A5: No. Under Netherlands law, CB&I shareholders do not have appraisal rights with respect to the acquisition.

Table of Contents

Q6: Will the rights of a CB&I shareholder change as a result of the acquisition?

A6: No. The rights of a CB&I shareholder will not change as a result of the acquisition. Each outstanding CB&I common share will remain outstanding following the acquisition.

Q7: Are there risks associated with the acquisition that I should consider in deciding how to vote?

A7: Yes. There are risks associated with all business combinations, including the acquisition. Please read with particular care the more detailed description of the risks associated with the acquisition discussed under Risk Factors beginning on page 23 of this proxy statement.

Q8: When do you expect the acquisition to be completed?

A8: We are working on completing the acquisition as quickly as possible. To complete the acquisition, we must obtain the approval of the CB&I shareholders and satisfy or waive all other closing conditions under the acquisition agreement, which we currently expect should occur in the fourth quarter of 2007. However, we cannot assure you when or if the acquisition will occur. See The Share Sale and Purchase Agreement Conditions to Completion beginning on page 34 of this proxy statement. If the acquisition occurs, we will promptly make a public announcement of this fact.

About the Special Meeting

Q9: When and where is the CB&I special shareholder meeting?

A9: The CB&I special shareholder meeting will take place on November 16, 2007, at 11:00 a.m., and will be held at Intercontinental Amstel Amsterdam, Professor Tulpplein 1, 1018GX, Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

Q10: What will happen at the special meeting?

A10: At the CB&I special meeting, CB&I shareholders will vote on a proposal to approve and authorize the acquisition. We cannot complete the acquisition unless, among other things, CB&I s shareholders vote to approve and authorize the acquisition.

Q11: Who is entitled to vote at the special meeting?

A11: Holders of record of CB&I common shares at the close of business on October 17, 2007, the record date for the special meeting, are entitled to receive notice of and vote at the special meeting. The admission of shareholders to the meeting and exercise of voting rights at the meeting are governed by Netherlands law.

Q12: Is there any quorum requirement at the special meeting?

A12: A quorum is the number of shares that must be present to hold the meeting. Although there is no quorum requirement under Dutch law, abstentions and broker non-votes (where a named entity holding shares for a beneficial owner has not received voting instructions from the beneficial owner with respect to a particular matter and such named entity does not possess or choose to exercise its discretionary authority with respect thereto) will be considered present at the meeting but will not be counted to determine the total number of votes cast.

Q13: How many shares can vote?

A13: On the record date, CB&I had outstanding 96,576,289 common shares, which constitute CB&I's only outstanding voting securities. Each CB&I shareholder is entitled to one vote on each proposal for each CB&I common share held as of the record date. Admission of shareholders to the meeting and exercise of voting rights at the meeting are governed by Netherlands law.

Q14: What vote is required?

A14: The affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding CB&I common shares present in person or by proxy at the CB&I special meeting is required to approve and authorize the acquisition.

Table of Contents

Even if the votes set forth above are obtained at the special meeting, we cannot assure you that the acquisition will be completed, because the completion of the acquisition is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of other conditions discussed in this proxy statement.

Q15: What do I need to do now?

A15: After carefully reading and considering the information contained and referred to in this proxy statement, including its annexes, please authorize your CB&I common shares to be voted by returning your completed, dated, and signed proxy card in the enclosed return envelope as soon as possible. To be sure that your vote is counted, please submit your proxy as instructed on your proxy card even if you plan to attend the special meeting in person.

Q16: May I vote in person?

A16: Yes. You may attend the special meeting of CB&I's shareholders and vote your shares in person rather than by signing and returning your proxy card. If you wish to vote in person and your shares are held by a broker, bank, or other nominee, you need to obtain a proxy from the broker, bank, or nominee authorizing you to vote your shares held in the broker's, bank's, or nominee's name. If you wish to attend the meeting in person, you must notify CB&I of this fact by no later than November 9, 2007. Notifications of intent to attend the meeting in person must be received at the following address not later than November 9, 2007:

Chicago Bridge & Iron Company N.V.
c/o Chicago Bridge & Iron Company (Delaware)
2103 Research Forest Drive
The Woodlands, Texas 77380-2624
Attn: Investor Relations

Q17: If my shares are held in street name, will my broker, bank, or other nominee vote my shares for me?

A17: Yes, but your broker, bank, or other nominee may vote your CB&I common shares only if you instruct your broker, bank, or other nominee how to vote. If you do not provide your broker, bank, or other nominee with instructions on how to vote your street name shares, your broker, bank, or other nominee will not be permitted to vote them on the acquisition. You should follow the directions your broker, bank, or other nominee provides to ensure your shares are voted at the special meeting. Please check the voting form used by your broker, bank, or other nominee to see if it offers telephone or Internet voting.

Q18: May I change my vote?

A18: Yes. You may change your vote at any time before your proxy is voted at the special meeting. If your CB&I common shares are registered in your own name, you can do this in one of three ways.

First, you can deliver to CB&I, prior to the special meeting, a written notice stating that you want to revoke your proxy. The notice should be sent to the attention of Investor Relations, Chicago Bridge & Iron Company N.V., c/o Chicago Bridge & Iron Company (Delaware), 2103 Research Forest Drive, The Woodlands, Texas 77380-2624, to arrive by the close of business on November 15, 2007.

Second, prior to the special meeting, you can complete and deliver a new proxy card. The proxy card should be sent to the addressee indicated on the pre-addressed envelope enclosed with your initial proxy card to arrive by the close of business on November 15, 2007. The latest dated and signed proxy actually received by this addressee before the special meeting will be counted, and any earlier proxies will be considered revoked.

Third, you can attend the CB&I special meeting and vote in person. Any earlier proxy will thereby be revoked automatically. Simply attending the special meeting, however, will not revoke your proxy, as you must vote at the special meeting to revoke a prior proxy. Please see answer A16 above for instructions on how to attend the meeting in person.

Table of Contents

If you have instructed a broker to vote your shares, you must follow directions you receive from your broker to change or revoke your vote.

If you are a street-name shareholder and you vote by proxy, you may later revoke your proxy instructions by informing the holder of record in accordance with that entity's procedures.

Q19: How will the proxies vote on any other business brought up at the special meetings?

A19: By submitting your proxy, you authorize the persons named on the proxy card to use their judgment to determine how to vote on any other matter properly brought before the special meeting. The proxies will vote your shares in accordance with your instructions. If you sign, date, and return your proxy without giving specific voting instructions, the proxies will vote your shares FOR the proposal. If you do not return your proxy, or if your shares are held in street name and you do not instruct your bank, broker or nominee on how to vote, your shares will not be voted at the special meeting.

The CB&I Board of Supervisory Directors does not intend to bring any other business before the meeting, and it is not aware that anyone else intends to do so. If any other business properly comes before the meeting, it is the intention of the persons named on the proxy cards to vote as proxies in accordance with their best judgment.

Q20: What is a broker non-vote?

A20: A broker non-vote occurs when a bank, broker, or other nominee submits a proxy that indicates that the broker does not vote for some or all of the proposals, because the broker has not received instructions from the beneficial owners on how to vote on these proposals and does not have discretionary authority to vote in the absence of instructions.

Q21: Will broker non-votes or abstentions affect the results?

A21: No. Broker non-votes or abstentions will have no effect on the outcome of the proposals brought at the special meeting. Nevertheless, if your shares are held in street name, we urge you to instruct your bank, broker, or nominee on how to vote your shares for those proposals on which you are entitled to vote.

Q22: Why is it important for me to vote?

A22: We cannot complete the acquisition without holders of a majority of the outstanding CB&I common shares present in person or by proxy at the special meeting voting in favor of the approval and authorization of the acquisition.

General

Q23: What does it mean if I get more than one proxy card?

A23: Your CB&I common shares are probably registered in more than one account. You should vote each proxy card you receive.

Q24: Where can I find more information about the special meeting, the acquisition or CB&I?

A24: You can find more information about CB&I in its filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission and the New York Stock Exchange. If you have any questions about the special meeting, the acquisition or how to submit your proxy, or if you need additional copies of this proxy statement or the enclosed proxy card or voting instructions, you should contact CB&I at the address or phone number below. If your broker holds your shares, you can also call your broker for additional information.

With more than 60 locations and approximately 14,000 employees throughout the world, CB&I capitalizes on its global expertise and local knowledge to safely and reliably deliver projects virtually anywhere.

The Acquisition (page 12)

On August 24, 2007, CB&I agreed to acquire Lummus Global under the terms of the acquisition agreement described in this proxy statement and attached as Annex A. The acquisition agreement is the legal document that governs the acquisition, and we urge you to read that agreement. Pursuant to the terms of the acquisition agreement, certain subsidiaries of CB&I will acquire Lummus Global for a net cash purchase price, including estimated transaction costs, of approximately $850 million, subject to adjustments at closing.

Recommendation of the CB&I Board of Supervisory Directors (page 15)

The CB&I Board of Supervisory Directors has unanimously determined that the acquisition is advisable and in your best interests and unanimously recommends that you vote FOR the approval and authorization of the acquisition of Lummus Global for a net cash purchase of approximately $850 million.

Opinion of UBS Securities LLC – Financial Advisor to CB&I (page 15)

On August 20, 2007, UBS Securities LLC, or UBS, delivered its oral opinion to CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, which was subsequently confirmed by delivery of its written opinion, dated August 24, 2007, to the effect that, as of those dates, and based upon and subject to the assumptions made, matters considered and limitations described in the opinion, the $839.9 million consideration to be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition was fair, from a financial point of view, to CB&I. The full text of UBS' opinion is attached as Annex B to this proxy statement. UBS' opinion was provided to CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors in connection with its evaluation of the acquisition. UBS' opinion is directed only to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to CB&I of the $839.9 million consideration to be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition. The opinion does not address the relative merits of the acquisition as compared to other business strategies or transactions that might be available with respect to CB&I, nor does it address CB&I's underlying business decision to effect the acquisition. The opinion does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder as to how such shareholder should vote or act with respect to the acquisition. We encourage you to read UBS opinion carefully in its entirety.

Risk Factors (page 23)

In evaluating the acquisition or the acquisition agreement, you should carefully review this proxy statement and especially consider the factors discussed in the section entitled Risk Factors beginning on page 23.

Table of Contents

Conditions to Completion of the Acquisition (page 34)

Completion of the acquisition depends on a number of conditions being satisfied or waived. These conditions include the following:

receipt of consents, authorizations, filings and notifications to any relevant competition authorities and the expiration of all applicable waiting periods under such competition laws;

the approval of the shareholders of CB&I;

the consummation of the transactions will not be in any way prohibited by any order and there will not have been any applicable law enacted, promulgated or deemed applicable to the transactions after the date of the acquisition agreement by any governmental entity that prevents the consummation of the transactions or has the effect of making such consummation illegal; and a member of the ABB group will have paid $204,000,000 to the CE Asbestos PI Trust, on terms that no member of the acquired group is under any liability to reimburse all or any of such sum.

Regulatory Matters (page 21)

Under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act, the parties cannot complete the acquisition until they have notified and furnished information to the Federal Trade Commission, or the FTC, and the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice, or the DOJ, and specified waiting periods expire or are terminated. On September 7, 2007, CB&I and ABB submitted the notification filings to the FTC and DOJ. The waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act expired on October 9, 2007.

Termination of the Acquisition Agreement (page 35)

The acquisition agreement may be terminated by either party, by giving written notice to the other party, if completion has not occurred by 5:00 p.m. (London time) on February 28, 2008, which date may be extended as described below. The purchasers have the right to terminate the acquisition agreement if the sellers have committed certain breaches of the acquisition agreement, have not cured those breaches and have not taken certain permitted actions to protect the purchasers' right to be compensated fully for such breaches. If the purchasers deliver notice of such a breach to sellers after January 31, 2008, the outside date after which either party can terminate the acquisition agreement would be extended from February 29, 2008 to March 31, 2008. However, the right to terminate the acquisition agreement will not be available to any party whose failure to perform any of its obligations under the acquisition agreement has been the cause of, or resulted in, the failure of completion to occur on or before March 31, 2008.

Costs and Expenses (page 38)

If CB&I fails to obtain the approval and authorization of its shareholders for the acquisition by February 28, 2008 or, if extended pursuant to the acquisition agreement, March 31, 2008, CB&I shall pay to ABB $25 million. Whether or not the acquisition is consummated, the members of the ABB group and the members of the CB&I group will bear their own costs and expenses in connection with the acquisition agreement and the related transactions.

Accounting Treatment (page 21)

CB&I will account for the acquisition using the purchase method of accounting.

Date, Time and Place

The special meeting of shareholders of CB&I will be held on November 16, 2007 at 11:00 a.m., at Intercontinental Amstel Amsterdam, Professor Tulp plein 1, 1018GX, Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

Matters to Be Considered

At the special meeting, CB&I shareholders will be asked to consider and vote upon a proposal to approve and authorize the acquisition.

Shareholders Entitled to Vote

The close of business on October 17, 2007 is the record date for the determination of those holders of CB&I common shares who are entitled to notice of, and to vote at, the special meeting and at any adjournments or postponements thereof. At the close of business on the record date, there were 96,576,289 CB&I common shares outstanding and entitled to vote, held by approximately 124 holders of record. Admission of shareholders to the meeting and exercise of voting rights at the meeting are governed by Netherlands law.

Quorum and Required Vote

Each holder of record of CB&I common shares as of the record date is entitled to cast one vote per share at the special meeting on each proposal. There is no required quorum of CB&I common shares necessary to hold the special meeting. The affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the CB&I common shares present in person or by proxy at the special meeting is required to approve and authorize the acquisition.

As of the record date for the special meeting, directors and executive officers of CB&I and their affiliates beneficially owned an aggregate of 845,612 CB&I common shares entitled to vote at the special meeting. These shares represent approximately 0.9 % of the CB&I common shares outstanding and entitled to vote as of the record date.

How Shares Will Be Voted at the Special Meeting

All CB&I common shares represented by properly executed proxies received before or at the special meeting, and not properly revoked, will be voted as specified in the proxies. Properly executed proxies that do not contain voting instructions will be voted FOR the approval and authorization of the acquisition.

If any other matters are properly brought before the special meeting, the proxies named in the proxy card will have discretion to vote the shares represented by duly executed proxies in their sole discretion.

How to Vote Your Shares

You may vote in person at the special meeting or by proxy. We recommend you vote by proxy even if you plan to attend the special meeting. You can always change your vote at the special meeting.

You may vote by proxy card by completing and mailing the enclosed proxy card. If you properly submit your proxy card in time to vote, one of the individuals named as your proxy will vote your common shares as you have directed. You may vote for or against the proposals submitted at the special meeting or you may abstain from voting.

If you hold CB&I common shares through a broker or other custodian, please follow the voting instructions provided by that firm. If you do not return your proxy card, or if your shares are held in a stock brokerage account or held by a bank, broker, or nominee, or, in other words, in street name and you do not instruct your bank, broker, or nominee on how to vote those shares, those shares will not be voted at the special meeting.

A number of banks and brokerage firms participate in a program that also permits shareholders whose shares are held in street name to direct their vote by the Internet or telephone. This option, if available, will be reflected in the voting instructions from the bank or brokerage firm that accompany this proxy statement. If your shares are held in an account at a bank or brokerage firm that participates in such a program, you may direct the vote of these shares by the Internet or telephone by following the voting instructions enclosed with the proxy from the bank or brokerage firm. The Internet and telephone proxy procedures are designed to authenticate shareholders' identities, to allow shareholders to give their proxy voting instructions and to confirm that those instructions have been properly recorded. Votes directed by the Internet or telephone through such a program must be received by 11:59 p.m., New York, New York time, on November 15, 2007. Requesting a proxy prior to the deadline described above will automatically cancel any voting directions you have previously given by the Internet or telephone with respect to your shares. Directing the voting of your shares will not affect your right to vote in person if you decide to attend the meeting; however, you must first obtain a signed and properly executed proxy from your bank, broker, or nominee to vote your shares held in street name at the special meeting.

If you submit your proxy but do not make specific choices, your proxy will be voted FOR each of the proposals presented.

How to Change Your Vote

If you are a registered shareholder, you may revoke your proxy at any time before the shares are voted at the special meeting by:

completing, signing, and timely submitting a new proxy to the addressee indicated on the pre-addressed envelope enclosed with your initial proxy card by the close of business on November 15, 2007; the latest dated and signed proxy actually received by such addressee before the special meeting will be counted, and any earlier proxies will be considered revoked;

notifying CB&I at Chicago Bridge & Iron Company N.V., c/o Chicago Bridge & Iron Company (Delaware), 2103 Research Forest Drive, The Woodlands, Texas 77380-2624, attention: Investor Relations, in writing, by the close of business on November 15, 2007, that you have revoked your earlier proxy; or voting in person at the special meeting.

Merely attending the special meeting will not revoke any prior votes or proxies; you must vote at the special meeting to revoke a prior proxy.

If you hold CB&I common shares through a broker or other custodian and you vote by proxy, you may later revoke your proxy instructions by informing the holder of record in accordance with that entity's procedures.

Solicitation of Proxies

In addition to solicitation by mail, directors, officers, and employees of CB&I may solicit proxies for the special meeting from CB&I shareholders personally or by telephone, facsimile, and other electronic means without compensation other than reimbursement for their actual expenses.

Arrangements will be made with brokerage firms and other custodians, nominees, and fiduciaries for the forwarding of solicitation material to the beneficial owners of CB&I common shares held of record by those persons, and CB&I will, if requested, reimburse the record holders for their reasonable out-of-pocket expenses in so doing.

THE ACQUISITION

General

Pursuant to the terms of the acquisition agreement, certain subsidiaries of CB&I will acquire Lummus Global for a net cash purchase price, including estimated transaction costs, of approximately $850 million, subject to adjustments at closing.

CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors is using this document to solicit proxies from the holders of CB&I common shares for use at the CB&I special meeting, at which holders of CB&I common shares will be asked to vote upon approval of the acquisition.

The Board of Supervisory Directors of CB&I has unanimously approved the acquisition agreement providing for the acquisition of Lummus Global. Subject to the satisfaction or waiver of the conditions to completion, we expect to complete the acquisition in the fourth quarter of 2007.

Background of the Acquisition

Beginning in late 2002, the Company and ABB engaged in discussions regarding a possible acquisition of Lummus Global. After conducting preliminary due diligence, in early 2003 the Company concluded that it was not interested in pursuing the acquisition of Lummus Global at that time because of certain operational and other issues that Lummus Global was experiencing, but that it might be interested at some time in the future.

In March 2007, the Company was advised by Credit Suisse that Credit Suisse had been engaged as financial advisor to ABB to solicit indications of interest with respect to the possible acquisition of Lummus Global. At that time the Company was also provided introductory information about Lummus Global and a form of confidentiality agreement. In late March 2007, after its review of the introductory information and other publicly available information about Lummus Global, the Company advised Credit Suisse that it was interested in the possible acquisition of Lummus Global, and delivered a signed confidentiality agreement.

In early April 2007, Credit Suisse delivered to the Company a letter outlining the process and a Confidential Information Memorandum which contained more detailed information about Lummus Global. In addition, in early April 2007 the Company engaged UBS Securities LLC as its financial advisor to assist the Company in evaluating the possible acquisition of Lummus Global.

Over the following couple of weeks, the Company evaluated the information included in the Confidential Information Memorandum. On April 23, 2007, Ron Ballschmiede, the Company's Chief Financial Officer, and Chip Ray, the Company's Senior Vice President - Corporate Planning, participated in a conference call with representatives of UBS at which time UBS provided its preliminary valuation analysis regarding Lummus Global.

On April 29, 2007, the Company submitted its preliminary indication of interest to Credit Suisse.

On May 15, 2007, Credit Suisse advised the Company that it had made it to the next round of the process, and would be given access to an electronic data room for purposes of conducting a more detailed due diligence review. Over the following few weeks, a team led by Mr. Ballschmiede and Mr. Ray reviewed the information available in the electronic data room.

On June 6, 2007, CB&I formally engaged UBS to act as its financial advisor in connection with CB&I's proposed acquisition of Lummus Global.

On June 7, 2007, the Company's senior management team and other members of the Company's transaction team met with the management team of Lummus Global for additional due diligence.

On June 12, 2007, the Company's representatives met with representatives of ABB and were provided for review certain additional legal documentation and other due diligence materials.

On July 27, 2007, Credit Suisse advised the Company that it was among the finalists in the process, and that the Company would need to look carefully at its comments to the proposed Share Sale and Purchase Agreement and be more flexible on its proposed purchase price. To assist the Company in that process, the Company conducted confirmatory due diligence regarding certain matters. In addition, on August 2 and 3, the Company met with representatives of the Lummus Global business's joint venture partners in its CD Tech and CLG joint ventures.

On August 15, 2007, the Company provided the clarifications, and throughout the day representatives of the Company and representatives of Credit Suisse engaged in numerous follow up discussions. That afternoon, Credit Suisse advised the Company that it was chosen to conduct final negotiations with ABB and requested that the Company and its transaction team be in London the following day in order to finalize outstanding issues and the acquisition agreement.

CB&I's Reasons for the Acquisition

Following a review and discussion of all relevant information regarding the acquisition, CB&I's Management Board and its Board of Supervisory Directors have both determined that the acquisition is beneficial to CB&I and its shareholders for the following reasons:

Increased Breadth of Services. The acquisition of Lummus Global will expand the range of offerings CB&I can supply to its customer base, offering its customers a total solutions package that can provide technology licensing, front end engineering and design (FEED), and engineering, procurement, and construction services. The Lummus Global portfolio of process technology holds key petrochemical, refining and gas technology licenses which provide an attractive high margin new growth platform and the opportunity for enhancing existing CB&I client relationships. The bundled offering of technologies and EPC services will further differentiate CB&I from many of its competitors. This full spectrum of solutions will allow CB&I to capture additional market share in the important higher margin growth sectors, including oil, gas and petrochemical.

Resources. The addition of the Lummus Global resources will allow CB&I a more substantial base in which to draw from to meet the growing client demands for a single source global supplier. The acquisition will provide CB&I with a expansive geographic coverage which will allow it to service a wide client base and to fully capitalize on current and projected market demand. These strategically important geographic resources will position CB&I to capitalize on the Middle East build up of Ethylene and Derivative capacity. The significant number of new projects announced for the near term and distant future suggest that the massive build-up of a petrochemical industry within this region is well underway and the expansion efforts are far from over.

Diversification to Reduce the Affect of Cyclicity. The acquisition of Lummus Global will provide CB&I with end-market diversification. Currently more than 90% of CB&I's revenues are from the oil & gas market, whereas Lummus Global's business targets both petrochemical and oil & gas. Over the past several years, the majority of Lummus Global's business has been in petrochemicals, specifically olefins. The acquisition will provide CB&I with diversification that can be difficult to achieve on a stand-alone basis and it will enable CB&I to better capitalize on the strong market conditions.

The acquisition will also provide geographic diversification and a truly global footprint. Lummus Global has a strong presence in both Western and Eastern Europe, while in comparison, CB&I has a minimal presence in Europe (with the exception of the United Kingdom). Lummus Global also has a strong presence in Russia and China, two areas where CB&I has moderate experience. Both companies have a long history in the Middle East, but Lummus Global's experience is in process technology and CB&I's is primarily in steel plate structures.

Complementary Client Base. A key strategic benefit to a Lummus Global acquisition is the ability to expand the customer base of the combined platform, which should drive earnings growth. The leading relationships that Lummus Global has developed complement CB&I's customer base well and the Lummus Global customer base will also be complemented by the traditional CB&I service offerings. There is limited overlap between key relationship customers and Lummus Global has strong relationships with several National Oil Companies (NOC's) that CB&I has historically not been associated with, further strengthening CB&I's customer base and stability of earnings.

Leveraging Core Strengths and Delivering an Integrated Offering. Lummus Global's strength resides in its strong intellectual property position related to its technology portfolio and joint venture assets. Lummus Global has over 1,500 patents related to process technology with key strengths in Ethylene and Olefins Conversion Technology (OCT) and gas processing. Although Lummus Global offers EPC services to its clients, the Process Technology business is the primary driver of earnings. While Lummus Global focuses on technology, CB&I is primarily an EPC contractor with a narrowly focused technology position. CB&I has significant investment in plant, buildings and field equipment globally to support its engineering, fabrication and marketing functions. The combination of the two complementary platforms results in an organization with formidable resources at each stage of the project life cycle. As technology selection is one of the first decisions a project sponsor makes, the ability to serve a client at the early stage of the project should enhance CB&I's ability to win business. CB&I has particular expertise at project and risk management on complex projects. Implementing risk management and effective project controls based on CB&I's processes can enhance the attractiveness of the Lummus Global EPC business. The ability to offer project owners an integrated offering from conception to commissioning, regardless of contracting methodology, will increase the ability of CB&I to win new awards.

Long-Term Growth. The acquisition of Lummus Global has the potential to accelerate CB&I's future revenue and earnings growth, and associated stockholder value. In addition, the acquisition of Lummus Global should provide CB&I with access to additional management depth, along with the ability to pursue additional growth markets. The acquisition of Lummus Global would create a more diverse company with enhanced prospects for long-term growth.

Recommendation of the CB&I Board of Supervisory Directors

After careful consideration of the matters discussed above, the CB&I Board of Supervisory Directors concluded that the proposed acquisition is in the best interest of the shareholders of CB&I.

FOR THE REASONS SET FORTH ABOVE, THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORY DIRECTORS OF CB&I HAS UNANIMOUSLY APPROVED THE ACQUISITION AS BEING IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF CB&I AND ITS SHAREHOLDERS, AND UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT CB&I'S SHAREHOLDERS VOTE FOR THE APPROVAL OF THE ACQUISITION.

Opinion of UBS Securities LLC - CB&I's Financial Advisor

On August 20, 2007, UBS delivered its oral opinion to CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, which was subsequently confirmed by delivery of its written opinion, dated August 24, 2007, to the effect that, as of those respective dates, and based upon and subject to the assumptions, matters considered and limitations described in the opinions, the $839.9 million consideration to be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition was fair, from a financial point of view, to CB&I. The full text of UBS' opinion is attached as Annex B to this proxy statement. UBS' opinion was provided to CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors in connection with its evaluation of the acquisition. UBS' opinion is directed only to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to CB&I of the $839.9 million consideration to be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition. The opinion does not address the relative merits of the acquisition as compared to other business strategies or transactions that might be available to CB&I, nor does it address CB&I's underlying business decision to effect the acquisition. The opinion does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder as to how such shareholder should vote or act with respect to the acquisition. We encourage you to read UBS' opinion carefully in its entirety. The summary of UBS' opinion presented below is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the opinion.

In arriving at its opinion UBS, among other things:

reviewed certain publicly available information relating to Lummus Global;

reviewed certain internal financial information and other data relating to the businesses and financial prospects of Lummus Global that were provided to UBS by the managements of CB&I and Lummus Global and not publicly available, including financial forecasts and estimates prepared by the management of CB&I; reviewed certain estimates of synergies and tax benefits related to the acquisition prepared by the management of CB&I that were provided to UBS by the management of CB&I and not publicly available;

Table of Contents

conducted discussions with members of the senior managements of CB&I and Lummus Global concerning the businesses and financial prospects of Lummus Global;

reviewed publicly available financial and stock market data with respect to certain other companies UBS believed to be generally relevant;

compared the financial terms of the acquisition with the publicly available financial terms of certain other transactions UBS believed to be generally relevant;

considered certain pro forma effects of the acquisition on CB&I's financial statements;

reviewed a draft of the acquisition agreement dated August 24, 2007; and conducted such other financial studies, analyses and investigations, and considered such other information, as UBS deemed necessary or appropriate.

In connection with its review, with the consent of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, UBS did not assume any responsibility for independent verification of any of the information provided to or reviewed by UBS for the purpose of its opinion and, with the consent of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, relied on such information being complete and accurate in all material respects. In addition, with the consent of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, UBS did not make any independent evaluation or appraisal of any of the assets or liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of Lummus Global, nor was UBS furnished with any such evaluation or appraisal. With respect to the financial forecasts, estimates, synergies, tax benefits and pro forma effects referred to above, UBS assumed, at the direction of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, that they had been reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the management of CB&I as to the future performance of Lummus Global and such synergies, tax benefits and pro forma effects. In addition, UBS assumed, with the approval of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, that the financial forecasts and estimates, including synergies and tax benefits, referred to above would be achieved at the times and in the amounts projected. CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors directed UBS to assume for purposes of its opinion that the aggregate amount of cash payments the purchasers will make at the completion in exchange for all of the outstanding shares of the two companies comprising Lummus Global will be $839.9 million and that Lummus Global will have no debt or unrestricted cash immediately prior to the completion. UBS's opinion was necessarily based on economic, monetary, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information available to UBS as of, the date of UBS's opinion.

At the direction of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, UBS was not asked to, and it did not, offer any opinion as to the terms, other than the consideration to the extent expressly specified in UBS's opinion, of the acquisition agreement or the form of the transaction. UBS did not express any opinion as to the prices at which any securities of CB&I would trade at any time. In rendering its opinion, UBS assumed, with the consent of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, that (i) the final executed form of the acquisition agreement would not differ in any material respect from the draft of the acquisition agreement referred to above, (ii) the parties to the acquisition agreement would comply with all material terms of the acquisition agreement, and (iii) the acquisition would be consummated in accordance with the terms of the acquisition agreement without any adverse waiver or amendment of any material term or condition thereof. UBS also assumed that all governmental, regulatory or other consents and approvals necessary for the consummation of the acquisition would be obtained without any material adverse effect on CB&I, Lummus Global, or the acquisition.

In connection with rendering its opinion to CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors, UBS performed a variety of financial and comparative analyses which are summarized below. The following summary is not a complete description of all the analyses performed and factors considered by UBS in connection with its opinion. The preparation of a financial opinion is a complex process involving subjective judgments and is not necessarily susceptible to partial analysis or summary description. With respect to the selected companies analysis and the selected transactions analysis summarized below, no company or transaction used as a comparison is either identical or directly comparable to CB&I or the acquisition. These analyses necessarily involve complex considerations and judgments concerning financial and operating characteristics and other factors that could affect the public trading or acquisition values of the companies concerned.

Accordingly, UBS believes that its analyses and the summary below must be considered as a whole and that selecting portions of the analyses and factors, without considering all analyses and factors, could create a misleading or incomplete view of the processes underlying UBS analyses and opinion. UBS did not form an opinion as to whether any individual analysis or factor, whether positive or negative, considered in isolation, supported or failed to support UBS opinion. Rather, UBS arrived at its ultimate opinion based on the results of all the analyses undertaken by it and assessed as a whole, and believes that the totality of the factors considered and analyses it performed in connection with its opinion operated collectively to support its determination as of the date of UBS opinion as to the fairness to CB&I, from a financial point of view, of the $839.9 million consideration to be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition.

The forecasts and estimates of the future performance of Lummus Global provided to UBS by the managements of CB&I and Lummus Global, in or underlying UBS analyses are not necessarily indicative of future results or values, which may be significantly more or less favorable than those forecasts and estimates. In performing its analyses, UBS considered industry performance, general business and economic conditions and other matters, many of which are beyond CB&I's control. Estimates of the financial value of companies do not purport to be appraisals and do not necessarily reflect the prices at which companies actually may be sold.

The consideration to be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition was determined through negotiations between the parties, and the decision to enter into the acquisition agreement was solely that of CB&I. UBS opinion and financial analyses should not be viewed as determinative of the views of CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors with respect to the acquisition or the consideration to be paid in the acquisition.

The following is a summary of the material financial analyses performed by UBS in connection with UBS opinion. The order of the analyses described does not represent relative importance or weight given to those analyses by UBS. The financial analyses summarized below include information presented in tabular format. In order to fully understand UBS financial analyses, the tables must be read together with the text of each summary. The tables alone do not constitute a complete description of the financial analyses. Considering the data below without considering the full narrative description of the financial analyses, including the methodologies and assumptions underlying the analyses, could create a misleading or incomplete view of UBS financial analyses.

UBS considered, among other things, (1) diluted equity values (computed using closing stock prices as of August 17, 2007), (2) enterprise values (calculated as diluted equity value, plus book value of total debt and book value of minority interest, less cash and cash equivalents), (3) enterprise values as a multiple of (a) the last 12 months (LTM) earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, commonly referred to as EBITDA, to the extent such data were available, and (b) estimated calendar years 2007 and 2008 EBITDA, and (4) closing stock prices as of August 17, 2007 as a multiple of estimated calendar years 2007 and 2008 earnings per share, commonly referred to as EPS. UBS then compared the data derived for the selected companies with comparable data for Lummus Global, both including and excluding estimated run-rate synergies as supplied by CB&I s management. The implied multiples for Lummus Global were based on $543 million adjusted equity consideration to be paid for Lummus Global and $950 million total enterprise value for Lummus Global, in each case as determined by CB&I s management. The $543 million equity consideration was derived by deducting from the $839.9 million consideration that CB&I s Board of Supervisory Directors directed UBS to assume will be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition the amount of debt, net of unrestricted cash, Lummus Global will have immediately prior to the completion, as estimated by CB&I s management. Financial data for the selected companies were based on recent publicly available research analysts estimates, public filings and other publicly available information. Estimated financial data for Lummus Global were based on forecasts and estimates, including estimated synergies, provided to UBS by the management of CB&I. This analysis indicated the following implied high, mean, median and low multiples for the selected companies, as compared to comparable multiples implied for Lummus Global in the acquisition:

UBS considered the enterprise value of each of the selected transactions as a multiple of the LTM EBITDA at the time of the selected transaction, to the extent such data were publicly available. UBS then compared the LTM EBITDA multiples derived from the selected transactions with implied multiples for Lummus Global for the calendar year 2006 EBITDA and estimated calendar year 2007 EBITDA based on a total $950 million enterprise value of Lummus Global as determined by CB&I's management. This analysis indicated the following implied high, mean, median and low LTM EBITDA multiples for the selected transactions, as compared to the implied calendar year 2006 EBITDA and estimated calendar year 2007 EBITDA multiples for Lummus Global in the acquisition:

	Implied Multiples for Lummus Global
	Implied Multiples for Selected Transactions (LTM EBITDA)				Calendar Year 2006 EBITDA	Estimated Calendar Year 2007 EBITDA

Discounted Cash Flow Analysis. UBS performed a discounted cash flow analysis to calculate the estimated present value of (i) the unlevered, after-tax free cash flows that Lummus Global was projected by CB&I's management to generate over the period from September 30, 2007 through December 31, 2011 and (ii) the estimated synergies and tax benefits anticipated by CB&I's management to result from the acquisition. Estimated financial data, synergies and tax benefits for Lummus Global were based on internal estimates provided to UBS by CB&I's management. UBS calculated a range of terminal values for Lummus Global by applying terminal LTM EBITDA multiples ranging from 9.5 to 11.5 to estimated EBITDA of Lummus Global for the twelve months ending December 31, 2011. The cash flows and terminal values with respect to the financial data for Lummus Global were then discounted to present value using after-tax discount rates ranging from 13% to 15%. For purposes of calculating a range of terminal values for the estimated synergies provided to UBS by CB&I's management, UBS assumed, per CB&I's management, a 2.5% perpetuity growth rate for estimated revenue synergies and a 0.0% perpetuity growth rate for estimated cost synergies for periods subsequent to calendar year 2013, the final year of the synergy forecasts provided to UBS by CB&I's management. The cash flows and terminal values (derived by calculating the present value, using after-tax discount rates ranging from 13% to 15%, as of December 31, 2013 of these two perpetuities) with respect to the estimated synergies were then discounted to present value using after-tax discount rates ranging from 13% to 15%. UBS discounted to present value the cash flows related to the estimated tax benefits of the acquisition as provided to UBS by CB&I's management using after-tax discount rates ranging from 6.5% to 11%, and then for summary purposes UBS used the midpoint of the resulting range of present values of the estimated tax benefits. This analysis indicated the implied equity value reference range for Lummus Global set forth below, after giving effect to the estimated synergies and tax benefits anticipated by CB&I's management to result from the acquisition, as compared to $543 million adjusted equity consideration to be paid for Lummus Global as determined by CB&I's management. The $543 million equity consideration was derived by deducting from the $839.9 million consideration that CB&I's Board of Supervisory Directors directed UBS to assume will be paid by the purchasers in the acquisition the amount of debt, net of unrestricted cash, Lummus Global will have immediately prior to the completion, as estimated by CB&I's management.

Miscellaneous. Under the terms of UBS's engagement, CB&I has agreed to pay UBS a fee for its services in connection with the acquisition, a portion of which was payable in connection with rendering its fairness opinion and a significant portion of which is contingent upon consummation of the acquisition. In addition, CB&I has agreed to reimburse UBS for its reasonable expenses, including fees, disbursements and other charges of counsel, and to indemnify UBS and related parties against liabilities, including liabilities under federal securities laws, relating to, or arising out of, its engagement. UBS or its affiliates may also participate in the financing by CB&I in connection with the acquisition and, in such event, would receive compensation in connection therewith. In the past, UBS and its affiliates have provided investment banking services to CB&I and ABB unrelated to the acquisition, for which UBS and its affiliates received compensation. In addition, UBS or an affiliate is a participant in a credit facility of CB&I for which it received and, as of the date of its opinion, continued to receive fees and interest payments. In the ordinary course of business, UBS, its successors and affiliates may hold or trade, for their own accounts and the accounts of their customers, securities of CB&I, ABB Ltd. and/or affiliates of ABB Ltd. and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

CB&I selected UBS as its financial advisor in connection with the acquisition because UBS is an internationally recognized investment banking firm with substantial experience in similar transactions. UBS is continually engaged in the valuation of businesses and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions, leveraged buy-outs, negotiated underwritings, competitive bids, secondary distributions of listed and unlisted securities and private placements.

Accounting Treatment

The acquisition of Lummus Global will be accounted for by CB&I using the purchase method of accounting.

Regulatory Matters

The acquisition is subject to review by the DOJ and the FTC under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act. The Hart-Scott-Rodino Act, and the rules promulgated under it by the FTC, prevent transactions, such as the acquisition, from being completed until required information and materials are furnished to the DOJ and the FTC and certain waiting periods are terminated or expire. The initial waiting period is 30 days after both parties have filed the applicable notifications, but this period may be extended if the reviewing agency issues a formal request for additional information and documentary material, referred to as a second request. On

Table of Contents

September 7, 2007, the parties submitted the notification filings with the DOJ and the FTC. The waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act expired on October 9, 2007.

The DOJ, the FTC and others may also challenge the acquisition on antitrust grounds either before or after expiration or termination of the waiting period. Accordingly, at any time before or after the completion of the acquisition, the DOJ, the FTC or another regulatory agency could take action under the antitrust laws as it deems necessary or desirable in the public interest, including seeking to enjoin the completion of the acquisition or permitting completion subject to regulatory concessions or conditions. We cannot assure you that a challenge to the acquisition will not be made or that, if a challenge is made, it will not prevail.

Other than as we describe in this document, the approval of any other U.S. federal or state agency or any foreign agency is not a condition to completion of the transaction.

Appraisal Rights

No appraisal rights are available to shareholders of CB&I in connection with the acquisition.

RISK FACTORS

In addition to the other information included and incorporated by reference into this proxy statement, including the matters addressed under the caption Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements beginning on page 25, you should carefully read and consider the following risk factors in evaluating the proposal to be voted on at the special meeting of CB&I shareholders and in determining whether to vote for approval and authorization of the acquisition. Please also refer to the additional risk factors identified in the periodic reports and other documents incorporated by reference into this proxy statement and see Where You Can Find More Information beginning on page 51.

The acquisition is subject to certain conditions to closing that, if not satisfied or waived, will result in the acquisition not being completed.

The acquisition is subject to customary conditions to closing, as set forth in the acquisition agreement. The conditions to the acquisition include, among others, the receipt of required approvals from CB&I's shareholders. If any of the conditions to the acquisition are not satisfied or, if waiver is permissible, not waived, the acquisition will not be completed. In addition, under circumstances specified in the acquisition agreement, ABB or CB&I may terminate the acquisition agreement. As a result, we cannot assure you that we will complete the acquisition. See The Share Sale and Purchase Agreement – Conditions to Completion beginning on page 34 for a discussion of the conditions to the completion of the acquisition.

CB&I's actual financial position and results of operations may differ significantly and adversely from the pro forma amounts included in this proxy statement.

The unaudited pro forma financial data contained in this proxy statement is not necessarily indicative of the results that actually would have been achieved had the proposed acquisition and CB&I's other currently contemplated financing transactions related to the acquisition been consummated on the first day of the periods presented, or that may be achieved in the future. We can provide no assurances as to how the operations and assets of both companies would have been run if they had been one company, or how they will be run in the future, which, together with other factors, could have a significant effect on the results of operations and financial position of the combined company.

Lummus Global will be subject to business uncertainties and contractual restrictions while the acquisition is pending.

Uncertainty about the effect of the acquisition on employees, suppliers, partners, regulators, and customers may have an adverse effect on Lummus Global and potentially on CB&I. These uncertainties may impair the ability of Lummus Global to attract, retain, and motivate key personnel until the acquisition is consummated, and could cause suppliers, customers, and others that deal with Lummus Global to defer purchases or other decisions concerning Lummus Global, or to seek to change existing business relationships with Lummus Global. Employee retention may be particularly challenging during the pendency of the acquisition, as employees may experience uncertainty about their future roles with CB&I. If key employees depart because of issues relating to the uncertainty or difficulty of integration or a desire not to remain with CB&I, CB&I's business following the acquisition could be harmed.

Failure to complete the acquisition could negatively impact the stock price and the future business and financial results of CB&I.

There is no assurance that the acquisition will be approved by the CB&I shareholders, and there is no assurance that the other conditions to the completion of the acquisition will be satisfied. If the acquisition is not completed, CB&I will be subject to several risks, including the following:

CB&I may be required to pay the sellers a break fee of $25 million if CB&I has not received approval by its shareholders of the acquisition agreement and the acquisition on or prior to February 28, 2008 or, if extended pursuant to the acquisition agreement, March 31, 2008;

Table of Contents

The current market price of CB&I common shares may reflect a market assumption that the acquisition will occur, and a failure to complete the acquisition could result in a negative perception by the stock market of CB&I generally and a resulting decline in the market price of CB&I common shares;

Certain costs relating to the acquisition (such as legal, accounting, and financial advisory fees) are payable by CB&I whether or not the acquisition is completed; and

There may be substantial disruption to the business of CB&I and a distraction of its management and employees from day-to-day operations, because matters related to the acquisition (including transition planning) may require substantial commitments of time and resources, which could otherwise have been devoted to other opportunities that could have been beneficial to CB&I.

In addition, CB&I would not realize any of the expected benefits of having completed the acquisition. If the acquisition is not completed, these risks may materialize and materially adversely affect CB&I's business, financial results, financial condition, and stock price.

CB&I will have lower levels of cash and higher levels of indebtedness following the acquisition than immediately prior to the acquisition.

Following the acquisition, CB&I will have lower levels of cash and interest income and higher levels of debt and interest expense than immediately prior to the acquisition. As of June 30, 2007, after giving pro forma effect to the acquisition and other currently contemplated related financings, CB&I and its subsidiaries are expected to have approximately $125.5 million of cash and $275.5 million of indebtedness outstanding. See Unaudited Condensed Combined Pro Forma Financial Data on page 46 of this proxy statement. The lower levels of cash and significant level of combined indebtedness after the acquisition may have an effect on available liquidity to fund the future operations of CB&I.

The acquisition may be completed even though CB&I or Lummus Global suffers a material adverse change.

In general, CB&I may not refuse to complete the acquisition if Lummus Global suffers a material adverse change following the date of the signing of the acquisition agreement. There are certain breaches of the acquisition agreement by the sellers that would permit the purchasers to terminate the acquisition agreement, but only if the sellers fail to cure the breach and fail to take certain permitted actions to protect the purchasers' right to be compensated fully for such breaches. Accordingly, certain types of changes would not prevent the acquisition from going forward, even if the change would have a material adverse effect on CB&I or Lummus Global.

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This proxy statement, including the documents incorporated by reference, contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Forward-looking statements are generally accompanied by words such as anticipate, expect, intend, plan, believe, seek, could, should, will, project, estimate, look forward to and similar expressions to convey uncertainty of future events or outcomes.

The expectations set forth in this proxy statement and the documents incorporated by reference regarding, among other things, accretion, returns on invested capital, achievement of annual savings and synergies, achievement of strong cash flow, sufficiency of cash flow to fund capital expenditures, and achievement of debt reduction targets are only CB&I's expectations regarding these matters. Actual results could differ materially from these expectations depending on factors such as:

the factors described under Risk Factors beginning on page 23 of this proxy statement;

the factors that generally affect CB&I's businesses as further outlined in CB&I's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006 and Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2007, and elsewhere in this proxy statement; and the fact that, following the acquisition, the actual results of CB&I could differ materially from the expectations set forth in this proxy statement and the documents incorporated by reference depending on additional factors such as:

CB&I's cost of capital; and

CB&I's actual capital needs, the absence of any material incident of property damage or other hazard that could affect the need to effect capital expenditures, and any currently unforeseen merger or acquisition opportunities that could affect capital needs.

Actual actions that CB&I may take after the acquisition may differ from time to time as CB&I may deem necessary or advisable in the best interest of CB&I and its shareholders to attempt to achieve the successful integration of Lummus Global and to react to the economy and CB&I's market for its services.

for any parent company guarantee having a maximum aggregate liability of less than $1,000,000, provided that any such parent company guarantee will not be in relation to Syria, Cuba, Iran or North Korea; or with the prior written consent of the purchasers.

ABB will procure that, between the date of the acquisition agreement and the completion date, no member of the ABB group will extend or renew any parent guarantee or third-party guarantee other than where any failure to extend or renew would entitle the beneficiary of the relevant parent guarantee or third-party guarantee to draw on the same prior to completion.

CB&I has agreed to deliver to ABB, at closing, a parent company guarantee or letter of credit in an aggregate amount equal to the full amount of all outstanding third-party guarantees and 15% of all outstanding parent company guarantees referenced in the acquisition agreement.

directly adverse to the purchasers or any of their affiliates and even though the sellers counsel may have represented the acquired company in a matter substantially related to such dispute or may be handling ongoing matters for the purchasers or the acquired company.

The purchasers will cooperate with reasonable requests made by relevant members of the ABB group to enable such members to continue after completion their investigation into payments to intermediaries identified in the report.

Neither seller will be liable for any claims for indemnification unless such claim is made by notice in writing within seven years of the completion date or if the relevant acquired company has ceased to be an affiliate of CB&I unless the identity of the purchaser or the relevant acquired company was first approved by ABB.

the approval of the shareholders of CB&I;

the consummation of the transactions will not be in any way prohibited by any order and there will not have been any applicable law enacted, promulgated or deemed applicable to the transactions after the date of the acquisition agreement by any governmental entity that prevents the consummation of the transactions or has the effect of making such consummation illegal; and

Each of the parties will take all reasonable steps necessary to ensure that the regulatory conditions are fulfilled as promptly as practicable, and in any event prior to the Long-Stop Date.

Endeavors to Fulfill Shareholder Approval Condition

CB&I will, at its own cost, use all reasonable endeavors to procure the satisfaction of the shareholder approval condition as promptly as practicable following the date of the acquisition agreement.

If the shareholder approval condition has not been satisfied on or prior to the Long-Stop Date, CB&I will pay to the sellers a break fee of $25,000,000.

The parties agree that the break fee is a genuine pre-estimate of the loss and damage which would be suffered by the sellers in connection with the termination of the acquisition agreement.

The sellers undertake to provide to CB&I, in a timely manner, all such information and assistance as CB&I may reasonably require for the purposes of enabling CB&I to prepare and file proxy statements and otherwise to enable CB&I to fulfill its obligations under this section; provided that neither the sellers nor any member of the ABB group will be liable for any liability suffered or any damage, cost or expense incurred by CB&I in connection with such

Termination Right

The acquisition agreement may be terminated by either party, by giving written notice to the other party, if completion has not occurred by 5:00 p.m. (London time) on February 28, 2008 or, if notice is served in accordance with the termination right discussed in the following paragraphs after January 31, 2008, on March 31, 2008 (the Long-Stop Date). However, the right to terminate the acquisition agreement under this section will not be available to any party whose failure to perform any of its obligations under the acquisition agreement has been the cause of, or resulted in, the failure of completion to occur on or before the Long-Stop Date.

If at any time after the date of the acquisition agreement and prior to completion the purchasers (or either of them) become aware of any breach of the sellers warranties or any breach by the sellers of their obligations described in Certain Pre-Completion Undertakings Conduct of Business above such that, if completion were to have occurred, the purchasers would have been entitled to recover from the sellers, by way of damages for breach of the sellers warranties or obligations described in Certain Pre-Completion Undertakings Conduct of Business, an amount in excess of $50,000,000, then the purchasers may, by notice in writing to the sellers, inform the sellers of such breach, specifying in reasonable detail the alleged breach, including the amount of any claim arising from such breach.

Upon receipt of notice, the sellers will have fifteen business days to rectify the breach specified in such notice. If the sellers fail to rectify such breach to the reasonable satisfaction of the purchasers within such period, or if rectification of such breach is not possible, then the sellers may, in their sole discretion, elect:

in the case of each claim for breach of their obligations described in Certain Pre-Completion Undertakings Conduct of Business above, to waive the $50,000,000 limitation liability described in The Sellers Limitations of Liability below solely in respect of such claim so that such claim will be excluded from the $50,000,000 limitation of liability referred to therein; and in the case of claims for breach of any of the sellers warranties:

if the amount of all such claims, when substantiated, equals or exceeds $40,000,000, the $50,000,000 limitation on liability of the sellers described in The Sellers Limitations of Liability below, will be equal to the aggregate amount of all such claims when substantiated plus $10,000,000; or if the aggregate amount of all such claims, when substantiated is less than $40,000,000, that the $50,000,000 limitation on liability of the sellers described in The Sellers Limitations of Liability below will be $50,000,000;

provided that, any such election must be made in respect of all of such claims.

If the amount of any claim referred to above, when substantiated, exceeds $40,000,000, the maximum aggregate liability of the sellers described in The Sellers Limitations of Liability below, will be equal to the amount of such claim when substantiated plus $10,000,000. If the amount of any such claim, when substantiated, is less than $40,000,000, the maximum aggregate liability of the sellers described in The Sellers Limitations of Liability below will be $50,000,000.

If the sellers do not make an election within twenty business days of receipt of notice, the purchasers will not be obligated to complete the purchase of the shares, and will have the right to terminate the acquisition agreement by giving notice in writing to the sellers by not later than twenty-five business days after service of notice.

Upon termination under this section, neither party will have any claim under the acquisition agreement against the other party. However, certain provisions of the acquisition agreement, the surviving provisions, will continue in effect notwithstanding the termination of the acquisition agreement.

Table of Contents

The Sellers Limitations of Liability

The liability of the sellers in respect of any claim under the acquisition agreement is limited as provided below. However, the liability of the sellers in respect of any claim pursuant to the tax covenants will be limited as provided in both the tax covenants and this section.

Time Limits

Neither seller will be liable in respect of any claim:

for breach of warranty (other than the tax warranties) or for breach of the obligations described in Certain Pre-Completion Undertakings Conduct of Business above unless appropriate written notice is given by or on behalf of the purchasers to the sellers no later than eighteen months from the completion date; or for breach of any of the tax warranties or pursuant to the tax covenant provisions unless appropriate written notice is given by or on behalf of the purchasers to the sellers no later than six years from the completion date.

Any claim that has been properly notified to the sellers, if not previously satisfied, settled or withdrawn, will be deemed to have been withdrawn six months after such written notice being given to the sellers or, in the case of a contingent liability or a claim as discussed under Insured Claims below applies, three months after that liability becomes an actual liability or, as applicable, after the relevant insurer has refused to meet the claim made on it, unless legal proceedings in respect of such claim have been commenced by being both issued and served.

Thresholds

Neither seller will be liable in respect of most warranty claims unless and until:

the amount of the liability pursuant to such warranty claim, when substantiated, exceeds $500,000; and the aggregate amount of the liability of the sellers for all warranty claims not excluded by the preceding paragraph, when substantiated, exceeds $10,000,000, in which case the sellers will be liable for the full amount of the substantiated warranty claims and not merely the excess over $10,000,000.

Maximum Liability

The maximum aggregate liability of the sellers for all claims for breaches of the obligations described in Certain Pre-Completion Undertakings Conduct of Business above and most warranty claims will not exceed $50,000,000. The maximum aggregate liability of the sellers for claims for all breaches of the obligations described in Certain Pre-Completion Undertakings Conduct of Business above, all warranty claims, all claims pursuant to the tax covenants and all claims described in Covenants Foreign Practices Covenant above will not exceed $513,000,000.

Matters Accounted for in Financial Statements

Neither seller will be liable in respect of any warranty claim if and to the extent the fact, matter, event or circumstance giving rise to the warranty claim is expressly provided or reserved for in the balance sheet or is otherwise fairly disclosed in the financial statements.

Insured Claims

If and to the extent that the amount of any warranty claim is covered by a policy of insurance maintained by the acquired group or the purchasers, the purchasers will use all reasonable endeavors to recover the amount of such warranty claim or such amount that is covered by such policy of insurance prior to making a warranty claim.

Table of Contents

Neither seller will be liable in respect of any warranty claim if and to the extent that the amount of such warranty claim is recovered by the acquired group or by either of the purchasers or any of their other affiliates under any policy of insurance maintained by them.

Contingent Liabilities and Consequential losses

Neither seller will be liable 1) for any warranty claim based upon a liability which is contingent, unless and until such contingent liability becomes an actual liability or 2) for any indirect or consequential loss, loss of profit or loss of reputation suffered by the purchasers or any of its affiliates in connection with a warranty claim or other claim for breach of the acquisition agreement.

Matters Disclosed

Neither seller will be liable in respect of any warranty claim if and to the extent that the fact, matter, event or circumstance giving rise to such warranty claim is fairly disclosed in the original information memorandum, in the disclosure letter or, in relation to the financial warranties, in a vendors due diligence report prepared by Ernst & Young.

Tax Savings

In calculating the liability of the sellers for any claim for breach of the acquisition agreement (other than a claim under the tax covenants) there will be taken into account the amount by which any tax for which the purchasers or any of their affiliates is now or may in the future be accountable or liable to be assessed is reduced or extinguished as a result of the matter giving rise to such liability and any repayment of tax which would not have arisen but for the matter giving rise to such liability.

Right to Cure

If a seller breaches the acquisition agreement, the sellers will have the opportunity to cure upon written notice from the purchaser of the breach. The purchasers will be entitled to compensation only if sellers fail to begin remedial action within 30 days of notice, fail to pursue diligent action thereafter at all times until remediation, or fail to remedy the breach within 90 days of notice.

Recovery from Third Parties

If either of the sellers pays an amount with respect to a warranty claim and the purchasers or any of the acquired companies later recovers an amount which would have reduced the amount of damages under the warranty claim, the purchasers will repay to seller the lesser of the amount recovered from the third party and the amount previously paid by the seller to the purchasers.

If the purchaser or any of their affiliates are entitled to recover (whether by insurance, payment, discount, credit, relief or otherwise) from a third Person a sum which indemnifies or compensates the purchasers or such affiliate (in whole or part) in respect of liability or loss which is the subject of a warranty claim, the purchasers or the relevant affiliate will, following the making of a warranty claim, take and continue to take all reasonable steps to enforce such recovery.

Double Recovery

The purchasers will not be entitled to recover more than once under the acquisition agreement in respect of the same damage suffered.

Table of Contents

Miscellaneous Other Limitations

The sellers will not be liable for any warranty claim, subject to certain exceptions relating to taxes, if the liability arises or is increased as a result of:

any legislation not in force at the date of the acquisition agreement, but which takes effect retrospectively;

any change in the accounting policies, practices or procedures adopted by the purchasers and/or their affiliates (other than changes required to ensure compliance with applicable law in effect as of the date of the acquisition agreement); or any change in the rates of taxation, any imposition of taxation or any change in the practice (including the withdrawal of any extra-statutory concession) of any relevant tax authority, in each case announced or becoming effective (whether or not retrospectively) on or after the date of the acquisition agreement.

Neither seller will be liable for any warranty claim, other than a claim for breach of any of the tax warranties to which exclusions apply under the tax covenants, if and to the extent that the liability arises as a result of any voluntary act or omission of the purchasers or any of their affiliates after the date of the acquisition agreement (including, following completion, the acquired companies).

Third-Party Claims

If the purchasers become aware of any claim by any third party which ought reasonably to be expected to give rise to a claim by the purchasers for breach of the acquisition agreement (other than a claim for breach of any of the tax warranties):

the purchasers will give written notice and consult with the sellers, within 30 days of becoming aware of any third-party claim, the purchasers will, and will procure that the acquired companies will:

at the written request and at the cost of the sellers take such action or (at the sellers' option) permit the sellers to take such action as the sellers reasonably consider appropriate to avoid, defend, dispute, mitigate, appeal, settle or compromise the third-party claim;

provide to the sellers and their professional advisers reasonable access to the premises and personnel of the acquired companies for the purposes of investigating matters relevant to the third-party claim; and take reasonable steps to preserve all information relevant to the third-party claim; and provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, none of the purchasers and the acquired companies will be required to provide any information or access that such person's legal advisers have advised would violate applicable law, including competition laws, or the terms of any confidentiality agreement or confidentiality provision in any contract or adversely impact any privilege, including legal professional privilege.

Exclusions for Fraud

The above limitations on liability will not apply to a claim that arises as a result of fraud by the sellers.

Costs and Expenses

If the shareholder approval condition has not been satisfied on or prior to the Long-Stop Date, CB&I will pay to the sellers a break fee of $25,000,000.

Table of Contents

Except as provided otherwise in the acquisition agreement, each party will pay its own costs and expenses in connection with the negotiation, preparation and performance of the acquisition agreement, including the fees and expenses of such party's counsel and financial advisers.

Variations

The acquisition agreement cannot be varied unless it is in writing and signed by or on behalf of the parties.

Remedies and Waivers

No waiver of any right under the acquisition agreement will be effective unless in writing and will be effective only in the circumstances for which it is given.

No delay or omission by any party in exercising any right or remedy provided by applicable law or under the acquisition agreement will constitute a waiver of such right or remedy, subject to the time limits described in The Sellers' Limitations of Liability above.

CB&I is a fully integrated engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) service provider, offering a complete package of conceptual design, engineering, procurement, fabrication, field erection, mechanical installation and commissioning. CB&I's projects include hydrocarbon processing plants, liquefied natural gas terminals and peak shaving plants, offshore structures, pipelines, bulk liquid terminals, water storage and treatment facilities, and other steel structures and their associated systems. During 2006, CB&I executed more than 500 projects for customers in a variety of industries. Over the last several years, CB&I's customers have included:

large U.S., multinational and state-owned oil companies, such as BP, British Gas, Chevron, CNOOC Petroleum, ConocoPhillips, ExxonMobil, Marathon, Pluspetrol, Qatar Petroleum, Saudi Aramco, Shell and Valero Energy Corporation;

LNG and natural gas producers and distributors, such as Dominion, Golden Pass LNG, Grain LNG, South Hook LNG, Southern LNG and Yankee Gas; and municipal and private water companies.

CB&I provides a wide range of innovative and value-added EPC services, including:

Liquefied Natural Gas (LNG). LNG terminals and similar facilities are used for the production, handling, storage and distribution of liquefied gases. CB&I specializes in providing turnkey liquefaction and regasification facilities consisting of terminals, tanks, and associated systems. These facilities usually include special refrigeration equipment to maintain the gases in liquefied form at the storage pressure. CB&I also provides LNG tanks on a stand-alone basis. Process equipment and refrigerated or cryogenic tanks are built from special steels and alloys that have properties to withstand cold temperatures. Applications extend from low temperature (+30°F to -100°F) to cryogenic (-100°F to -423°F). Customers for these facilities or tanks are primarily from the petroleum, natural gas, power generation and agricultural industries.

Refining and Related Processes. CB&I provides EPC services for customers in the hydrocarbon industry, specializing in refinery and petrochemical process units, gas processing plants, and hydrogen and synthesis gas plants. Refinery and petrochemical process units enable customers to extract products from the top, middle and bottom streams of the crude oil barrel using technologies such as catalytic reforming, vacuum and atmospheric distillation, fuels and distillate hydrotreating, hydrodesulfurization, alkylation, coking, and isomerization. Gas processing plants treat natural gas to meet pipeline requirements and to recover valuable liquids and other enhanced products, through such technologies as cryogenic separation, amine treatment, dehydration and liquids fractionation. Synthesis gas plants generate industrial gases for use in a variety of industries through technologies such as steam methane and auto-thermal reforming, partial oxidation reactors and pressure swing adsorption purification. CB&I also provides engineering services for offshore structures for oil and gas production and pipelines for product distribution.

Steel Plate Structures. Steel plate structures include above ground storage tanks, pressure vessels, and other specialty structures. Above ground storage tanks are sold primarily to customers operating in the petroleum, petrochemical and chemical industries. This industrial customer group includes nearly all of the world's major oil and chemical companies. Above ground tanks can be used for storage of crude oil, refined products such as gasoline, chemicals, petrochemicals and a large variety of feedstocks for the manufacturing industry. In addition, CB&I provides structures for water storage and treatment as well as liquefied petroleum gas and liquefied nitrogen/liquefied oxygen tanks. Pressure vessels are built primarily from high strength carbon steel plates which may be formed in one of our fabrication shops and are welded together at the job site. Pressure vessels are constructed in a variety of shapes and sizes, some weighing in excess of 700 tons, with wall thickness in excess of four inches. Typical pressure vessel usage includes process and storage vessels in the petroleum, petrochemical, and chemical industries and egg-shaped digesters for wastewater treatment. Other specialty structures are marketed to a diverse group of customers. Examples of specialty structures include processing facilities or components used in the mining industries. CB&I has designed and erected tanks, pressure vessels, and other specialty structures throughout the world.

Process technology is a provider of key petrochemical, refining and gas technologies, proprietary catalysts and specialized equipment. These technologies are critical in the refining of crude oil into gasoline, diesel, jet fuel and lubricants and in the manufacturing of various chemicals and polymers which are used either industrially or in household products, and the processing of natural gas. Process Technology licenses over 70 different technologies/processes, with particular strengths in the areas of olefins (Ethylene/propylene) and derivatives production, and refining hydroprocessing. These technologies are either wholly owned by Lummus Global or are owned jointly, through alliance agreements with catalyst companies, manufacturers or other process licensing companies.

The consistent growth in revenue during the past several years is the result of the impact of positive trends in the segment, including increased regulatory requirements promoting the development of new clean fuels, growing use of heavy crude oil, increased natural gas consumption as an alternative to petroleum and increased consumption of end products such as polypropylene.

Six Months 2007 versus Six Months 2006

Revenue. Revenue during the six months ended June 30, 2007 of $185.8 million increased $68.2 million, or 58% compared with the corresponding period in 2006. The increase was primarily due to higher revenue from significant Lummus Global Heat Transfer projects and a large polypropylene license award in Saudi Arabia.

Income from Operations. Income from operations during the six months ended June 30, 2007 of $46.2 million increased $14.3 million, or 45% compared with the prior year period. The increase is a result of higher revenue volume.

2006 versus 2005

Revenue. Revenue during 2006 of $294.5 million increased $57.9 million, or 24% compared with 2005. The increase was primarily due to strong ethylene and propylene related activity, as well as the impact of significant Lummus Global Heat Transfer projects.

Income from Operations. Income from operations during 2006 of $67.8 million increased $15.8 million, or 30% compared with 2005. The increase is commensurate with the growth in revenue over the prior year.

Revenue. Revenue during 2005 of $236.6 million increased $34.3 million, or 17% compared with 2004. The increase was primarily due to progress on ethylene and propylene projects and higher Lummus Global Heat Transfer volumes.

Income from Operations. Income from operations during 2005 of $52.0 million increased $14.9 million, or 40% compared with 2004. The increase is due to higher volume and improved margins associated with the level of licensing activity in 2005.

Engineering, Procurement & Construction

Engineering, Procurement & Construction is a long established provider of engineering, design, project and construction management solutions focused on new and retrofit facility projects for the global oil and gas, refining and petrochemical industries. It serves a diverse customer base which includes many of the world's leading integrated, international, national and independent oil and petrochemical companies. Engineering, Procurement & Construction undertakes both upstream and downstream projects under a variety of contract structures, including Project Management Consultant, Cost Reimbursable, Fixed Price Engineering and Procurement and Lump Sum Turnkey. Within upstream markets, it has experience and capabilities in both onshore and offshore oil and gas production and processing facilities, while in downstream markets, its expertise includes, among others, ethylene plants, hydrocracker, delayed coking facilities and full refineries.

Beginning in 2003, ABB undertook a restructuring of its Engineering, Procurement and Construction segment including, among other actions, a de-risking of its project portfolio. During the past several years, revenue has been unfavorably impacted as new awards decreased due to management's focus on implementing its new strategy. Revenue has also been unfavorably impacted as the backlog of these higher risk projects was being depleted.

Prior to adopting the de-risking program, which included shifting to lower risk, lower order value cost reimbursable services, the Engineering, Procurement & Construction segment had focused on growth through large turnkey orders, which resulted in the segment assuming inherently higher risk. As a consequence, it suffered significant financial losses on a few projects over a period of several years, including the years ending December 31, 2004 through 2006 and the six month period ended June 30, 2006. With the exception of a $3.2 million provision on the Westlake project, there were no additional material provisions recognized associated with these or other projects during the six month period ended June 30, 2007. As of June 30, 2007 approximately $500 million of backlog remained for this segment, of which roughly half was being completed on a cost reimbursable basis, with the remainder being completed on a lump sum basis. Also during the period of adoption of the de-risking program, a prepackaged bankruptcy filing which protects Lummus Global from its current and future asbestos personal injury claims in the United States was instituted. The asbestos related bankruptcy plan and the significant provisions for contract losses are further described in footnotes 15 and 18, respectively, to the Lummus Global audited financial statements included herein.

The significant project impacts and the asbestos related expense for each of the three years ended December 31, 2006 and for each of the six month periods ended June 30, 2006 and 2007 are summarized below.

Six Months 2007 versus Six Months 2006

Revenue. Revenue during the six months ended June 30, 2007 of $318.5 million decreased $47.0 million, or 13% compared with the corresponding period in 2006. The decrease was a reflection of the continued shift from full-scope EPC projects to lower order value cost reimbursable work.

Income (Loss) from Operations. Income from operations during the six months ended June 30, 2007 of $8.7 million increased $28.1 million compared with the corresponding period in 2006. The increase was primarily a result of the significant charges recognized in 2006 for the Rio Polimeros and Westlake projects noted in the table above.

2006 versus 2005

Revenue. Revenue during 2006 of $693.8 million decreased $157.3 million, or 18% compared with 2005. The decrease was due to the impact of low new orders booked in 2005 as a result of the continuation of management's change in strategy from the pursuit of large lump sum EPC projects to lower risk cost reimbursable work. Additionally, several large lump sum projects that had generated substantial revenue during 2005 were completed in 2006.

Table of Contents

Income (Loss) from Operations. Loss from operations during 2006 of ($111.4) million increased $111.3 million compared with 2005. The increase was a result of the significant charges recognized on the Rio Polimeros and Westlake projects noted in the table above, as well as higher pre-contract/proposal related costs.

Revenue. Revenue during 2005 of $851.2 million decreased $226.1 million, or 21% compared with 2005. The decrease was due to the lack of new lump sum awards and the unfavorable impact of a final settlement on a polypropylene project in the Middle East.

Income (Loss) from Operations. Loss from operations in 2005 of ($79) thousand decreased $28.4 million compared with 2004. The change was primarily a result of significant charges, recognized during 2004, associated with restructuring the U.S. operation and settlement of asbestos claims (as further described in Footnote 15 to the Lummus Global financial statements included elsewhere in this proxy statement).

The preliminary allocation of the purchase price used in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements is based on management's preliminary valuation. The estimates and assumptions are subject to change upon the finalization of valuations, which are contingent upon appraisals of property, plant and equipment, identifiable intangible assets, actuarial valuations of employee benefit plans and adjustments to contract-related and other accounts. Revisions to the preliminary purchase price allocation could result in significant deviations from these pro forma results.

PROPOSED FINANCINGS

CB&I intends to fund the purchase price for the acquisition using a combination of approximately $500 million to $600 million of its available cash balance and approximately $250 million to $350 million of debt. Prior to closing, CB&I anticipates completing a new $200 million five year term loan with certain of its existing revolving credit facility lenders. The interest rate for the new term loan is expected to be a variable rate consistent with that of CB&I's existing revolving credit facility, as described in note 7 to CB&I's consolidated financial statements incorporated by reference into this proxy statement. The balance of the debt financing is expected to be drawn on CB&I's existing $850 million revolving credit facility, which CB&I intends to increase to $1 billion pursuant to an election made by CB&I contained in the existing revolving credit facility. CB&I expects to complete the revolving credit facility amendment prior to completion of the acquisition.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT AUDITORS

Board of Directors
ABB Ltd.

We have audited the accompanying combined balance sheets of ABB Lummus Global (the Company) as of December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, and the related combined statements of operations, cash flows and changes in parent investment (deficit) for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2006. These combined financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these combined financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the combined financial statements are free of material misstatement. We were not engaged to perform an audit of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Our audits included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the combined financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the combined financial position of ABB Lummus Global at December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, and the combined results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2006, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

As discussed in Notes 2 and 20 to the combined financial statements, effective December 31, 2006, the Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 158, Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans.

ABB Lummus Global

Notes to Combined Financial Statements
(U.S. $ in thousands)

1. Description of the Business

The accompanying Combined Financial Statements present the historical financial position, results of operations and cash flows of ABB Lummus Global as conducted by ABB Lummus Global Inc. (Lummus), ABB Oil & Gas Europe B.V. (Lummus B.V.) and their respective subsidiaries (the Company) which both are indirectly owned by ABB Ltd. (ABB or the Parent). The Company s operations include on/near shore engineering, procurement, construction and technology operations and are part of ABB s Oil, Gas and Petrochemical business (OGP).

OGP supplies a comprehensive range of products and services to the global oil, gas and petrochemical industries, including the design and supply of production facilities, refineries and petrochemical plants.

The oil, gas and petrochemical industry is typically divided into two markets:

Upstream markets: Equipment, systems and services for onshore and offshore oil and gas exploration and production

Downstream markets: Processing of hydrocarbon raw material using refineries, petrochemical and chemical plants, gas processing and pipelines.

The Company is focused mainly in the downstream business and generates its revenues through its segments of engineering, procurement and construction services and project management services (EPC) and engineering services and the licensing of technology (PT) to the refining and petrochemical industries. The Company transacts business and operates internationally with customers principally based in the United States of America, the Netherlands, the Czech Republic, Germany, Russia, Algeria, United Arab Emirates, China and Brazil.

The accompanying Combined Financial Statements were prepared in connection with the anticipated disposition of the Company. Net borrowings due to ABB will be settled as stipulated in the sale and purchase agreement between ABB and the buyer. A significant portion of affiliated Company debt in the U.S. at December 31, 2006 is subordinated to the Company s asbestos obligations (see Note 15).

2. Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation and Combination

Historically, financial statements have not been prepared for the Company, as the Parent does not account for it separately as a combined entity. The accompanying Combined Financial Statements have been prepared from the historical accounting records of the Parent to present the combined results of operations, financial position, and cash flows of the Company in compliance with the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission as required by Rule 3-05 of Regulation S-X. The accompanying Combined Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP). Certain corporate expenses, assets and liabilities have been allocated to the Company by ABB based on measures relevant to the items being allocated. The Combined Financial Statements are not necessarily indicative of what the results of operations or financial position of the Company would have been, had the Company been operated as a separate stand-alone entity for the periods presented.

The Combined Financial Statements are presented in thousands of U.S. dollars ($), the reporting currency of the Parent.

Generally, the equity method is used for investment ownership ranging from 20% to 50%. Investment ownership of less than 20% is accounted for at cost. As is common in the industry, the Company executes certain contracts jointly with third parties through unincorporated joint ventures. For these contracts, the Company recognizes its share of joint venture revenues, costs, operating profits, and assets and liabilities in its

Combined Financial Statements based upon the Company's relative involvement or control over the venture. Below is a summary of the Company's unincorporated joint ventures.

Project	Country	Method of Consolidation	Percentage Held	Year of Estimated or Actual Completion
Rio Polimeros	Various	Proportional	50%	2007
BHP Ohanet	The Netherlands	Full Consolidation	50%	2005
Kizomba A	United States	Full Consolidation	50%	2004

All significant transactions among entities within the Company have been eliminated in combination.

Operating Cycle

A portion of the Company's operating cycle, including long term construction activities, exceeds one year. For classification of current assets and liabilities related to these types of construction activities, the Company elected to use the duration of the contracts as its operating cycle.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the Combined Financial Statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the Combined Financial Statements. Significant estimates for which changes in the near term are considered reasonably possible and that may have a material impact on the Combined Financial Statements are addressed in these notes to the Combined Financial Statements.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less at the date of acquisition.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company sells a broad range of services to oil, gas and petrochemical customers throughout the world. The risk of uncollectible trade receivables is considered low, as the Company's customer base is generally major global oil, gas and petrochemical companies. Ongoing credit evaluations of customers' financial positions are performed and, generally, no collateral is required. See Note 22 for segment, geographic and customer concentrations. The Company believes it maintains adequate reserves for potential losses and such losses have been minimal and approximate management estimates.

Revenue Recognition, Contract Accounting and Provision for Losses

The Company recognizes engineering and construction contract revenues using the percentage-of-completion method. The Company principally uses the cost-to-cost method to measure progress towards completion on contracts. Long term contracts typically extend over a period of several months to five years.

Contract costs include all direct material and labor costs and those indirect costs related to contract performance, including estimates for performance risks and warranties. The Company's contracts occasionally allow customers to withhold a certain portion of the contract price until specific performance requirements are met.

Management expects the majority of related contracts will be completed and substantially all of the billed amounts retained by the customer will be collected within one year of the balance sheet date.

Table of Contents

Provisions for warranties are based on specific project evaluations. Anticipated project warranty costs are expensed in proportion to sales recognition on the related contracts.

Provisions for estimated losses on uncompleted contracts are made in the period in which such losses are determined. Changes in contract performance and estimated profitability, including those arising from contract penalty provisions and final contract settlements, may result in revisions to costs and income and are recognized in the period in which the revisions are determined. The Company recorded provisions for loss orders in cost of sales for the years 2006, 2005 and 2004 in the amounts of $125,300, $43,000 and $32,900, respectively.

Amounts in excess of the agreed contract price, including pending change orders and claims, are included in revenue only if it is probable that the claim will result in additional contract revenue and the amount can be reliably estimated. As of December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, amounts in excess of the agreed contract price of $27,295, $26,136 and $678, respectively, are included in the Company's costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts in the Combined Balance Sheets. In addition, as of December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, claims of $48, $0 and $261, respectively, are included in the Company's costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts on the Combined Balance Sheets.

Profit incentives are included in income when their realization is reasonably assured. The Company recognized profit incentives of $470, $2,598 and $4,708 for the years ended December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Selling, general and administrative expenses are charged to expense when incurred. When the Company is directly responsible for subcontractor labor, or third-party materials and equipment, the costs of such items are included in both revenues and costs. On other projects, where the client pays for such items directly and the Company has no associated responsibility for such items, these amounts are not reflected in either revenues or costs. Shipping and handling costs are recorded as a component of cost of sales.

Trade Receivables, Net

Trade receivables, third party are non-interest bearing and are generally with major global oil, gas and petrochemical companies. The Company routinely evaluates its portfolio of third party trade receivables for risk of non-collection and records an allowance for uncollectible receivables to reflect the carrying value of its trade receivables at estimated net realizable value. Such allowances are charged directly against the related project in cost of sales. There is no allowance provided for trade receivables with affiliates.

Costs and Estimated Earnings in Excess of Billings on Uncompleted Contracts

Costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts arise in the Combined Balance Sheets when revenues have been recognized but the amounts cannot be billed under the terms of the contracts. Such amounts are recoverable from customers based upon various measures of performance, including achievement of certain milestones, completion of specified units or completion of the contract. Also included in costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts are amounts the Company is seeking or will seek to collect from customers or others for errors or changes in contract specifications or design, contract change orders in dispute or unapproved as to scope and price or other customer-related causes of unanticipated additional contract costs (claims and unapproved change orders). Such amounts are recorded at estimated net realizable value when realization is probable and can be reasonably estimated. Claims and unapproved change orders may involve negotiation and, in certain cases, litigation. The Company believes that it has established legal bases for pursuing recovery of its recorded unapproved change orders and claims, and it is the Company's intention to pursue and litigate such claims, if necessary, until a decision or settlement is reached. Unapproved change orders and claims also involve the use of estimates, and it is reasonably possible that revisions to the estimated recoverable amounts of recorded claims and unapproved change orders may be made in the near term. If the Company does not successfully resolve these matters, a net expense (recorded as a reduction in revenues) may be required, in addition to amounts that have been previously provided for. Claims against the Company are recognized when a loss is considered probable and amounts are reasonably determinable.

Property, Plant and Equipment, Net

Property, plant and equipment is stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation, and is depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

Office buildings: 30 to 40 years

Machinery and equipment and furniture and office equipment: 3 to 15 years

Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets

In accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets (SFAS 142), goodwill and intangible assets determined to have an indefinite useful life are not amortized, but instead, are tested for impairment annually or more frequently if impairment indicators arise. A fair value approach is used to identify potential goodwill impairment and, when necessary, measure the amount of impairment. The Company uses a discounted cash flow model to determine the fair value of reporting units, unless there is a readily determinable fair market value.

The cost of acquired identifiable, intangible assets is amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives, typically ranging from 5 to 15 years, and is reviewed for impairment in accordance with SFAS No. 144, Impairment of Long Lived Assets.

Capitalized Software Costs

Capitalized costs of software for internal use are accounted for in accordance with American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) Statement of Position 98-1, Accounting for the Costs of Computer Software Developed or Obtained for Internal Use, and are amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the software, typically ranging from three to five years.

Billings in Excess of Costs and Estimated Earnings on Uncompleted Contracts

Billings in excess of costs and estimated earnings on uncompleted contracts represent advance billings to clients in excess of costs and earnings.

Derivative Financial Instruments and Hedging Principles

The Company uses derivative financial instruments to manage currency exposures arising from its global operating, financing and investing activities over contract periods from several months to five years. The Company accounts for its derivative financial instruments in accordance with SFAS No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, as subsequently amended. The Company's policies require that it economically hedge all contracted foreign exposures to the functional currency of the Company entity performing the work.

All derivatives are recognized on the Combined Balance Sheets at their fair value. On the date the derivative contract is entered into, the Company designates the derivative as either a hedge of a forecasted transaction to the variability of cash flows to be received or paid related to a recognized asset or liability (cash flow hedge) or a foreign-currency cash flow hedge (foreign currency hedge). The Company documents all relationships between hedging instruments and hedged items, as well as its risk-management objective and strategy for undertaking various hedge transactions. The Company also formally assesses, both at the hedge's inception and on an ongoing basis, whether the derivatives that are used in hedging transactions are highly effective in offsetting changes in cash flows of hedged items. When it is determined that a derivative is not highly effective as a hedge or that it has ceased to be a highly effective hedge, the Company discontinues hedge accounting prospectively.

When hedge accounting is discontinued because it is determined that the derivative no longer qualifies as an effective hedge, the Company continues to carry the derivative on the Combined Balance Sheets at its fair value, and recognizes subsequent changes in the fair value of the derivative through earnings.

Changes in the fair value of derivatives that are highly effective and that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges are recorded in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss), until earnings are affected by the variability in cash flows of the designated hedged item. Changes in the fair values of other derivative instruments are reported in earnings.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The fair value estimates of financial instruments contained in these Combined Financial Statements are based on relevant market information and information about the financial instruments for the year presented. These estimates do not reflect any premium or discount that could result from offering for sale at one time the Company's entire holdings in a particular financial instrument.

Translation of Foreign Currencies and Foreign Exchange Transactions

The functional currency for most of the Company's operations is the applicable local currency. The translation from the applicable functional currencies into the Company's reporting currency is performed for balance sheet accounts using exchange rates in effect at the balance sheet date, and for income statement accounts using average rates of exchange prevailing during the year. The resulting translation adjustments are excluded from the determination of earnings and are recognized in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) until the entity is sold or substantially liquidated.

Foreign currency exchange gains and losses, such as those resulting from foreign currency denominated receivables or payables, are included in the determination of earnings except as they relate to intercompany loans that are equity-like in nature with no reasonable expectation of repayment, which are recognized in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Foreign currency exchange transaction losses were $(1,250), $(3,892) and $(1,670) for 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively, and are included in other income (expense), net.

Related Parties

Transactions with ABB companies that are not entities included within the Combined Financial Statements, are classified as related party transactions and disclosed as such. The Company has no material transactions with other related parties.

Research and Development

Project specific research and development costs are capitalized as project costs, and recognized in cost of sales using the percentage-of-completion method of accounting.

Non-project specific research and development costs were $10,158, $8,956 and $9,489 for the years ended December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively. These costs are included in selling, general and administrative expenses as incurred.

Guarantees

All guarantees are accounted for in accordance with SFAS No. 5, Accounting for Contingencies (SFAS 5) and FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees; including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others (FIN 45). Provisions are recorded in the Combined Financial Statements at the time it becomes probable the Company will incur losses pursuant to a guarantee.

Guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2002 are accounted for in accordance with FIN 45. Upon issuance or modification of certain guarantees, a liability, equal to the fair value of the guarantee, is recorded.

Income Taxes

The Company uses the asset and liability method to account for deferred taxes. Under this method, deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between the financial reporting and the tax bases of assets and liabilities. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates and laws that are expected to be in effect when the differences are expected to reverse. For financial statement purposes, the Company records a deferred tax asset when it determines that it is probable that the deduction will be sustained based upon the deduction's technical merit. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance to reflect the amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

Generally, deferred taxes are not provided on the unremitted earnings of subsidiaries to the extent it is expected that these earnings are permanently reinvested. Such earnings may become taxable upon the sale or liquidation of these subsidiaries or upon the remittance of dividends. Deferred taxes are provided in situations where the Company's subsidiaries plan to make future dividend distributions.

The Company operates in numerous tax jurisdictions and, as a result, is regularly subject to audit by tax authorities. The Company provides for tax contingencies on the basis of their technical merits, including relative tax law and Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) guidelines, as well as on items relating to potential audits by tax authorities based upon its best estimate of the facts and circumstances as of each reporting period. Changes in the facts and circumstances could result in a material change to the tax accruals. The Company provides for contingencies whenever it is deemed probable that a tax asset has been impaired or a tax liability has been incurred for events such as tax claims or changes in tax laws.

The Company's operations, where appropriate, were included in consolidated income tax returns of ABB entities in each jurisdiction in which the Company operates. The U.S. businesses file as part of a U.S. consolidated federal income tax return with ABB Holdings Inc., the U.S. parent, which is not part of these Combined Financial Statements. In the U.S., separate state and local income tax returns are filed by the separate legal entities. The income tax provision included in the Combined Statements of Operations has been determined as if the Company were a separate taxpayer consistent with the tax sharing arrangements with the respective entity and its parent.

New Accounting Pronouncements

In December 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Statement No. 123(R), Share-Based Payment (SFAS 123R), which replaces SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-based Compensation, and APB 25,

Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees (APB 25) and requires the Parent to measure compensation cost for all share-based payments at fair value. On April 14, 2005, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) announced the adoption of a new rule that amended the implementation dates for SFAS 123R. As a result of this announcement, the Parent adopted SFAS 123R as of January 1, 2006. The Parent began recognizing share-based employee compensation cost from January 1, 2006, as if the fair value based accounting method had been used to account for all employee awards granted, modified, or settled after January 1, 2006 and for any awards that were not fully vested as of January 1, 2006. The Company s

Combined Financial Statements reflect allocated compensation cost related to certain of its employees on the same basis utilized by the Parent. See further discussion of share based payments in Note 21.

On September 29, 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 158, Employers Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans (SFAS 158). SFAS 158 amends SFAS No. 87, Employers Accounting for Pensions, SFAS No. 88, Employers Accounting for Settlements and Curtailments of Defined Benefit Pension Plans and for Termination Benefits, SFAS No. 106, Employers Accounting for Postretirement Benefits Other than Pensions, and SFAS 132(R), Employers Disclosures About Pensions and Other Postretirement Benefits, an amendment of FASB Statement Nos. 87, 88 and 106. SFAS 158, which was adopted by the Company effective December 31, 2006, required the Company to recognize the overfunded or underfunded status of its defined benefit postretirement plans (other than for multi-employer plans) as an asset or liability in the Combined Balance Sheets and to recognize changes in the funded status in the year in which the changes occur through accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). No restatement of prior years or pro forma disclosure of the effect of the adoption on prior years was required. See Note 20 for further discussion of SFAS 158.

In June 2006, the FASB issued FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes (FIN 48) (an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109) which is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006. This interpretation was issued to clarify the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in the financial statements by prescribing a more likely than not threshold measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. If there are changes in net assets as a result of application of FIN 48, these will be accounted for as an adjustment to retained earnings. The new guidance was effective on January 1, 2007 and there was no impact to the income tax related liabilities in the Combined Financial Statements upon adoption on that date.

In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 157, Fair Value Measurements (SFAS 157). SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 does not require any new fair value measurements and eliminates inconsistencies in guidance found in various prior accounting pronouncements. The statement provides a single definition for fair value that is to be applied consistently for all accounting applications, and also generally describes and prioritizes according to reliability the methods and inputs used in valuations. SFAS 157 will be effective for the Company on January 1, 2008. The Company is currently evaluating and assessing the impact of adopting SFAS 157 on its Combined Financial Statements.

In February 2007, the FASB issued Statement No. 159, The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities (SFAS 159). SFAS 159 allows entities to voluntarily choose, at specified election dates, to measure many financial assets (as well as certain non-financial instruments that are similar to financial instruments) at fair value (the fair value option). The election is made on an instrument-by-instrument basis and is irrevocable. If the fair value option is elected for an instrument, the statement specifies that all subsequent changes in fair value for that instrument shall be reported in earnings. The statement is effective as of the beginning of an entity's first fiscal year that begins after November 15, 2007. The Company is currently evaluating and assessing the impact of adopting SFAS 159 on its Combined Financial Statements.

In June 2006, the FASB ratified Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) Issue No. 06-3, How Taxes Collected from Customers and Remitted to Governmental Authorities Should Be Presented in the Income Statement (That Is, Gross versus Net Presentation) (EITF 06-3). EITF 06-3 allows companies to present in their statements of operations any taxes assessed by a governmental authority that are directly imposed on revenue-producing transactions between a seller and a customer, such as sales, use, value-added and some excise taxes, on either a gross (included in revenues and expenses) or a net (excluded from revenues) basis. EITF 06-3 will be effective for the Company in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006. The Company presents these transactions on a net basis and intends to continue this presentation in the future; therefore, the adoption of EITF 06-3 will have no impact on its Combined Financial Statements.

Table of ContentsABB Lummus Global*Notes to Combined Financial Statements (Continued)*3. Financial Instruments, Including Derivatives

The Company is party to various financial instruments in the normal course of business. To reduce its own exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates, the Company utilizes derivative financial instruments. The following methods and assumptions are used in estimating fair values of these financial instruments.

Cash and Cash Equivalents, Accounts Receivable and Accounts Payable

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, and accounts payable approximate fair value because of the short maturity of these instruments.

Loans Receivable and Other Financing Receivables

The estimated fair value of short term loans approximates carrying value. The estimated fair value of long term loans receivable and other long term financing receivables are calculated by discounting scheduled cash flows through maturity using the estimated market discount rates that reflect the interest rate risk inherent in the loans.

Cost Investments

Cost investments reflect amounts invested in entities associated with current or future projects. Fair value of the Company's cost investments as of December 31, 2006 is $21,000.

Hedging Activities

To manage its exposure to foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations, the Company enters into foreign exchange forward contracts which hedge certain contract related purchase and sale commitments denominated in foreign currencies. Such instruments are marked to market and are recorded as job costs in cost of sales. Prepaid expenses and other current assets include the fair value of certain outstanding foreign currency forward contracts of $3,212, $2,435 and $7,203 at December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively, and accrued expenses and other liabilities as of December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004 include the fair value of certain foreign currency forward contracts at a fair value of $3,158, $2,656 and $5,125, respectively.

15. Asbestos Obligations

Lummus had been a co-defendant in a number of lawsuits claiming damages for personal injury resulting from exposure to asbestos. Lummus was included in the initial Pre-Packaged Plan of Reorganization for Combustion Engineering Inc. (CE), an affiliate company, which was filed on February 17, 2003. When confirmation of the initial CE Plan was reversed by the Court of Appeals in December 2004, it was determined that Lummus would file its own prepackaged plan of reorganization (the Lummus Plan).

The Lummus Plan was filed with the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Delaware (the Bankruptcy Court) on April 21, 2006. On June 29, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court issued its order confirming the Lummus Plan and recommended that the District Court affirm the Bankruptcy Court's Order. On August 30, 2006, the District Court's order affirming confirmation of the Lummus Plan became final and the Lummus Plan became effective on August 31, 2006 (the Lummus Plan Effective Date).

The Lummus Plan

The negotiations that led to the Lummus Plan were conducted with representatives of asbestos claimants with pending claims against Lummus and an individual selected by Lummus and later appointed by the Bankruptcy Court, to represent the interests of its future asbestos claimants (the Lummus FCR).

Under the terms of the Lummus Plan:

Lummus executed a 6% interest bearing note in the principal amount of $33,000 (the Lummus Note) payable to a trust created under the Lummus Plan (the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust). The Lummus Note is secured by a pledge of 51% of the capital stock of Lummus. Payments under the Lummus Note are guaranteed by ABB and ABB Holdings Inc. Until Lummus obligations under the Lummus Note are satisfied, pre-Chapter 11 debt obligations between Lummus and other ABB entities are subordinated to the obligations under the ABB Note, and payments from Lummus to other ABB entities are restricted;

The Lummus Asbestos PI Trust will also be entitled to be paid the first $7,500 in aggregate recoveries from Lummus insurers with the first $5,000 guaranteed. On the Lummus Plan Effective Date $5,000, comprised of $1,640 of insurer funding and $3,360 of Lummus funding, was paid to the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust;

A channeling injunction pursuant to Section 524(g) of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code (the Lummus Channeling Injunction) was issued pursuant to which all asbestos related claims against Lummus and other ABB entities relating to the operations of Lummus are channeled to the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust; and

If ABB entities or Lummus are found by the Bankruptcy Court to have defaulted in their payment obligations under the Lummus Note, the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust may petition the Bankruptcy Court to terminate the Lummus Channeling Injunction and the protections afforded to Lummus and other ABB entities by that injunction.

The effects of the above transactions on the accompanying combined financial statements are as follows:

Noncurrent:
Lummus Asbestos PI Trust	$ 25,300	$	$

Prior to 2006, asbestos obligations were recorded based on the expected implementation of the initial CE Plan or the modified CE Plan and the Lummus Plan and classified as current liabilities. During 2006, confirmation of the Lummus Plan became final and effective. Asbestos liabilities at December 31, 2006 reflect the terms of the effective plan and are classified as current or noncurrent obligations based on the scheduled payment dates for the related note.

On May 2, 2007, Lummus paid the outstanding balance of the note due to the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust of $27,600 plus accrued but unpaid interest thereon of $1,112. Security under the Lummus Note was released by the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust. Lummus is an obligor under the Combustion Engineering $204,000 Contribution Agreement (the Contribution Agreement) and together with other ABB entities, is jointly and severally liable for the payment of the $204,000 owed thereunder. That obligation, generally, will become due upon the earlier of April 21, 2008 or a sale of Lummus or substantially all of its assets.

17. LeasesLease Obligations

The Company's lease obligations primarily relate to real estate and office equipment. In the normal course of business, management expects most leases to be renewed or replaced by other leases. Rent expense for 2006, 2005 and 2004 was $26,325, $25,547 and $27,313, respectively. Sub-lease income received on leased assets by the Company was $2,532, $4,068 and $3,984 in 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

At December 31, 2006, future net minimum lease payments for leases having initial or remaining noncancelable lease terms in excess of one year consist of the following:

	Rent	Sub-Lease Income	Net

Table of ContentsABB Lummus Global*Notes to Combined Financial Statements (Continued)18. Commitments and ContingenciesThird Party Bank Guarantees, Standby Letters of Credit and Surety Bonds

In the ordinary course of business, the Company enters into various agreements providing financial or performance assurances to clients on behalf of certain unconsolidated partnerships, joint ventures and other jointly executed contracts. These agreements are entered into primarily to support the project execution commitments of these entities. The guarantees have various expiration dates ranging from mechanical completion of the facilities being constructed to a period extending beyond contract completion in certain circumstances. The maximum potential payment amount of an outstanding performance guarantee is the remaining cost of work to be performed by or on behalf of third parties under engineering and construction contracts. Amounts that may be required to be paid in excess of estimated cost to complete contracts in progress are not estimable. For cost reimbursable contracts, amounts that may become payable pursuant to guarantee provisions are normally recoverable from the client for work performed under the contract. For lump sum or fixed price contracts, this amount is the cost to complete the contracted work, less amounts remaining to be billed to the client under the contract. Remaining billable amounts could be greater or less than the cost to complete. In those cases where cost exceeds the remaining amounts payable under the contract, the Company may have recourse to third parties, such as owners, co-venturers, subcontractors or vendors for claims.

Bank guarantees, standby letters of credit and surety bonds are used by the Company primarily as project related bid, performance, advance payment and retention guarantees. In some instances, they are used for tax, customs and other miscellaneous reasons. Based on project contractual requirements, performance guarantees are generally required at or near the start of the project and extend through warranty periods or to final acceptance. Advance payment and retention guarantees are a means of improving cash flow by providing a guarantee for the receipt of cash. Advance payment and retention bonds generally offset each other. With a few exceptions, the guarantees are confirmed and unconditional, which allows the beneficiary to draw against them, with little or no notice and limited recourse, other than the courts after the fact.

The reported amount of the guarantees represents a maximum amount and does not reflect the Company's expected results. The guarantee values reported typically quantify the maximum contractual loss amount, irrespective of the percentage-of-completion of the projects. In addition, any counter guarantees given by joint venture partners are not netted against the maximum contractual loss amount. Consequently, the underlying commercial exposure could be substantially lower than the reported values. The following table provides quantitative data regarding the Company's third-party bank guarantees, standby letters of credit and surety bonds.

Bank guarantees	$ 140,491	$ 140,810	$ 192,870
Letters of credit	95,994	85,928	171,802
Surety bonds	2,560	1,560	115
	$ 239,045	$ 228,298	$ 364,787

ABB Affiliate Guarantees

ABB affiliate guarantees are required by clients of the Company who, in support of a specific project, want a degree of assurance or comfort that in the event the Company is unable to perform the work for which it was contracted, they have a mechanism to enforce performance. This is exclusive of, and additional to, any other remedies that might be available under the contract and/or performance provided under the contract. ABB affiliate guarantees generally do not have a specific monetary value. Most ABB affiliate guarantees expire upon the fulfillment of all contractual obligations although some are date specific and generally coincide with the expiration of warranty periods or at final acceptance.

Contract Litigation

The Company is involved in litigation and is contingently liable for commitments and performance guarantees arising in the ordinary course of business. Customers have made claims arising from engineering and construction contracts against the Company, provisions for which are recorded in accordance with SFAS 5. The Company has also raised certain claims against customers for costs incurred in excess of the current contract provisions. In the normal course of business, the Company recorded claims against customers in accordance with the AICPA's Statement of Position No. 81-1, Accounting for Performance of Construction-Type and Certain Production-Type and Contracts.

Liquidated Damages

Many of the Company's contracts have certain milestone due dates that must be met or the Company may be subject to liquidated damages (LDs) if claims are asserted by the customer and the Company is determined to be responsible for the delays. These generally relate to specified activities within a project by a set contractual date or to a certain level of output or throughput of a plant constructed by the Company. Each contract defines the conditions under which a customer may make a claim for LDs.

Contingent Liabilities and Significant Provisions for Contract Losses

The Company and certain of its subsidiaries are involved in litigation in the ordinary course of business. The Company and certain of its subsidiaries are contingently liable for commitments and performance guarantees arising in the ordinary course of business. Clients have made claims arising from engineering and construction contracts against the Company, and the Company has made claims against clients for costs incurred in excess of the current contract provisions. Recognized claims against clients are included in costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts in the accompanying Combined Balance Sheets. Amounts ultimately realized from claims could differ materially from the balances included in the Combined Financial Statements.

Essar

In 1998, the Company entered into an engineering, procurement and project management contract with Essar Oil Ltd. (Essar) for a refinery in India with a contract value of $860,000. The project, which was subject to a reimbursable cost agreement, was approximately 60% complete and stalled until December 2004 due to complications encountered by the customer in obtaining additional necessary financing. As of December 31, 2003, the Company wrote off most of its investments in the Essar project. The losses for 2003 and prior years totaled $135,045. In December 2004, the Company sold its receivables and equipment for $74,000 to Simon Carves, Semcorp, of which $50,000 was paid in 2004, $12,000 after novation of open purchase orders in 2005 and the remaining $12,000 in 2006. In the years 2006, 2005 and 2004, profit of $13,242, $12,635 and $52,476, respectively, was recognized.

Lyondell

Lummus B.V. and Lyondell Chemie Nederland B.V. (Lyondell) entered into a contract for the engineering, procurement and construction of a styrene monomer/polyoxide plant in the Netherlands. The project experienced severe cost overruns in engineering and construction. As of December 31, 2003, the Company had recognized expected losses of $232,417, excluding $61,000 of potential LDs. In December 2003, the Company started an arbitration process, and filed claims of $26,900 for milestones achieved and $28,900 for earned undisputed incentives. The claims were refused by Lyondell who submitted a counterclaim of $12,800 for incomplete and remedial work and $61,000 of LDs. In December 2006, an agreement on a full and final settlement was reached between the Company and Lyondell, with the exception of one outstanding issue related to excessive noise. As a result of the settlement, the Company recorded additional provisions of $1,975 as of December 31, 2006 and claims and counterclaims were dropped. In 2006, 2005 and 2004, the Company recognized losses of $2,185, $10,663 and $10,541, respectively.

Khuff

The project is for the design, procurement and construction of a new offshore platform complex in Abu Dhabi for Abu Dhabi Marine Operating Company (majority shareholder is Abu Dhabi National Oil Company (ADNOC)). The project was awarded in July 2000 and was physically completed in 2005. The acceptance certificate, however, has not yet been signed.

The project was executed in partnership with National Petroleum Construction Company, (NPCC) which is 70% owned by ADNOC. The Company was responsible for the detailed engineering and NPCC was responsible for the construction in Abu Dhabi. The risks relating to the materials and equipment procurement were equally split between the Company and NPCC.

Certain change orders have not been signed by the client because the customer is waiting for budget approval from their principal shareholder, ADNOC. One unsigned change order relates to commissioning services but also includes the revision of the project schedule and the identification of new milestones. The Company has received $17,000 as an interim settlement relating to commissioning services following a memorandum of understanding, which the customer has not yet signed.

Prior to 2004, the Company incurred losses amounting to $26,361 on the project. In 2004 and 2005, losses totaling $13,926 and $1,492, respectively, were recognized. In 2006, a profit of $1,564 was recognized. As the acceptance certificate and change orders have not been signed by the client, the Company is subject to potential claims of the client. No provision has been made for any such claims, as management does not believe that a loss is probable as of December 31, 2006.

Rio Polimeros

Rio Polimeros S.A. (Rio Pol), is a special purpose company formed by Banco Nacional do Desenvolvimento Economico e Social Participacoes S.A. (Equity Investment Arm of Brazilian development bank Banco Nacional do Desenvolvimento Economico e Social (BNDES)) 16.7%, Suzano Petroquimicas S.A. 33.3%, Uniao de Industriais Petroquimicas 33.3%, and Petroleo Brasileiro S.A. 16.7% to build an ethylene and polyethylene complex in Brazil. The project is being financed by Export Credit Agencies of three countries: United States of America (Export-Import Bank of the United States, Italy (SACE S.p.A.) and Brazil (BNDES).

The project was executed by a joint venture consisting of Lummus and Snamprogetti S.p.A. (JV). Each joint venture partner was executing its respective engineering and procurement services portion on a lump sum basis, and the remaining scope on a 50/50 joint venture basis. The cost of equipment and materials is also shared on a 50/50 basis.

Project construction was negatively impacted by cost overruns associated with site conditions and labor issues, resulting in significant delays and late delivery penalties.

The JV filed claims with Rio Pol and Rio Pol filed claims against the JV for LDs and excessive flaring during prolonged start-up. The parties in early 2007 reached agreement on terms of a settlement. The agreement resulted in the Company recording an additional provision of $23,000 as of December 31, 2006 for its share of the settlement cost, bringing the Company's total loss on the project to $185,249 ($26,435 prior to 2004 and $29,000, $39,100 and $90,714 in 2004, 2005 and 2006, respectively). The settlement agreement is currently being finalized.

In conjunction with this project, the JV received notice that the Brazilian Department of Foreign Commerce declared that the exemption of import duties on equipment and materials for projects beneficial to the industrialization of the country (Law 8032) was, based in part on the advice of counsel, null and void with retroactive effect. The exposure to the JV is estimated at $100,000, including interest and penalties. The Company's share is 50%. Management does not believe that the JV will be held liable for the duty and, accordingly, no provision has been recorded.

Westlake

The Westlake refinery project in Louisiana experienced significant manpower shortages and labor cost increases after hurricanes Katrina and Rita in August and September 2005.

Recovery of the higher costs was not possible on this lump sum contract. The project was completed in the second quarter of 2007 with a project loss of $26,419 in 2006. The Company does not expect to incur additional costs on this project. Unapproved change orders for which revenue has not been recognized are currently being negotiated.

Other Project and Order Related Contingencies

Provisions for warranties pursuant to the contract are calculated based on historical claims experience and specific review of certain contracts.

The analysis of provisions for warranties, including guarantees of performance, is as follows:

	2006	December 31 2005	2004
Balance at beginning of year	$ 9,972	$ 18,782	$ 11,314
Increase (decrease) due to changes in estimates and progress payments	14,947	(3,629)	5,708
Claims paid in cash or in kind	(889)	(1,299)	(631)
Translation adjustments	2,251	(3,882)	2,391
Balance at end of year	$ 26,281	$ 9,972	$ 18,782

Environmental Liabilities

The Company is subject to environmental, legal and regulatory requirements related to its operations worldwide. In addition to the United States federal laws and regulations, states where the Company conducts business may have equivalent laws and regulations by which the Company must also abide. The Company takes an active approach in evaluating and addressing the environmental impact of its operations by assessing and remediating contaminations in order to avoid future liabilities and comply with legal and regulatory requirements. Costs related to these requirements have not been significant. Management does not expect that future costs will have a materially adverse impact on the Company's Combined Financial Statements.

Future Purchase Commitments

Future purchase commitments relate mainly to purchases from subcontractors and vendors for contracts with customers. Subcontracts and purchase orders are placed to support project specific material or subcontract needs and are not bought for stock or possible future requirements. Each underlying contract has a cancellation clause that requires the customer to reimburse material/subcontract costs incurred but not paid, including cancellation costs plus shutdown costs. The subcontract/vendor agreements have similar terms and conditions. It is unlikely that these costs will be incurred and, if incurred, they will be passed through to the customer. The Company believes the costs of these future obligations are not material.

Table of ContentsABB Lummus Global*Notes to Combined Financial Statements (Continued)Other

The Company is a party to various legal proceedings in the ordinary course of business that have not been fully adjudicated. The Company expenses the cost of legal fees related to these proceedings as incurred. It is not possible at this time for the Company to predict, with any degree of consistency, the outcome of such litigation. However, as stated above, management is of the opinion that it is unlikely that any liability to the extent not provided for through insurance or otherwise, would have a material adverse effect in relation to the Combined Financial Statements.

19. Income Taxes

The Lummus B.V. entities in the Netherlands operate under a fiscal unity arrangement for Dutch corporate tax purposes and file a corporate income tax return as if there is one taxpayer in the Netherlands. The U.S. entities file a consolidated federal income tax return with their U.S. parent company, ABB Holdings Inc. In the United Kingdom, the UK entities file their UK returns utilizing group relief, when available, with ABB Holdings Ltd. and its UK subsidiaries. In all other countries not noted above, the Company's legal entities file separate income tax returns.

The components of the income tax provision consist of the following:

	Year Ended December 31
	2006	2005	2004
Current:
Non-U.S.	$ 13,253	$ 12,421	$ 25,870
Total current tax provision	13,253	12,421	25,870
Deferred:
Non-U.S.	(8,615)	5,680	977
Total deferred tax (benefit) provision	(8,615)	5,680	977
Provision for income taxes	$ 4,638	$ 18,101	$ 26,847

In 2006, 2005 and 2004, the provision for income taxes differs from the income tax expense computed by applying the U.S. statutory tax rate to pretax book income principally due to the effect of change in the valuation allowance on deferred taxes and foreign tax rates different than the U.S. statutory tax rate. Foreign income taxes primarily consist of withholding taxes principally related to PT contracts.

The principal components of the deferred tax assets are net operating loss carryforwards and accrued liabilities, which are offset by a valuation allowance of $247,697, $270,168 and $269,135 for 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively. Deferred taxes are not recognized for temporary differences related to investments in foreign subsidiaries that are essentially permanent in duration. Determination of the amount of unrecognized deferred taxes related to these investments is not practicable. The Company has recognized deferred tax assets of $13,955, $10,204 and $10,130 and deferred tax liabilities of $7,250, $13,449 and $6,395 for 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

The U.S. entities and the Dutch entities both maintained valuation allowances on their deferred tax assets until 2006. In 2006, the Dutch entities reversed $5,000 of the valuation allowance. The release in the valuation allowance was the result of the Company's determination that in accordance with SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes, there was sufficient evidence that it is more likely than not that the resulting net deferred tax assets would be realized.

The Dutch fiscal unity has tax loss carryforwards of $367,023. These tax losses will expire if not utilized between 2011 and 2014.

The German entities have $71,839 in tax loss carryforwards that have no expiration date and can be carried forward indefinitely.

The Brazilian entities have loss carryforwards of $134,735 that have no expiration date and can be carried forward indefinitely.

The U.S. entities have approximately $188,243 in net operating loss carryforwards. The net operating loss carryforwards will expire if not utilized between 2007 and 2026. As of December 31, 2006, the U.S. entities have research and development carryforward credits of $2,958, which will expire between 2007 and 2026.

Utilization of losses in all jurisdictions may be limited by certain items such as local laws, and changes in control of the Company.

United States and foreign earnings before taxes are as follows:

	Year Ended December 31
	2006	2005	2004
United States	$ (51,450)	$ 9,084	$ (53,790)
Foreign	(23,885)	14,009	40,647
Total	$ (75,335)	$ 23,093	$ (13,143)

20. Employee Benefit Plans

The Company participates in several pension plans, including defined benefit, defined contribution and termination indemnity plans, in accordance with local regulations and practices. These plans cover the majority of the Company's employees and provide benefits to employees in the event of death, disability, retirement or termination of employment.

Some of these plans require employees to make contributions and enable employees to earn matching or other contributions from the Company. The funding policy of these plans is consistent with the local government and tax requirements. The Company has several pension plans which are not funded pursuant to local government and tax requirements.

U.S. ABB managed its pension plans on a consolidated basis and separate information for the Company is not readily available. Therefore, the Company's share of the U.S. ABB employee pension plans' assets and liabilities is not included in the Combined Balance Sheets. The Combined Statements of Operations include an allocation of the costs of the employee benefit plans. These costs were allocated based on the employee population for each period presented.

For employees principally in Germany and the Netherlands, and for the employees of certain entities in the United Kingdom, the Company also administers single employer defined benefit plans. Such benefit plans provide benefits primarily based on employee s years of service, age and salary. The cost and obligations from sponsoring defined benefit plans are determined on an actuarial basis using the projected unit credit cost method. This method reflects employees projected salaries. The Company has presented the benefit obligation amounts for its single-employer plans as of and for the years ended December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004 based on the most recent actuarial valuation for the respective fiscal period.

Net periodic benefit cost included in the Combined Statements of Operations is as follows:

	2006	2005	2004
Single employer defined benefit plans	$ 13,075	$ 12,807	$ 13,554
U.S. defined benefit plans allocated expense	5,716	7,166	10,045
Defined contribution plans expense	2,520	2,369	2,817
U.S. retiree health care expense	2,472	2,448	5,566
	$ 23,783	$ 24,790	$ 31,982

On December 31, 2006, the Company adopted the recognition and disclosure provisions of SFAS 158 for those plans which required the Company to recognize the funded status (the difference between the fair value of plan assets and the projected benefit obligations) of its pension plans and postretirement health care plans in the December 31, 2006 Combined Balance Sheet, with a corresponding adjustment to accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). The adjustment to accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) at adoption represents the net unrecognized actuarial (gains) losses, unrecognized prior service costs (credits), and unrecognized transition obligation remaining from the initial adoption of SFAS 87 and SFAS 106, all of which were previously netted against the plans' funded status in the Company's Combined Balance Sheet pursuant to the provisions of SFAS 87 and SFAS 106. These amounts will be subsequently recognized as net periodic cost pursuant to the Company's historical accounting policy for amortizing such amounts. Further, actuarial gains and losses that arise in subsequent periods and are not recognized as net periodic cost in the same periods will be recognized as a component of accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Those amounts will be subsequently recognized as a component of net periodic cost on the same basis as the amounts recognized in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) before adoption of SFAS 158.

The effects of adopting the provisions of SFAS 158 on the Company's Combined Balance Sheet as of December 31, 2006 are presented in the following table. The adoption of SFAS 158 had no effect on the Company's Combined Statements of Operations for the years ended December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004 and it will not affect the Company's operating results in future periods. Had the Company not been required to adopt SFAS 158 at December 31, 2006, it would have recognized an additional minimum liability pursuant to the provisions of SFAS 87. The effect of recognizing the additional minimum liability is included in the table below in the column labeled "Before Application of SFAS 158."

	December 31, 2006
	Before Application of SFAS 158	SFAS 158 Adjustments	After Application of SFAS 158
Prepaid/over funded pension	$ (37,854)	$ 35,092	$ (2,762)
Accrued/under funded pension liabilities	52,670	5,603	58,273

Other postretirement benefits	10,406	12,641	23,047
Accumulated other comprehensive loss	(9,056)	(53,336)	(62,392)

The Company also has defined contribution plans, a 401(k) retirement savings plan in the U.S., whereby the Company contribution is 50% of the employee contribution up to a maximum of 3% of employee compensation.

In addition, the Company provides healthcare and life insurance benefits for eligible U.S. employees, generally those with ten or more years of service who meet certain minimum age criteria. Significant plan provisions include flexible benefit coverage, retiree contributions and limitations on the Company's contribution. In general, retiree health benefits are paid as covered expenses are incurred.

The Company uses a December 31 measurement date for its plans.

Assumptions

The following weighted-average assumptions were used to determine benefit obligations at December 31, 2006:

	Pension Benefits
	2006	2005	2004
Discount rate	4.50%	4.25%	5.00%
Rate of compensation increase	4.00%	4.00%	2.50%

Discount rate	5.75%	5.50%	5.75%

The following weighted-average assumptions were used to determine net periodic benefit cost for the years ended December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004:

	Pension Benefits
	2006	2005	2004
Discount rate	4.25%	5.00%	5.50%
Expected long-term rate of return on plan assets	4.75%	5.00%	5.00%
Rate of compensation increase	4.00%	4.00%	2.75%

	Other Benefits
	2006	2005	2004
Discount rate	5.50%	5.75%	6.25%

The expected long-term rate of return on plan assets assumption is derived from the current asset allocation, the current and projected types of investment in each asset's category and the long-term historical and projected returns for each investment type.

Assumed health care cost trend rates for the next year used to measure the expected cost of benefits covered by the plans are as follows:

	2006	2005	2004
Health care cost trend rate assumed for next year	12.00%	10.38%	11.76%
Rate to which the cost trend rate is assumed to decline (the ultimate trend rate)	5.00%	6.02%	6.24%
Year that the rate reaches the ultimate trend rate	2014	2013	2013

Assumed health care trend rates have a significant effect on the amounts reported for the health care plans. A one percentage point change in assumed health care cost trend rates would have the following effects at December 31, 2006:

	1% Point Increase	1% Point Decrease
Effect on total of service and interest cost	$ 92	$ (81)
Effect on postretirement benefit obligation	1,675	(1,496)

Cash Flows

The Company expects to contribute $9,705 to its pension plan and $2,142 to its postretirement benefit plans in 2007.

The Company's defined contribution plan expense was $2,520, $2,369 and $2,317 in 2006, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

21. Related Party Transactions

ABB has a management incentive plan under which it offers certain employees of the Company warrant appreciation rights (WARs) for no consideration. Each WAR gives the participant the right to receive, in cash, the market price of a warrant on the date of exercise of the WAR. WARs are non-transferable. Participants may exercise WARs after the vesting period, which is three years from the date of grant. Vesting restrictions can be waived in certain circumstances such as death and disability. All WARs expire six years from the date of grant. During 2006, 2005 and 2004, the Company recognized cost of $634, $507 and $216, respectively, related to this plan. The cost of this incentive program was funded by the Parent and Parent Investment (Deficit) has been increased accordingly. Future operating results may reflect additional charges related to this program.

ABB sponsors an employee share acquisition plan (ESAP Plan) under which Company employees may acquire shares (American Depository Shares in the United States) through systematic savings. The ESAP Plan is an employee stock option plan with a savings feature. At the end of the savings period, the employees choose whether to exercise their stock option or have their savings returned with interest. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Company accounted for the ESAP Plan using the intrinsic value method of APB 25. As the option price was equal to the market value at date of grant, the Company did not record compensation expense related to the ESAP Plan. As of January 1, 2006, ABB adopted SFAS No. 123(R) and, accordingly, began recognizing share-based employee compensation cost as if the fair value based accounting method had been used to account for all employee awards granted, modified, or settled after January 1, 2006 and for any awards that were not fully vested as of January 1, 2006. During 2006, the Company recognized $154 of expense related to this plan. As this is an ABB share-based plan, Parent Investment (Deficit) has been increased accordingly.

The Company contracts with ABB and other affiliates for the purchase and sale of products and services in the normal course of business, for investing and financing assistance (see Note 2), and for employee coverage under ABB employee benefit plans (see Note 20). ABB also provides the Company with certain administrative services such as payroll, accounting, legal, tax, human resources, information technology, corporate oversight and telecommunications.

Both segments serve the downstream oil, gas and petrochemical industries through design and supply of production facilities, refineries and petrochemical plants. EPC revenues are generated by providing engineering, procurement and construction services and project management services. 1. Significant Accounting Policies

The accompanying interim combined financial statements present the historical financial position, results of operations and cash flows of ABB Lummus Global as conducted by ABB Lummus Global Inc. (Lummus), ABB Oil & Gas Europe B.V. (Lummus B.V.) and their respective subsidiaries (the Company) which both are indirectly owned by ABB Ltd. (ABB or the Parent). The Company's operations include on/near shore engineering, procurement, construction and technology operations and are part of ABB's Oil, Gas and Petrochemical business (OGP). All material intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated in combination.

The accompanying interim combined financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP), consistent in all material respects with those applied in the Company's annual financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2006. Interim financial reporting does not include all of the information and footnotes required by U.S. GAAP for complete financial statements. The interim financial information is unaudited, but reflects all adjustments (consisting of normal, recurring adjustments) that are, in the opinion of management, necessary to provide a fair statement of results for the interim periods presented. Operating results for the six months ended June 30, 2007 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending December 31, 2007. The financial information included herein should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and notes in the Company's annual financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2006, also included in this proxy statement.

Revenue Recognition, Contract Accounting and Provision for Losses

The Company recognizes engineering and construction contract revenues using the percentage-of-completion method. The Company principally uses the cost-to-cost method to measure progress towards completion on contracts. Long term contracts typically extend over a period of several months to 5 years.

Contract costs include all direct material and labor costs and those indirect costs related to contract performance, including estimates for performance risks and warranties. The Company's contracts occasionally allow customers to withhold a certain portion of the contract price until specific performance requirements are met.

Management expects the majority of related contracts will be completed and all of the billed amounts retained by the customer will be collected within one year of the balance sheet date.

Provisions for warranties are based on specific project evaluations. Anticipated project warranty costs are expensed in proportion to revenue recognized on the related contracts.

Bid costs are typically expensed, unless the costs are directly associated with a contract and have a future benefit, in which case they are capitalized as a cost of the contract when it is awarded.

Provisions for estimated losses on uncompleted contracts are made in the period in which such losses are determined. Changes in contract performance and estimated profitability, including those arising from contract penalty provisions and final contract settlements, may result in revisions to costs and income and are recognized in the period in which the revisions are determined. The Company recorded provisions for loss orders in cost of sales for the six months ended June 30, 2007 and 2006 in the amounts of $5,115 and $12,464, respectively.

(Unaudited)

Amounts in excess of the agreed contract price, including pending change orders and claims, are included in revenue only if it is probable that the claim will result in additional contract revenue and the amount can be reliably estimated. As of June 30, 2007 and 2006, amounts in excess of the agreed contract price of $702 and $66,313, respectively, are included in the Company's costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts in the Combined Balance Sheets. In addition, as of June 30, 2007 and 2006, claims of $178 and $0, respectively, are included in the Company's costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts on the combined balance sheets.

Profit incentives are included in income when their realization is reasonably assured. The Company recognized no profit incentives for the six months ended June 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively.

Selling, general and administrative expenses are charged to expense when incurred.

Translation of Foreign Currencies and Foreign Exchange Transactions

The functional currency for most of the Company's operations is the applicable local currency. The translation from the applicable functional currencies into the Company's reporting currency is performed for balance sheet accounts using exchange rates in effect at the balance sheet date, and for income statement accounts using average rates of exchange prevailing during the period. The resulting translation adjustments are excluded from the determination of earnings and are recognized in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) until the entity is sold or substantially liquidated.

Foreign currency exchange gains and losses, such as those resulting from foreign currency denominated receivables or payables, are included in the determination of earnings except as they relate to intercompany loans that are permanently invested, which are recognized in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Foreign currency exchange transaction losses were $946 and $583 for the six months ended June 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively, and are included in other income (expense), net in the interim combined statements of operations.

New Accounting Pronouncements

In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 157, Fair Value Measurements (SFAS 157). SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 does not require any new fair value measurements and eliminates inconsistencies in guidance found in various prior accounting pronouncements. The statement provides a single definition for fair value that is to be applied consistently for all accounting applications, and also generally describes and prioritizes according to reliability the methods and inputs used in valuations. SFAS 157 will be effective for the Company on January 1, 2008. The Company is currently evaluating and assessing the impact of adopting SFAS 157 on its combined financial statements.

In February 2007, the FASB issued Statement No. 159, The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities (SFAS 159). SFAS 159 allows entities to voluntarily choose, at specified election dates, to measure many financial assets (as well as certain non-financial instruments that are similar to financial instruments) at fair value (the fair value option). The election is made on an instrument-by-instrument basis and is irrevocable. If the fair value option is elected for an instrument, the statement specifies that all subsequent changes in fair value for that instrument shall be reported in earnings. The statement is effective as of the beginning of an entity's first fiscal year that begins after November 15, 2007. The Company is currently evaluating and assessing the impact of adopting SFAS 159 on its combined financial statements.

2. Asbestos Obligations

Lummus had been a co-defendant in a number of lawsuits claiming damages for personal injury resulting from exposure to asbestos. Lummus was included in the initial Pre-Packaged Plan of Reorganization for Combustion Engineering Inc. (CE), an affiliate company, which was filed on February 17, 2003. When confirmation of the initial CE Plan was reversed by the Court of Appeals in December 2004, it was determined that Lummus would file its own prepackaged plan of reorganization (the Lummus Plan).

The Lummus Plan was filed with the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Delaware (the Bankruptcy Court) on April 21, 2006. On June 29, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court issued its order confirming the Lummus Plan and recommended that the District Court affirm the Bankruptcy Court's Order. On August 30, 2006, the District Court's order affirming confirmation of the Lummus Plan became final and the Lummus Plan became effective on August 31, 2006 (the Lummus Plan Effective Date).

The Lummus Plan

The negotiations that led to the Lummus Plan were conducted with representatives of asbestos claimants with pending claims against Lummus and an individual selected by Lummus and later appointed by the Bankruptcy Court, to represent the interests of its future asbestos claimants (the Lummus FCR).

Under the terms of the Lummus Plan:

Lummus executed a 6% interest bearing note in the principal amount of $33,000 (the Lummus Note) payable to a trust created under the Lummus Plan (the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust). The Lummus Note is secured by a pledge of 51% of the capital stock of Lummus. Payments under the Lummus Note are guaranteed by ABB and ABB Holdings Inc. Until Lummus' obligations under the Lummus Note are satisfied, pre-Chapter 11 debt obligations between Lummus and other ABB entities are subordinated to the obligations under the ABB Note, and payments from Lummus to other ABB entities are restricted;

The Lummus Asbestos PI Trust will also be entitled to be paid the first $7,500 in aggregate recoveries from Lummus insurers with the first $5,000 guaranteed. On the Lummus Plan Effective Date $5,000, comprised of $1,640 of insurer funding and $3,360 of Lummus funding, was paid to the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust;

A channeling injunction pursuant to Section 524(g) of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code (the Lummus Channeling Injunction) was issued pursuant to which all asbestos related claims against Lummus and other ABB entities relating to the operations of Lummus are channeled to the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust; and

If ABB entities or Lummus are found by the Bankruptcy Court to have defaulted in their payment obligations under the Lummus Note, the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust may petition the Bankruptcy Court to terminate the Lummus Channeling Injunction and the protections afforded to Lummus and other ABB entities by that injunction.

	Six Months Ended June 30, 2007
Cash payments to:
Lummus Asbestos PI Trust	$ 27,600
Fees and costs	148
	$ 27,748
Asbestos obligations:
Other	1,185
	$ 1,185

On May 2, 2007, Lummus paid the outstanding balance of the note due to the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust of $27,600 plus accrued but unpaid interest thereon of $1,112. Security under the Lummus Note was released by the Lummus Asbestos PI Trust. Lummus is an obligor under the Combustion Engineering $204,000 Contribution Agreement (the Contribution Agreement) and, together with other ABB entities, is jointly and severally liable for the payment of the $204,000 owed thereunder. That obligation, generally, will become due upon the earlier of April 21, 2008 or a sale of Lummus or substantially all of its assets.

3. Commitments and ContingenciesGuarantees

All guarantees are accounted for in accordance with SFAS No. 5, Accounting for Contingencies (SFAS 5) and FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees; including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others (FIN 45). Provisions are recorded in the Combined Financial Statements at the time it becomes probable the Company will incur losses pursuant to a guarantee.

Guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2002 are accounted for in accordance with FIN 45. Upon issuance or modification of certain guarantees, a liability, equal to the fair value of the guarantee, is recorded.

Third Party Bank Guarantees, Standby Letters of Credit and Surety Bonds

In the ordinary course of business, the Company enters into various agreements providing financial or performance assurances to clients on behalf of certain unconsolidated partnerships, joint ventures and other jointly executed contracts. These agreements are entered into primarily to support the project execution commitments of these entities. The guarantees have various expiration dates ranging from mechanical completion of the facilities being constructed to a period extending beyond contract completion in certain circumstances. The maximum potential payment amount of an outstanding performance guarantee is the remaining cost of work to be performed by or on behalf of third parties under engineering and construction contracts. Amounts that may be required to be paid in excess of estimated cost to complete contracts in progress are not estimable. For cost reimbursable contracts, amounts that may become payable pursuant to guarantee provisions are normally recoverable from the client for work performed under the contract. For lump sum or fixed price contracts, this amount is the cost to complete the contracted work, less amounts remaining to be billed to the client under the contract. Remaining billable amounts could be greater or less than the cost to complete. In those cases where cost exceeds the remaining amounts payable under the contract, the Company may have recourse to third parties, such as owners, co-venturers, subcontractors or vendors for claims.

(Unaudited)

Bank guarantees, standby letters of credit and surety bonds are used by the Company primarily as project related bid, performance, advance payment and retention guarantees. In some instances, they are used for tax, customs and other miscellaneous reasons. Based on project contractual requirements, performance guarantees are generally required at or near the start of the project and extend through warranty periods or to final acceptance. Advance payment and retention guarantees are a means of improving cash flow by providing a guarantee for the receipt of cash. Advance payment and retention bonds generally offset each other. With a few exceptions, the guarantees are confirmed and unconditional, which allows the beneficiary to draw against them, with little or no notice and limited recourse, other than the courts after the fact.

The following table provides quantitative data regarding the Company's third-party bank guarantees, standby letters of credit and surety bonds as of June 30, 2007. The reported amount of the guarantees represents a maximum amount and does not reflect the Company's expected results. The guarantee values reported typically quantify the maximum contractual loss amount, irrespective of the percentage-of-completion of the projects. In addition, any counter guarantees given by joint venture partners are not netted against the maximum contractual loss amount. Consequently, the underlying commercial exposure could be substantially lower than the reported values.

Bank guarantees	$ 168,731
Letters of credit	101,257
Surety bonds	3,407
	$ 273,395

ABB Affiliate Guarantees

ABB affiliate guarantees are required by clients of the Company who, in support of a specific project, want a degree of assurance that in the event the Company is unable to perform the work for which it was contracted, they have a mechanism to enforce performance. This is exclusive of, and additional to, any other remedies that might be available under the contract and/or performance provided under the contract. ABB affiliate guarantees generally do not have a specific monetary value. Most ABB affiliate guarantees expire upon the fulfillment of all contractual obligations although some are date specific and generally coincide with the expiration of warranty periods or at final acceptance.

Contract Litigation

The Company is involved in litigation and is contingently liable for commitments and performance guarantees arising in the ordinary course of business. Customers have made claims arising from engineering and construction contracts against the Company, provisions for which are recognized in accordance with SFAS 5. The Company also has certain claims against customers for costs incurred in excess of the current contract provisions. In the normal course of business, the Company recorded claims against customers in accordance with the AICPA's Statement of Position No. 81-1, Accounting for Performance of Construction-Type and Certain Production-Type and Contracts.

Liquidated Damages

Many of the Company's contracts have certain milestone due dates that must be met or the Company may be subject to liquidated damages (LDs) if claims are asserted by the customer and the Company is determined to be responsible for the delays. These generally relate to specified activities within a project by a set contractual date or to a certain level of output or throughput of a plant constructed by the Company. Each contract defines the conditions under which a customer may make a claim for LDs.

Contingent Liabilities and Significant Provisions for Contract Losses

The Company and certain of its subsidiaries are involved in litigation in the ordinary course of business. The Company and certain of its subsidiaries are contingently liable for commitments and performance guarantees arising in the ordinary course of business. Clients have made claims arising from engineering and construction contracts against the Company, and the Company has made claims against clients for costs incurred in excess of the current contract provisions. Recognized claims against clients are included in costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts in the accompanying combined balance sheets. Amounts ultimately realized from claims could differ materially from the balances included in the combined financial statements.

Khuff

The project is for the design, procurement and construction of a new offshore platform complex in Abu Dhabi for Abu Dhabi Marine Operating Company (majority shareholder is Abu Dhabi National Oil Company (ADNOC)). The project was awarded in July 2000, and was physically completed in 2005. The acceptance certificate, however, has not yet been signed.

The project was executed in partnership with National Petroleum Construction Company, (NPCC) which is 70% owned by ADNOC. The Company was responsible for the detailed engineering and NPCC was responsible for the construction in Abu Dhabi. The risks relating to the materials and equipment procurement were equally split between the Company and NPCC.

Certain change orders have not been signed by the client because the customer is waiting for budget approval from their principal shareholder, ADNOC. One unsigned change order relates to commissioning services but also includes the revision of the project schedule and the identification of new milestones. The Company has received $17,000 as an interim settlement relating to commissioning services following a memorandum of understanding, which the customer has not yet signed.

In the six months ended June 30, 2006, profit of $1,564 was recognized. As the acceptance certificate and change orders have not been signed by the client, the Company is subject to potential claims of the client. No provision has been made for any such claims, as management does not believe that a loss is probable as of June 30, 2007.

Rio Polimeros

Rio Polimeros S.A. (Rio Pol), is a special purpose company formed by Banco Nacional do Desenvolvimento Economico e Social Participacoes S.A. (Equity Investment Arm of Brazilian development bank Banco Nacional do Desenvolvimento Economico e Social (BNDES)), 16.7%, Suzano Petroquimicas S.A., 33.3%, Uniao de Industriais Petroquimicas, 33.3%, and Petroleo Brasileiro S.A., 16.7%, to build an ethylene and polyethylene complex in Brazil. The project is being financed by export credit agencies of three countries: United States of America (Export-Import Bank of the United States, Italy (SACE S.p.A.) and Brazil (BNDES).

The project was executed by a joint venture consisting of Lummus and Snamprogetti S.p.A. (JV). Each joint venture partner was executing its respective engineering and procurement services portion on a lump sum basis, and the remaining scope on a 50/50 joint venture basis. The cost of equipment and materials is also shared on a 50/50 basis.

Project construction was negatively impacted by cost overruns associated with site conditions and labor issues, resulting in significant delays and late delivery penalties.

(Unaudited)

The JV filed claims with Rio Pol and Rio Pol filed claims against the JV for LDs and excessive flaring during prolonged start-up. The parties in early 2007 reached agreement on terms of a settlement. The agreement resulted in the Company recording an additional provision of $23,000 as of December 31, 2006 for its share of the settlement cost. The settlement agreement was finalized in July 2007.

In conjunction with this project, the JV received notice that the Brazilian Department of Foreign Commerce declared that the exemption of import duties on equipment and materials for projects beneficial to the industrialization of the country (Law 8032) was, based in part on the advice of counsel, null and void with retroactive effect. The exposure to the JV is estimated at $100,000, including interest and penalties. The Company's share is 50%. Management does not believe that the JV will be held liable for the duty and, accordingly, no provision has been recorded.

Westlake

The Westlake refinery project in Louisiana experienced significant manpower shortages and labor cost increases after hurricanes Katrina and Rita in August and September 2005.

Recovery of the higher costs was not possible on this lump sum contract. The project was completed in the second quarter of 2007 with a project loss of $26,419 recognized in 2006. On September 6, 2007, a settlement agreement was reached with PCI, the original construction subcontractor. As a result of the settlement, the Company recognized $3,200 as an additional expense in the period ending June 30, 2007. Unapproved change orders for which revenue has not been recognized are currently being negotiated.

Other Project and Order Related Contingencies

Provisions for warranties pursuant to the contract are calculated based on historical claims experience and specific review of certain contracts.

Environmental Liabilities

The Company is subject to environmental, legal and regulatory requirements related to its operations worldwide. In addition to the United States federal laws and regulations, states where the Company conducts business may have equivalent laws and regulations by which the Company must also abide. The Company takes an active approach in evaluating and addressing the environmental impact of its operations by assessing and remediating contaminations in order to avoid future liabilities and comply with legal and regulatory requirements. Costs related to these requirements have not been significant. Management does not expect that future costs will have a materially adverse impact on the company's combined financial statements.

Future Purchase Commitments

Future purchase commitments relate mainly to purchases from subcontractors and vendors for contracts with customers. Subcontracts and purchase orders are placed to support project specific material or subcontract needs and are not bought for stock or possible future requirements. Each underlying contract has a cancellation clause that requires the customer to reimburse material/subcontract costs incurred but not paid, including cancellation costs plus shutdown costs. The subcontract/vendor agreements have similar terms and conditions.

(Unaudited)

It is unlikely that these costs will be incurred and, if incurred, they will be passed through to the customer. The Company believes the costs of these future obligations are not material.

Other

The Company is a party to various legal proceedings in the ordinary course of business that have not been fully adjudicated. The Company expenses the cost of legal fees related to these proceedings as incurred. It is not possible at this time for the Company to predict, with any degree of consistency, the outcome of such litigation. However, as stated above, management is of the opinion that it is unlikely that any liability to the extent not provided for through insurance or otherwise, would have a material adverse effect in relation to the combined financial statements.

4. Income Taxes

The Company recorded an income tax provision of $8,240 and $1,912 for the six months ended June 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively. The income tax provisions in 2007 and 2006 primarily represent foreign withholding taxes. The difference between the U.S. statutory tax rate and the estimated effective tax rate in 2007 and 2006 was primarily related to the change in the valuation allowance on deferred taxes and foreign tax rates different than the U.S. statutory tax rate.

In 2006, FASB issued FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes an Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes (FIN 48). FIN 48 addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under FIN 48, the Company may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by the taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position should be measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than fifty percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. FIN 48 also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties on income taxes, accounting in interim periods and requires increased disclosures.

The Company adopted the provisions of FIN 48 effective January 1, 2007 and there was no impact to the Company's combined financial statements.

The tax contingencies as of June 2007 amount to approximately $1,200.

The principal components of the deferred tax assets are net operating loss carryforwards and accrued liabilities.

The U.S. entities and the Dutch entities both maintained valuation allowances on their deferred tax assets. There were no material changes in the amount of net deferred tax assets as of June 30, 2007.

Tax years subject to audit are:

USA

2004 - present

Germany	2002 - present
Netherlands	1999 - present

Utilization of losses in all jurisdictions may be limited by certain items such as local laws and changes in control of the Company.

The Dutch fiscal unity has tax loss carry forwards of approximately $340,000. These tax losses will expire if not utilized between 2011 and 2014.

(Unaudited)

The German entities have approximately $69,000 in tax loss carry forwards that have no expiration and can be carried forward indefinitely.

The U.S. entities have approximately $329,000 in net operating loss carry forwards. The net operating loss carry forwards will expire if not utilized between 2007 and 2026. As of December 31, 2006, the U.S. entities have research and development carry-forward credits of $2,900, which will expire between 2007 and 2026.

During the six months ended June 30, 2007, the Company recorded approximately $140,000 of additional net operating losses primarily related to a worthless stock deduction associated with its Brazilian entity.

5. Employee Benefit Plans

The following table provides contribution information for our defined benefit plans as of June 30, 2007:

6. Segment, Geographical and Customer Concentration

The Company's operations consist of two segments, Engineering, Procurement and Construction (EPC) and Process Technology (PT). Both segments serve the downstream oil, gas and petrochemical industries through design and supply of production facilities, refineries and petrochemical plants. EPC revenues are generated by providing engineering, procurement and construction services and project management services. PT generates revenues by providing engineering services and technology licensing.

Intersegment revenues that have been eliminated for the six months ended June 30, 2007 and 2006 were approximately $13,021 and $20,055, respectively.

On May 16, 2007, the Company agreed to acquire the remaining interest in Novolen Technology Holdings CV (Novolen) from Equistar Polypropylene LLC, which represented an incremental 17.73% interest in Novolen in the amount of $15,386. The purchase price was $8,114 of cash plus novation of a note obligation from Equistar to ABB Oil and Gas Europe BV in the amount of $3,507. The difference between the purchase price and the carrying value of the increased interest in Novolen was recorded as a reduction of goodwill.

Equistar made a strategic decision to exit the polypropylene business as it did not want to participate in the relocation of Novolen to Germany.

Novolen financial results are fully combined into the results of the interim financial statements of ABB Lummus Global.

8. Subsequent Events

On August 27, 2007, ABB has entered into a definitive agreement with a third party to sell the Company. The acquisition is expected to close in the fourth quarter of 2007, pending the third party shareholders' and customary regulatory approvals.

4.2 Endeavours to Fulfil Regulatory Condition

4.2.1 Each of the Parties shall take all reasonable steps necessary to ensure that the Regulatory Condition is fulfilled as promptly as practicable, and in any event prior to the Long-Stop Date.

4.2.2 In particular, each Party acknowledges and agrees that it shall, at its own cost:

(a) as promptly as practicable, but in no event later than the tenth (10th) Business Day following the date of this Agreement, take all actions necessary to make or file, or cause to be made or filed, all submissions, notifications or filings required to be made or filed by it or any of its Affiliates in connection with the Transactions to or with those Competition Authorities having jurisdiction under the Competition Laws referred to in Schedule 3 (Regulatory Condition);

(c) consult and cooperate with the other Party, and consider in good faith the views of the other Party, in connection with any analyses, appearances, presentations, memoranda, briefs, arguments, opinions and proposals made or submitted by or on behalf of it or any of its Affiliates to any such Competition Authority in connection with the Transactions;

(d) promptly notify the other Party of any written communication made to or received by it from any such Competition Authority in connection with the Transactions; and

(e) subject to Applicable Law and to the extent reasonably practicable:

(i) permit the other Party to review in advance any proposed written communication to any such Competition Authority and incorporate the other Party's reasonable comments; and provided that the Purchasers shall be responsible for the payment of all filing or similar fees required by any relevant Competition Authority for the purposes of securing satisfaction of the Regulatory Condition.

4.2.3 The Purchasers shall not, and shall cause their Affiliates not to, acquire or agree to acquire (directly or indirectly and whether by merger, consolidation, purchase or otherwise) any business, any corporation, company, partnership, association or other business organisation or division thereof or any assets if the entering into of a definitive agreement relating to, or the consummation of, such transaction or arrangement would reasonably be expected to result in any delay in the Regulatory Condition being satisfied, or increase the risk of the Regulatory Condition not being satisfied prior to the Long-Stop Date.

4.2.4 The Purchasers shall take all actions requested by any Competition Authority, or as necessary to resolve any objections that may be asserted by any Competition Authority, with respect to this Agreement or the Transactions. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Purchasers shall:

(a) at the Purchasers' sole cost, comply with all restrictions and conditions, if any, imposed by any Competition Authority as a requirement for granting any necessary clearance or terminating any applicable waiting period in connection with the Transactions, including agreeing to sell, divest, hold separate, license, cause a third party to acquire, or otherwise dispose of, any subsidiary, operations, businesses or assets of the Purchasers or any of their Affiliates, or of any Acquired Company, contemporaneously with or after Completion and regardless as to whether a third party purchaser has been identified or approved prior to Completion (a Divestiture) and entering into any Order or other agreement to effectuate any of the foregoing;

(b) terminate any Contract or other business relationship as may be required to obtain any necessary clearance of any Competition Authority or to obtain termination of any applicable waiting period under any Competition Laws;

(c) not extend any waiting period or enter into any agreement or understanding with any Competition Authority, except with the prior written consent of the Sellers; and

(d) oppose fully and vigorously any Action, including appealing properly any adverse decision or order by any Competition Authority, or, if requested by the Sellers, commence or threaten to commence and pursue vigorously any Action reasonably believed to be helpful in obtaining authorisation from Competition Authorities or in terminating any outstanding Action, it being understood that the costs and expenses of all such Actions (including the costs and legal fees of the Sellers) shall be borne by the Purchasers.

4.2.5 In furtherance of the foregoing, the Purchasers shall negotiate in good faith with all Competition Authorities and all third parties in connection with a Divestiture or any other matter referred to in Clause 4.2.4 with a view to entering into definitive agreements with all such Persons within sixty (60) days of receipt by the Purchasers of any request for additional documents and information or the commencement of a second-phase investigation by any Competition Authority.

4.2.6 Notwithstanding anything in this Clause 4.2 to the contrary, the Purchasers shall not be obliged to take any step which would be materially to the detriment of the CB&I Group or the Acquired Group (in either case taken as a whole), and in particular shall not be obliged to make any Divestiture if such Divestiture concerns assets, subsidiaries or businesses of the Acquired Group that, in the most recently completed fiscal year, had sales that, when combined with the sales in such fiscal year of all other assets, subsidiaries or businesses of the Acquired Group the subject of a Divestiture, exceeded one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000).

4.3 Endeavours to Fulfil Shareholder Approval Condition

4.3.1 CB&I shall, at its own cost, use all reasonable endeavours to procure the satisfaction of the Shareholder Approval Condition as promptly as practicable following the date of this Agreement (allowing for any restrictions on the dissemination of information imposed by any Competition Authority, should such be the case).

Table of Contents

4.3.2 If the Shareholder Approval Condition has not been satisfied on or prior to the Long-Stop Date, CB&I shall pay to the Sellers a break fee (the Break Fee) of twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000). The Break Fee shall be paid in full by telegraphic transfer in immediately available cleared funds to the account nominated by the Sellers to CB&I within three (3) Business Days of the failure by CB&I to satisfy the Shareholder Approval Condition.

4.3.3 The Parties agree that the Break Fee is a genuine pre-estimate of the loss and damage (including the fees, costs and expenses incurred by the Sellers in respect of this Agreement) which would be suffered by the Sellers in connection with the termination of this Agreement.

4.3.4 The Sellers undertake to provide to CB&I, in a timely manner, all such information and assistance as CB&I may reasonably require for the purposes of enabling CB&I to prepare and file proxy statements and otherwise to enable CB&I to fulfil its obligations under this Clause 4.3; provided that neither the Sellers nor any member of the ABB Group shall be liable for any liability suffered or any damage, cost or expense incurred by CB&I in connection with such proxy statement or in respect of any information or assistance provided by the Sellers in accordance with this Clause 4.3.4. CB&I shall bear the reasonable costs of Ernst & Young for this purpose.

4.4 Obligation to Fulfil Asbestos Condition

ABB undertakes to CB&I that it will procure that the Asbestos Condition is satisfied by no later than the third (3rd) Business Day following the satisfaction of the Regulatory Condition and the Shareholder Approval Condition.

4.5 Termination

4.5.1 If Completion has not occurred by 5:00 p.m. (London time) on 28 February 2008 or, if notice is served in accordance with Clause 5.1 after 31 January 2008, by 5:00 p.m. (London time) on 31 March 2008 (the Long-Stop Date), either Party may, in its sole discretion, at any time thereafter, terminate this Agreement (other than the Surviving Provisions) by giving written notice to that effect to the other Party, upon receipt of which this Agreement (other than the Surviving Provisions) shall terminate. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the right to terminate this Agreement under this Clause 4.5.1 shall not be available to any Party whose failure to perform any of its obligations under this Agreement has been the cause of, or resulted in, the failure of Completion to occur on or before the Long-Stop Date.

4.5.2 In the event that this Agreement is terminated in accordance with Clause 4.5.1, neither Party shall have any claim under this Agreement of any nature whatsoever against the other Party (except in respect of any rights and liabilities which have accrued before termination in relation to antecedent breaches and except in relation to any of the Surviving Provisions).

5. TERMINATION RIGHT

5.1 If at any time after the date of this Agreement and prior to Completion the Purchasers (or either of them) become aware of any breach(es) of the Sellers Warranties and/or any breach(es) by the Sellers of their obligations under Clause 6.2 such that, if Completion were to have occurred, the Purchasers (or either of them) would have been entitled to recover from the Sellers, by way of damages for breach of the Sellers Warranties and/or Clause 6.2 (as applicable), an amount in excess of fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) (ignoring for this purpose the effect of paragraph 3.1 of Schedule 7 (The Sellers Limitations of Liability)), then the Purchasers may, by notice in writing to the Sellers, inform the Sellers of such breach(es), specifying in reasonable detail the alleged breach(es), including the amount(s) of the claim(s) arising from such breach(es).

5.2 Upon receipt of notice in accordance with Clause 5.1, the Sellers shall have fifteen (15) Business Days to rectify the breach(es) specified in such notice. If the Sellers fail to rectify such breach(es) to the reasonable satisfaction of the Purchasers within such period, or if rectification of a breach is not possible, then the Sellers may, in their sole discretion, elect:

(a) in the case of each claim for breach of Clause 6.2 specified in such notice, to waive the provisions of paragraph 3.1 of Schedule 7 (The Sellers' Limitations of Liability) such that such paragraph 3.1 shall be read as if to exclude such claim from the fifty million dollar ($50,000,000) limitation of liability referred to therein; and

(b) in the case of claims for breach of any of the Sellers' Warranties specified in such notice:

(i) if the aggregate amount of all such claims, when substantiated, equals or exceeds forty million dollars ($40,000,000), that the maximum aggregate liability of the Sellers set out in paragraph 3.1 of Schedule 7 (The Sellers' Limitations of Liability) shall be equal to the aggregate amount of all such claims when substantiated plus ten million dollars ($10,000,000); or

(ii) if the aggregate amount of all such claims, when substantiated, is less than forty million dollars ($40,000,000), that the maximum aggregate liability of the Sellers set out in paragraph 3.1 of Schedule 7 (The Sellers' Limitations of Liability) shall be fifty million dollars ($50,000,000), provided that, for the avoidance of doubt, any such election must be made in respect of all claims notified under Clause 5.1, and not just some only.

5.3 For the avoidance of doubt, the Purchasers shall be permitted to update any notice served under Clause 5.1 to include details of any further breach(es) of the Sellers' Warranties and/or by the Sellers of their obligations under Clause 6.2, and the provisions of Clause 5.2 shall apply in relation to the original (or previously updated) notice as so updated, save that the fifteen (15) days shall run from the date of the updated notice, rather than from the date of the original (or previously updated) notice.

5.4 If the Sellers do not make an election in accordance with Clause 5.2 within twenty (20) Business Days of receipt of notice in accordance with Clause 5.1, the Purchasers shall not be obliged to complete the purchase of the Shares, and shall have the right to terminate this Agreement by giving notice in writing to the Sellers by not later than twenty five (25) Business Days after service of notice in accordance with Clause 5.1.

5.5 In the event that this Agreement is terminated in accordance with Clause 5.4, neither Party shall have any claim under this Agreement of any nature whatsoever against the other Party (except in respect of any rights and liabilities which have accrued before termination in relation to antecedent breaches and except in relation to any of the Surviving Provisions).

6. CERTAIN PRE-COMPLETION UNDERTAKINGS

6.1.1 From the date hereof to Completion, the Sellers shall cause each Acquired Company to afford to the Purchasers and the Bidder Representatives such reasonable access as they may from time to time request, during normal business hours and in a manner that is not likely to be disruptive to the operations of such Acquired Company, to such Acquired Company's personnel, properties, books and records for the purposes of facilitating an orderly transition of the ownership of the Acquired Group after Completion; provided that no Seller or Acquired Company shall be required to provide any information or access that such Person believes could violate Applicable Law, including Competition Laws, or the terms of any confidentiality agreement or confidentiality provision in any Contract or adversely impact any privilege, including legal professional privilege.

6.1.2 All information received by, or made available to, the Purchasers, their Affiliates and the Bidder Representatives under this Clause 6.1 or otherwise pursuant to this Agreement will be held by the Purchasers, their Affiliates and the Bidder Representatives as Evaluation Material, as defined in, and pursuant to the terms of, the Confidentiality

6.1.3 It is expressly understood and agreed that, without the prior written consent of the Sellers which consent may be granted or withheld in the Sellers sole and absolute discretion, nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to grant the Purchasers, any of their Affiliates or any Bidder Representative the right to perform any Phase I, Phase II or other environmental testing on any of the properties of any Acquired Company prior to Completion.

11.1.2 For so long as any member of the ABB Group remains obliged in relation to any such Parent Guarantee or Third-Party Guarantee, CB&I shall:

If a Purchaser desires access to, and utilisation of, claims data or information maintained by an insurance company or other third party in respect of any claim, the Purchaser shall be exclusively responsible for acquiring from such insurance company or third party, at the Purchasers' sole cost and expense, the rights necessary to permit it to obtain access to, and utilisation of, such claims data or information, provided always that the Sellers shall, at the Purchasers' cost, provide the Purchasers with all reasonable assistance in this regard.

11.6 ABB Intellectual Property

11.6.1 The Purchasers shall not, and shall cause their Affiliates (including, after Completion, the Acquired Companies) not to, register, or attempt to register, or use, directly or indirectly, in any fashion whatsoever any trademark, service mark, domain name, trade name or other indicia of origin that includes, is identical to or is confusingly similar to, any of the trademarks, service marks, Internet domain names, trade names or other indicia of origin (including the words ABB , BBC , Asea or Boveri or any derivatives thereof) known by, or made known to, an Acquired Company to be owned as of the Completion Date by any member of the ABB Group (collectively, ABB Marks), nor shall any of them challenge or assist any third Person in opposing the rights of any member of the ABB Group anywhere in the world in and to any ABB Mark.

11.6.2 Any provisions contained in any Contracts between any member of the ABB Group, on the one hand, and any Acquired Company, on the other hand, relating to the use of any ABB Mark or anything confusingly similar thereto, including all name protection and license agreements, shall immediately and automatically terminate as of the Completion Date.

11.6.3 Without limiting the generality of Clause 11.6.1, the Purchasers shall:

(b) ensure that, as soon as practicable (but in no event more than sixty (60) days following the Completion Date), any hypertext links to Internet web sites operated by any member of the ABB Group and any other use of any ABB Mark are removed from any Internet web sites operated by any Acquired Company; provided, however, that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Purchasers shall ensure such removal on or before the fifth (5th) day after it or any Acquired Company becomes aware of such links or use; and

(c) procure that, as soon as practicable (but in no event more than one hundred and twenty (120) days following the Completion Date), the Acquired Companies take all action necessary to remove all references to any of the ABB Marks from their respective corporate name, including by way of amending the entry in the relevant companies register.

11.7 Derivatives Contracts

11.7.1 At Completion, the Sellers shall cause the early termination of all Derivatives Contracts set out in any list provided to the Purchasers pursuant to Clause 7.2.2(b) (such date of termination, the Early Termination Date).

11.7.2 On the Early Termination Date or, if the Parties agree that there is material market disruption on such Early Termination Date in respect of any Derivatives Contract, such other date as the Parties may agree in good faith (and, where applicable, all references in this Clause 11.7 to the Early Termination Date in respect of those Derivatives Contracts shall be deemed to refer to such other date), the Sellers shall calculate the fair market value in dollars of each Derivatives Contract to the relevant Acquired Company to be terminated based on the rate which appears on the Reuters Screen FXBLFIX01 at 11:00 a.m. (London time) on the Early Termination Date. On the Business Day following an Early Termination Date, the Sellers shall deliver to the Purchasers a statement setting forth the amounts so determined in accordance with this Clause 11.7.2 (a Settlement Statement).

11.7.3 The fair market values in dollars of the Derivatives Contracts finally determined in accordance with Clause 11.7.2 shall be added and netted for each Early Termination Date, and the resulting figure shall be the Net Early Termination Amount. For the purposes of this Clause 11.7.3, any payment to be made pursuant to the early termination of any Derivatives Contract: (i) to any Acquired Company shall be categorised as positive; and (ii) to any member of the ABB Group shall be categorised as negative. If the Net Early Termination Amount is negative, the Purchasers shall pay, or cause to be paid, to the Sellers, by telegraphic transfer of immediately available cleared funds, an amount equal to the Net Early Termination Amount. If the Net Early Termination Amount is positive, the Sellers shall pay, or cause to be paid, to the Purchasers, by telegraphic transfer of immediately available cleared funds, an amount equal to the Net Early Termination Amount. The Net Early Termination Amount shall be payable by the applicable Party on or prior to the fifth (5th) Business Day following receipt of the Settlement Statement by the Purchasers.

11.8 Conflicts; Privileges

11.8.1 It is acknowledged by each of the Parties that the Sellers have retained White & Case LLP (W&C) to act as their counsel in connection with the Transactions and that W&C has not acted as counsel for any other Person in connection with the Transactions and that no other Party or Person has the status of a client of W&C for conflict of interest or any other purposes as a result thereof. The Purchasers hereby agree that, in the event that a dispute arises between the Purchasers or any of their Affiliates (including, after Completion, the Acquired Companies) and any member of the ABB Group, W&C may represent such member of the ABB Group in such dispute even though the interests of such member of the ABB Group may be directly adverse to the Purchasers or any of their Affiliates (including, after Completion, the Acquired Companies), and even though W&C may have represented an Acquired Company in a matter substantially related to such dispute, or may be handling ongoing matters for the Purchasers or an Acquired Company, and the Purchasers hereby waive, on behalf of themselves, the Acquired Companies and each of their respective Affiliates, any conflict of interest in connection with such representation by W&C. The Purchasers further agree that, as to all communications among W&C, the Acquired Companies and the Sellers that relate in any way to the Transactions, the legal professional privilege, the expectation of client confidence and all other 11.8.2 The Sellers and the Purchasers agree to take, and to cause their respective Affiliates to take, all steps necessary to implement the intent of this Clause 11.8.

11.9 Confidentiality

11.9.1 Except as provided in Clauses 11.9.3 and 15.1, ABB shall, and shall procure that its Affiliates will, treat as confidential the provisions of this Agreement and all confidential information:

- (a) they possess relating to the Acquired Group; or 11.9.2 Except as provided in Clauses 11.9.3 and 15.1, CB&I shall, and shall procure that its Affiliates will, treat as confidential the provisions of this Agreement and all confidential information they have received or obtained relating to ABB and its Affiliates as a result of negotiating or entering into this Agreement.

11.9.3 A Party may disclose, or permit the disclosure of, information which would otherwise be confidential if and to the extent:

- (a) required by Applicable Law or any securities exchange, or required by any Governmental Entity;
- (b) disclosed to its professional advisers (provided that such persons are required to treat such information as confidential);
- (c) disclosed to its bankers or other financiers or credit providers (or prospective bankers or other financiers or credit providers) (provided that such persons are required to treat such information as confidential); or
- (d) it comes into the public domain other than as a result of a breach by a Party of this Clause 11.9;

provided that, in the case of (a) above, prior written notice of any confidential information to be disclosed pursuant to this Clause 11.9 shall, to the extent permitted by Applicable Law, be given to the other Party.

11.9.4 The confidentiality restrictions in this Clause 11.9 shall continue to apply after the termination of this Agreement pursuant to Clause 4.5, 5 or 7.5 without limitation in time.

11.9.5 Subject always to the provisions of Clause 11.9.1, the Sellers shall have the right to retain copies of all documents delivered or made available to the Purchasers in connection with the Transactions, including the Due Diligence Materials, for the purpose of defending any claim against the Sellers under this Agreement or enforcing their rights hereunder (including making any claims or counterclaims against third parties pursuant to paragraph 15 of Schedule 7 (The Sellers Limitations of Liability)).

11.10 Protection of Goodwill

11.10.1 ABB hereby undertakes to procure that (except as otherwise agreed in writing with the Purchasers) no member of the ABB Group will, either directly or indirectly, and either solely or jointly with any other person (either on its own account or as the agent of any other person) and in any capacity whatsoever:

(a) for a period of two (2) years from Completion, carry on, be engaged in or have an equity interest in any business which, directly or indirectly, competes with the Business (except, in each case, as the holder of shares in a listed company which confer not more than five per cent. (5%) of the votes which can generally be cast at a general meeting of the company);

(b) for a period of two (2) years from Completion, induce, solicit or endeavour to entice to leave the service or employment of any Acquired Company any person who at Completion was an employee of

provided that nothing in this paragraph (b) shall prohibit any member of the ABB Group from posting a general public advertisement for employment or employing any person who responds to such advertisement; and

(c) following Completion, use the name Lummus or any other name intended or likely to be confused with any such name.

11.10.2 Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, the restrictions in Clause 11.10.1 shall not prohibit any member of the ABB Group from carrying on or engaging in any of the following activities that would, but for this Clause 11.10.2 be restricted under Clause 11.10.1:

11.10.3 The Sellers agree that the undertakings contained in Clause 11.10.1 are reasonable and are entered into for the purpose of protecting the goodwill of the Business.

11.10.4 Each undertaking contained in Clause 11.10.1 is and shall be construed as separate and severable and if one or more of the undertakings is held to be against the public interest or unlawful or in any way an unreasonable restraint of trade or unenforceable in whole or in part for any reason the remaining undertakings or parts thereof, as appropriate, shall continue to bind the Sellers.

11.10.5 If any undertaking contained in Clause 11.10.1 shall be held to be void but would be valid if deleted in part or reduced in application, such undertaking shall apply with such deletion or modification as may be necessary to make it valid and enforceable. Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, in such circumstances, any relevant period of time (as the same may previously have been reduced by virtue of this Clause 11.10.5) shall take effect as if reduced by successive six month periods until the resulting period shall be valid and enforceable.

14. COST-SHARING

14.1 Bloomfield

14.1.1 As soon as reasonably practicable following Completion, the US Purchaser and the US Seller (or such other Persons on their behalf as they may reasonably nominate) will discuss in good faith and agree a course of action as regards approaching the relevant governmental authority in New Jersey (the NJ Authority) with a view to agreeing, with the NJ Authority, the appropriate course of action to be adopted to monitor and/or remediate the environmental issues identified in the Sellers Disclosure Letter at the site located at Bloomfield, New Jersey (the Environmental Issues) (the Remediation Plan). If the Parties are unable to agree on a course of action as regards such approach to the NJ Authority (after having endeavoured to do so for a period of at least twenty (20) Business Days), either Party may unilaterally make the approach.

14.1.2 Following receipt of the determination by the NJ Authority in relation to the Remediation Plan, the US Purchaser shall provide to the US Seller details (procured from a suitably qualified firm of environmental experts) as to the steps necessary, in the opinion of such firm, to be adopted to implement the Remediation Plan and as to the costs thereof. If such costs are less than the balance of the provision included in relation thereto in the management accounts referred to at paragraph 5 of Schedule 5 (The Sellers Warranties) (the Provision) (after allowing for any expenditure incurred by the Acquired Group since 30 June 2007) (the Balance), then the US Seller shall have no further obligation under this Clause 14.1.

14.1.3 If such costs exceed the Balance, the US Seller may seek from a firm of suitably qualified environmental experts a second quotation as to the steps necessary to be adopted to implement the Remediation Plan and the costs thereof.

14.1.4 If the US Seller elects to obtain such a quotation and provides details of such quotation to the US Purchaser, the Parties shall proceed to instruct the firm providing the lower quote for the work required under the Remediation Plan. If the US Seller does not obtain such a quote and deliver the same to the US Purchaser within six (6) weeks of the receipt by the US Seller of the quotation provided by the US Purchaser, the US Purchaser may proceed to follow the steps (with the attendant costs) originally proposed by it.

14.1.5 In either case, to the extent that the costs incurred as envisaged pursuant to Clause 14.1.4 exceed the Balance, the US Purchaser and the US Seller shall bear the same as to fifty per cent. (50%) each.

14.1.6 Save with the prior written consent of the US Purchaser (such consent not to be unreasonably withheld or delayed), pending Completion the US Seller shall procure that the Acquired Group does not incur any (further) expenditure in connection with the Environmental Issues, unless the Remediation Plan is issued by the NJ Authority prior to Completion, in which event the above provisions of this Clause 14.1 as regards costs and the sharing thereof shall apply mutatis mutandis.

14.1.7 Each of the US Purchaser and the US Seller undertakes to the other to act in good faith in connection with the implementation of the provisions of this Clause 14.1.

14.2 Westlake Contract

14.2.1 If the aggregate amount paid by the relevant Acquired Company under, and in accordance with the terms of, the engineering, procurement, construction and construction management contract dated 23 March 2005 between WPT LP and the US Seller in relation to the Westlake Petro 2 Feed Flexibility Project ISBL at Calcasieu Parish, Louisiana, as amended from time to time up to Completion (the Westlake Contract) exceeds by more than five million dollars ($5,000,000) the aggregate amount received by such Acquired Company under, or in relation to, the Westlake Contract (the portion of such amount over and above five million dollars ($5,000,000), the Excess Amount), in each case from the date of this Agreement to the date on which the warranty period under the Westlake Contract expires by its terms (or, if later, the date on which the relevant Acquired Company makes the last payment due by, or receives the last payment due to, it under the Westlake Contract (such date, the Expiration Date), then the US Seller shall pay to the US Purchaser fifty per cent (50%) of the Excess Amount. (k) the Tax Liability would not have arisen but for:

(i) the making of a claim, election, surrender or disclaimer, the giving of a notice or consent, or the doing of any other thing under the provisions of any enactment or regulation relating to Tax, in each case after Completion by the Purchasers; or

(ii) the failure or omission on the part of any Acquired Company (other than at the Sellers' direction) to make any such valid claim, election, surrender or disclaimer, or to give any such notice or consent or to do any other such thing, as the Sellers may reasonably request pursuant to paragraphs 7.3 and 7.6 of this Schedule in respect of periods or matters ending or occurring on or before Completion.

3.2 The provisions of paragraphs 1, 2, 3.2 and 14 of Schedule 7 (Sellers' Limitations of Liability) shall apply mutatis mutandis to claims made under paragraphs 2.1(a) to 2.1(e) (inclusive) of this Schedule.

4. Payment of Claims

4.1 Other than in respect of Disputed Claims (to which paragraph 9 of this Schedule applies), the Sellers shall pay (in cleared funds) to the Purchasers any required sum under paragraph 2 of this Schedule:

(a) in the case of an Actual Tax Liability other than a claim under paragraph 2.1(e) of this Schedule, on the later of (i) the date ten (10) Business Days after the date of which the Sellers receive written details of the amount of the liability from the Purchasers or (ii) the date five (5) Business Days before the last date on which the payment of Tax may be made (ignoring for these purposes the availability of any other Relief), in order to avoid incurring a liability to interest and/or penalties;

(b) in the case of an Actual Tax Liability the subject of a claim under paragraph 2.1(e) of this Schedule, on the date when it is finally determined that a Tax Liability will become payable in relation to the Brazilian Dispute;

4.2 The Purchasers shall or shall procure that the Acquired Companies pay (in cleared funds) any required sum under paragraph 2.3 of this Schedule on the date ten (10) Business Days following the date on which notice giving written details of the amount due is received by the Purchasers from the Sellers for any payment under paragraphs 2.3 or 2.4 of this Schedule.

4.3 All sums payable by either the Sellers or the Purchasers (the Payer) to the Purchasers or Sellers as appropriate (the Payee) pursuant to this paragraph 4 shall be paid free and clear of all deductions and withholdings whatsoever (including Tax), save only as may be required by law.

4.4 If any deductions or withholdings are required by Applicable Law to be made from any of the sums payable as mentioned in paragraph 4.3 of this Schedule, the Payer shall be obliged to pay to the Payee such additional amounts as will ensure that the net amount received by the Payee will equal the full amount it would have received in the absence of any such requirement to make a deduction or withholding (provided, however, that this paragraph shall only apply to the extent that payments are made as between: (i) the NL Seller and the NL Purchaser; (ii) the US Seller and the US Purchaser; or (iii) the NL Seller and/or the US Seller and any other Purchaser that is a party to this Agreement provided that neither the NL Seller nor the US Seller shall be under any greater obligation to such other Purchaser than they would have been to the NL Purchaser or the US Purchaser, as the case may be).

4.5 If any sum payable by the Payer to the Payee under this paragraph 4 shall be subject to Taxation in the hands of the Payee (disregarding for this purpose any Reliefs other than any Tax Losses available to the Payee), the Payer shall be under the same obligation to make an increased payment in relation to that Taxation as if the liability were a deduction or withholding required by Applicable Law (provided, however, that this paragraph shall only apply to the extent that payments are made as between: (i) the NL Seller and the NL Purchaser; (ii) the US Seller and the US Purchaser; or (iii) the NL Seller and/or the US Seller and any other Purchaser that is a party to this Agreement provided that neither the NL Seller nor the US Seller shall be under any greater obligation to such other Purchaser than they would have been to the NL Purchaser or the US Purchaser, as the case may be).

5. Corresponding Savings and Over-Provisions

5.1 If the Purchasers or an Acquired Company becomes aware that:

(a) any Tax Liability which has resulted in a payment being made by (or becoming due from) the Sellers under this Schedule, where such Tax Liability has given rise to a corresponding saving for an Acquired Company, the Purchasers or any Affiliate thereof; or

(b) any provision for Tax (other than deferred Tax) contained in the Balance Sheet or the Financial Statements proves to be an over-provision (other than to the extent the over-provision would arise or be increased as a result of any retrospective change in the law after Completion or by any Post-Completion Relief), the Purchasers shall promptly give details of such corresponding saving or over-provision by written notice to the Sellers.

5.2 The Sellers may at their own cost and expense at any time instruct the relevant Acquired Company's auditors to determine in writing the extent of any corresponding saving or over-provision (whether or not details have been notified to the Sellers in accordance with paragraph 5.1 of this Schedule). If such auditors determine that a corresponding saving or over-provision has arisen, an amount equal to the value (as so determined in writing) of the Relevant Percentage of such corresponding saving or over-provision:

(a) shall be set off against any payment then due from the Sellers to the Purchasers under this Schedule or for breach of paragraph 20 of Schedule 5 (The Sellers Warranties); and

(b) to the extent there is any excess, such excess shall be set against any payment(s) already made or subsequently due under this Schedule or for breach of paragraph 20 of Schedule 5 (The Sellers Warranties) in chronological order until exhausted, provided that to the extent that such corresponding saving or over-provision is set-off against any payment already made by the Sellers, it shall promptly be repaid by the Purchasers to the Sellers.

5.3 If a written determination has been issued as referred to in paragraph 5.2 of this Schedule or this paragraph 5.3, the Sellers or the Purchasers may, on or before the sixth anniversary of Completion, request the relevant Acquired Company's auditors:

(a) to review (at the expense of the Party requesting the review, or where a payment becomes due under paragraph 5.4 of this Schedule, at the expense of the Party which is required to make such payment under such paragraph 5.4) such written determination in the light of all relevant circumstances at the time of the review; and

(b) to determine in writing whether in the light of such circumstances the original written determination should be amended.

5.4 If the new written determination referred to at paragraph 5.3 of this Schedule states that the original written determination should be amended, an adjusting payment equal to the difference between the sum in the original written determination and the sum in the amended written determination shall be made by the Sellers or the Purchasers (as appropriate) as soon as reasonably practicable.

6. Recovery from Third Parties

6.1 If an Acquired Company is entitled to recover from any Person (other than the Purchasers or another Acquired Company or any employee of an Acquired Company, but including any Tax Authority) any sum in respect of any Tax Liability to which paragraph 2.1 of this Schedule applies (or which relates to a breach of paragraph 20 of Schedule 5 (The Sellers' Warranties)), the Purchasers shall procure that the Acquired Company shall:

(a) promptly notify the Sellers of all relevant details concerning such entitlement after such Acquired Company becomes aware thereof;

(b) take all appropriate steps to enforce recovery under such entitlement (if so required by the Sellers and at the Sellers' expense);

(c) keep the Sellers fully informed of the progress of any such action for the purpose of making recovery in accordance with this paragraph 6.1; and

(d) promptly pay to the Sellers the sum equal to the lesser of (after taking into account all costs and expenses incurred in making any recovery to the extent that such costs and expenses have not already been recovered from the Sellers):

(i) any amount so recovered (together with an amount equal to any interest payment or repayment supplement received by the Acquired Company in connection with the recovery); and

(ii) the amount already paid by the Sellers in respect of such Tax Liability under paragraph 2.1 of this Schedule or for breach of paragraph 20 of Schedule 5 (The Sellers' Warranties).

6.2 If any amount recovered (the Recovered Amount) by any Acquired Company in accordance with paragraph 6.1 of this Schedule exceeds any payment made to the Sellers under paragraph 6.1(d) (the Payment Amount) then an amount equal to the difference between the Payment Amount and the Recovered Amount shall be set off against the liability of the Sellers in respect of any future claims under this Schedule or for breaches of paragraph 20 of Schedule 5 (The Sellers Warranties).

8. Conduct of Claims for Tax

8.1 If the Purchasers or any Acquired Company becomes aware of a Claim for Tax which may give rise to a Tax Liability for which the Sellers might be liable under paragraph 2 of this Schedule or for breach of paragraph 20 of Schedule 5 (The Sellers Warranties), the Purchasers shall give written details of the relevant matters to the Sellers as soon as reasonably practicable and in any case involving an assessment with a time limit for appeal and where such appeal has not already been lodged by the Purchasers or an Acquired Company at least fifteen (15) Business Days before the expiry of that time limit and the Sellers shall be entitled, at the Sellers' expense, to resist such Claims for Tax for and on behalf and in the name of the relevant Acquired Company, in each case, subject to the remaining provisions of this paragraph 8.

8.2 The Purchasers shall (and, where relevant, shall procure that each relevant Acquired Company will):

(a) take such action as the Sellers may reasonably request in writing to avoid, dispute, defend, resist, appeal or compromise any Claim for Tax (a Disputed Claim), subject to the Sellers agreeing (to the Purchasers' reasonable satisfaction) to indemnify the Purchasers or the relevant Acquired Company (as applicable) against any reasonable out-of-pocket costs which it may suffer or incur as a result of taking such action;

(b) make available to the Sellers such employees of the relevant Acquired Company or the Purchasers as the Sellers may reasonably require and all such information as may be available and as may reasonably be requested by the Sellers for avoiding, disputing, resisting, appealing, compromising or contesting any such Claim for Tax; and

(c) not accept or pay or compromise any such Claim for Tax without the Sellers' prior written consent, such consent not to be unreasonably withheld or delayed; and

(d) not be required to take any action which it can reasonably demonstrate would materially increase the Liability to Tax of any Acquired Company in subsequent periods.

8.3 The Sellers shall:

(a) keep the Purchasers fully informed of all relevant matters known to them or the Sellers' relevant advisers concerning any Disputed Claim;

(b) provide the Purchasers with copies of all relevant documents in the Sellers' possession or control in relation to any Disputed Claim;

(c) not transmit to a Tax Authority any material communication pertaining to the dispute and in particular no proposal for a consent to any settlement or compromise without the same having been submitted to and approved by the Purchasers, such approval not to be unreasonably withheld or delayed;

(d) save where such Claim for Tax relates to the Brazilian Dispute, not be entitled to resist any such Claim for Tax to the extent that it would involve the Purchasers or any relevant Acquired Company contesting a Disputed Claim beyond the first appellate body (excluding the Tax Authority which has made the Disputed Claim) in the jurisdiction concerned unless Tax counsel of appropriate seniority and experience appointed by the Sellers, confirms that (taking into account, among other things, the quantum of the relevant liability, the technical issues relevant to the Disputed Claim and the likelihood of the Sellers successfully challenging such Claim for Tax) it would be reasonable for the Sellers to pursue that course of action.

8.4 If the Sellers do not request the relevant Acquired Company to take any action within thirty (30) Business Days following the Sellers receipt of written details relating to the Claim for Tax from the Purchasers in accordance with paragraph 8.2 of this Schedule, the Purchasers or any relevant Acquired Company shall be free to pay or settle the Claim for Tax on such terms as it may in its absolute discretion consider appropriate.

Table of Contents9. Payment of Disputed Claims

In respect of a Disputed Claim, the Sellers shall pay any required sum under paragraph 2 of this Schedule within thirty (30) days following settlement, compromise or abandonment of the Disputed Claim unless the action requested by the Sellers pursuant to paragraph 7.3 of this Schedule cannot be taken prior to the Tax the subject matter of the Disputed Claim being paid (in which case, an amount equal to that amount of Tax (a Disputed Tax Payment) shall be paid by the Sellers promptly upon receipt by the Sellers of a written notice from the Purchasers for that amount). For the avoidance of doubt, if the Sellers are required to make a Disputed Tax Payment and the Disputed Claim is settled or compromised for a lesser sum than the amount of the Disputed Tax Payment, the difference between the Disputed Tax Payment and the amount at which the Disputed Claim is settled or compromised shall be treated as an amount to which paragraph 6 of this Schedule applies.

10. Transfer Taxes

The Purchasers shall be responsible for, and shall pay or cause to be paid all stamp, transfer documentary, sales and use, VAT, registration and other similar taxes and fees (including any penalties and interest) incurred as a consequence of the transfer of any shares in the Acquired Companies pursuant to this Agreement (collectively, the Transfer Taxes), other than any Transfer Taxes which arise as a consequence of the making of a section 338(h)(10) election.

11. Section 338(h)(10)

11.1 Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the US Seller and the Purchasers (or the appropriate subsidiary thereof) shall jointly complete and make a timely section 338(h)(10) election with respect to the US Company and each of the eligible members of the US Acquired Group on Form 8023 or in such other manner as may be required by rule or regulation of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and shall jointly make an election in the manner required under any analogous provisions of state or local law with respect to the US Company and each of the eligible members of the US Acquired Group. The US Seller and the Purchasers shall prepare Form 8023 and all such forms as are required as attachments to Form 8023 (and all forms under analogous provisions of state or local law) in accordance with applicable Tax laws. Such duly executed and completed forms as are required to be filed under Section 338(h)(10) of the Code (and analogous provisions of state or local law) shall be delivered by the US Seller and Purchasers to each other.

11.2 The US Seller and the Purchasers agree to use commercially reasonable efforts to perform or cause to be performed on or prior to the Completion Date: (i) an initial valuation of assets of the US Company and the eligible members of the US Acquired Group for purposes of Section 338 of the Code; (ii) a computation of the aggregate deemed sale price (ADSP) (as defined under U.S. Treasury Regulations Section 1.338-4) with respect to the US Company and each of the eligible members of the US Acquired Group; and (iii) an allocation of ADSP of the US Company and the eligible members of the US Acquired Group for purposes of Section 338 of the Code (collectively, the 338 Valuations and Allocations).

11.3 If the US Seller and the Purchasers agree upon the 338 Valuations and Allocations on or prior to the Completion Date, then such 338 Valuations and Allocations shall be used for purposes of all relevant Returns, reports and filings, and neither the Seller nor the Purchasers shall take any position that is inconsistent therewith.

11.4 If the US Seller and the Purchasers cannot agree upon the 338 Valuations and Allocations on or prior to the Completion Date, then the first public accounting firm of any of Deloitte, Ernst & Young, KPMG or PriceWaterhouseCoopers in alphabetical order that is not currently serving as the auditor of any of the US Seller, any US Company or the Purchasers (or as otherwise agreed between the US Seller and the Purchasers) shall be selected to determine the 338 Valuations and Allocations. The 338 Valuations and Allocations determined by such independent public accounting firm shall be final and binding. The fees and expenses incurred with respect to the independent public accounting firm performing the 338 Valuations and Allocations shall be allocated fifty per cent. (50%) to the US Seller and fifty per cent. (50%) to the Purchasers. The 338 Valuations and Allocations determined pursuant to this paragraph 10.4 shall be used for purposes of all relevant Returns, reports and filings, and neither the US Seller nor the Purchasers shall take any position that is inconsistent therewith.

11.5 This Agreement shall constitute the US Company's plan of complete liquidation for purposes of Section 332 of the Code.

11.6 Except as provided in paragraph 11.1 of this Schedule, the Purchasers shall not make any election under Section 338 of the Code.

12. Retention of Records

12.1 The Purchasers shall and shall cause the Acquired Companies to, until the seventh (7th) anniversary of the Completion Date or such later date as provided in paragraph 12.2 of this Schedule, retain all books, records and other documents pertaining to the businesses of the Acquired Companies in existence on the Completion Date and in accordance with paragraph 8.3(b) of this Schedule or as otherwise requested by the Sellers to make the same available for inspection and copying by, and at the expense of, the Sellers or any Affiliate or representative of the Sellers during reasonable business hours, upon reasonable request and upon reasonable notice. No such books, records or documents shall be destroyed after the seventh (7th) anniversary of the Completion Date by the Purchasers or any of the Acquired Companies without first advising the Sellers in writing and giving the Sellers a reasonable opportunity to obtain possession thereof.

12.2 If any Claim for Tax is outstanding on the seventh (7th) anniversary of the Completion Date, the Purchasers shall, and shall cause the Acquired Companies to, retain all such books, records and other documents referred to in paragraph 12.1 of this Schedule until such Claim for Tax has been finally agreed or settled.

indemnify and keep indemnified that company against ninety (90) percent of any external legal fees and expenses reasonably incurred by any Acquired Company or any other member of the CB&I Group:

(a) in complying with any requests made by the DOJ, the SEC or any other Governmental Entity of any Acquired Company or any other member of the CB&I Group in connection with payments to intermediaries and other issues and subject matter identified in the Report; and

(b) in defending any claims brought by the DOJ, the SEC or any other Governmental Entity against any current and former director, officer, employee, agent or distributor of any Acquired Company in connection with payments to intermediaries and other issues and subject matter identified in the Report, to the extent that any Acquired Company is obliged, as of the Completion Date, to meet such legal fees and expenses, provided that, where such indemnification is in respect of external legal fees or expenses incurred by an Acquired Company which is not a wholly-owned subsidiary of another Acquired Company, the Sellers shall only be liable for such percentage of the amount which, but for this proviso would be indemnifiable hereunder, is equal to the percentage shareholding (whether direct or indirect) of the US Seller or the NL Seller, as the case may be, in the relevant Acquired Company; provided further that, in no event shall the Sellers' liability under paragraphs 2.2(a) and (b) above exceed ten million dollars ($10,000,000) in aggregate.

2.3 For the avoidance of doubt, the indemnification provided in paragraphs 2.1 and 2.2 above shall not apply to:

(a) any loss of profit arising from the termination of any Contract, or from the suspension or debarment from any contracting privileges; or

(b) any legal fees or expenses incurred by any Acquired Company or any other member of the CB&I Group beyond those expressly stated at paragraph 2.2.

3. Access to Information

3.1 From the date hereof to Completion, the Sellers shall cause each Acquired Company to afford to the Purchasers and their attorneys such reasonable access as they may from time to time reasonably request, during normal business hours, to the personnel and books and records of the Acquired Group, as well as legal, compliance and audit employees of the ABB Group and the outside advisors and consultants of the ABB Group and the Acquired Group, for the purposes of enabling the Purchasers to gain a better understanding of, and the likely impact of, the issues and subject matter identified in the Report, so as better to place the Purchasers in a position to ensure that any violation by any Acquired Company of any Applicable Law concerning contributions, gifts or other inducement payments (including in particular the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of the United States (as amended from time to time)) do not continue following Completion.

3.2 Forthwith upon the execution of this Agreement, the Sellers shall deliver to the Purchasers a copy of the report entitled Due Diligence Review Report ABB Lummus Use of Intermediaries dated 20 August 2007 and made available to CB&I's attorneys on 21 August 2007 at the Washington, D.C. offices of W&C. On Completion, the Sellers shall deliver to the Purchasers a copy of all updates, supplements and amendments thereto.

3.3 All information made available pursuant to paragraph 3.1 above will be dealt with in accordance with the terms of the Common-Interest Arrangement dated as of 20 August 2007 between ABB (on behalf of itself and its relevant subsidiaries and affiliates) and CB&I (on behalf of itself and its subsidiaries and affiliates) and the Report (delivered pursuant to paragraph 3.2 above) will be dealt with in accordance with the terms of a substitute or amended continuing common-interest arrangement to be entered into allowing the Purchasers to retain a copy of the Report.

(e) refrain, and procure that the Acquired Group refrains, from disclosing to any third party any information potentially related to the payments to intermediaries and other issues and subject matter identified in the Report in the absence of the Sellers' prior written consent, except as otherwise required by Applicable Law or the rules or regulations of the SEC or any Governmental Entity;

(f) consult, and procure that the Acquired Group consults, with the Sellers prior to the Acquired Companies mounting any defence, agreeing to any settlement or entering into any negotiations concerning any allegation, claim or suit brought by the DOJ, the SEC or any other any third party related to the payments to intermediaries and other issues and subject matter identified in the Report;

(g) consult, and procure that the Acquired Group consults, with the Sellers regarding any disciplinary actions contemplated against any current and former directors, officers, employees, agents, distributors, attorneys, outside consultants and members of internal audit as a result of their possible involvement in the payments to intermediaries identified in the Report or their failure to co-operate with the relevant members of the ABB Group in accordance with the terms of this paragraph 4.1; and

(h) abide by the Sellers' instructions as to whether to assert or waive the Sellers' potential attorney-client privilege or work-product immunity with respect to communications and materials related to the payments to intermediaries and other issues and subject matter identified in the Report, provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Purchasers shall not be deemed to be in default under this paragraph 4.1 to the extent that its failure to procure any such matter as is referred to above in this paragraph 4.1 is attributable to any deliberate wrong-doing by any employee of any Acquired Company.

ANNEX B

Opinion of UBS Securities LLC, dated August 24, 2007

August 24, 2007

The Board of Supervisory Directors
Chicago Bridge & Iron Company N.V.
Polarisavenue 31
2132 JH Hoofddorp
The Netherlands

Dear Members of the Board:

We understand that Chicago Bridge & Iron Company N.V., a company organized under the laws of The Netherlands (CB&I), is considering a transaction (the Transaction) whereby (i) Chicago Bridge & Iron Company, a Delaware corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of CB&I (the US Purchaser), will acquire all of the outstanding shares of ABB Lummus Global Inc., a Delaware corporation (the US Target), and (ii) Chicago Bridge & Iron Company B.V., a company organized under the laws of The Netherlands and a wholly owned subsidiary of CB&I (together with the US Purchaser, the Purchasers), will acquire all of the outstanding shares of ABB Oil & Gas Europe B.V., a company organized under the laws of The Netherlands (together with the US Target, Lummus). Pursuant to the terms of a draft Share Sale and Purchase Agreement, dated as of August 24, 2007 (the Agreement), among CB&I, the Purchasers, ABB Asea Brown Boveri Ltd. (ABB), ABB Holdings Inc. and ABB Holdings B.V., in exchange for all of the outstanding shares of the two companies comprising Lummus, the Purchasers will make cash payments at the Completion (as defined in the Agreement) in an aggregate amount that we have assumed, at your direction, will be $839.9 million (the Consideration). The terms and conditions of the Transaction are more fully set forth in the Agreement.

You have requested our opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to CB&I of the Consideration to be paid by the Purchasers in the Transaction.

UBS Securities LLC (UBS) has acted as financial advisor to CB&I in connection with the Transaction and will receive a fee for its services, a portion of which is payable in connection with this opinion and a significant portion of which is contingent upon consummation of the Transaction. UBS or its affiliates may also participate in the financing by CB&I in connection with the Transaction and, in such event, would receive compensation in connection therewith. In the past, UBS and its affiliates have provided investment banking services to CB&I and ABB unrelated to the proposed Transaction, for which UBS and its affiliates received compensation. In addition, UBS or an affiliate is a participant in a credit facility of CB&I for which it has received and continues to receive fees and interest payments. In the ordinary course of business, UBS, its successors and affiliates may hold or trade, for their own accounts and the accounts of their customers, securities of CB&I, ABB and/or a subsidiary of ABB and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

Our opinion does not address the relative merits of the Transaction as compared to other business strategies or transactions that might be available to CB&I or CB&I's underlying business decision to effect the Transaction. Our opinion does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder as to how such shareholder should vote or act with respect to the Transaction. At your direction, we have not been asked to, nor do we, offer any opinion as to the terms, other than the Consideration to the extent expressly specified herein, of the Agreement or the form of the Transaction. We express no opinion as to the prices at which any securities of CB&I will trade at any time. In rendering this opinion, we have assumed, with your consent, that (i) the final executed form of the Agreement will not differ in any material respect from the draft that we have reviewed, (ii) CB&I, ABB and the other parties to the Agreement will comply with all material terms of the Agreement and (iii) the Transaction will be consummated in accordance with the terms of the Agreement without any adverse waiver or amendment of any material term or condition thereof. We have also assumed that all governmental, regulatory or other consents and approvals necessary for the consummation of the Transaction will be obtained without any material adverse effect on CB&I, Lummus or the Transaction.

In arriving at our opinion, we have, among other things: (i) reviewed certain publicly available information relating to Lummus; (ii) reviewed certain internal financial information and other data relating to the businesses and financial prospects of Lummus that were provided to us by the managements of CB&I and Lummus and not publicly available, including financial forecasts and estimates prepared by the management of CB&I; (iii) reviewed certain estimates of synergies and tax benefits related to the Transaction prepared by the management of CB&I that were provided to us by the management of CB&I and not publicly available; (iv) conducted discussions with members of the senior managements of CB&I and Lummus concerning the businesses and financial prospects of Lummus; (v) reviewed publicly available financial and stock market data with respect to certain other companies we believe to be generally relevant; (vi) compared the financial terms of the Transaction with the publicly available financial terms of certain other transactions we believe to be generally relevant; (vii) considered certain pro forma effects of the Transaction on CB&I's financial statements; (viii) reviewed the Agreement; and (ix) conducted such other financial studies, analyses and investigations, and considered such other information, as we deemed necessary or appropriate.

In connection with our review, with your consent, we have not assumed any responsibility for independent verification of any of the information provided to or reviewed by us for the purpose of this opinion and have, with your consent, relied on such information being complete and accurate in all material respects. In addition, with your consent, we have not made any independent evaluation or appraisal of any of the assets or liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of Lummus, nor have we been furnished with any such evaluation or appraisal. With respect to the financial forecasts, estimates, synergies, tax benefits and pro forma effects referred to above, we have assumed, at your direction, that they have been reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the management of CB&I as to the future performance of Lummus and such synergies, tax benefits and pro forma effects. In addition, we have assumed, with your approval, that the financial forecasts and estimates, including synergies and tax benefits, referred to above will be achieved at the times and in the amounts projected. We have also assumed, at your direction, that Lummus will have no debt or unrestricted cash immediately prior to the Completion. Our opinion is necessarily based on economic, monetary, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information available to us as of, the date hereof.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Consideration to be paid by the Purchasers in the Transaction is fair, from a financial point of view, to CB&I.

This opinion is provided for the benefit of the Board of Directors in connection with, and for the purpose of, its evaluation of the Transaction.

Very truly yours,

UBS SECURITIES LLC
