On March 14 and 15, 2005 the first commercial procedures utilizing the Stereotaxis NIOBE system, the Celsius RMT Ablation catheter, the NaviStar RMT Mapping and Ablation Catheter, and the CARTO RMT Navigation and Ablation System were performed in Europe. These products, which recently received CE Marking Authorization, are the first to be commercialized pursuant to Stereotaxis' strategic alliance with Biosense Webster, a Johnson & Johnson company.

Stereotaxis believes this family of advanced electrophysiology ablation and mapping catheters and the related CARTO mapping and localization system will significantly enhance the clinical utility and functionality of the Stereotaxis NIOBE system in the field of electrophysiology.
