Pro forma TBVPS at year - end 2016 and year - end 2017 reflects net income based on projections disclosed in Form S - 4 Registration Statement filed 6/1/15, $ 200mn cost synergies phased in 50% in 2016 and 100% in 2017, pre - tax restructuring charge of $225mn (incurred 80% in Q4 2015 and 20% in 2016); excludes revenue dissynergies, upside from third party capital and incremental growth. All dividends compounded at 8.0% annual return based on estimated equity market return. All adjustments taxed at 16% assumed pro forma tax rate 2 – Equal to EXOR’s all - cash offer of $137.50 and two $0.70 PartnerRe quarterly dividends prior to assumed closing date of 12/31 /2015. 20 S&P STATEMENTS ON EXOR 1 – Please refer to EXOR press release issued on June 16, 2015 S&P affirmed EXOR and its investee companies are independently rated. EXOR capital structure will have no impact on preferred securities rating, or any other PartnerRe ratings 1 PartnerRe has repeatedly reported to its shareholders and to the media that “Given EXOR’s current ratings and the meaningful additional debt contemplated in proposed transaction financing, there is considerable risk that the rating of preferred shares would be downgraded upon sale to EXOR” . This statement is without merit and has not been endorsed by Standard & Poor's Under EXOR ownership, PartnerRe (i) will have the same business scope and strategy, (ii) will be operated by the same management team and (iii) will have a more conservative capital structure. As a consequence, EXOR expects the rating of preferred securities to remain the same and improve over time BBB+ long - term rating reaffirmed by S&P after submission of EXOR’s offer

PERATE THE B USINESS ? 1

24 WHO WILL LEAD P ARTNER R E AND HOW DOES EXOR PLAN TO OPERATE THE BUSINESS? For over 20 years, PartnerRe has developed a unique culture centered around sophisticated, yet prudent, underwriting and nurtured its senior leadership from within EXOR believes the promotion of an internal candidate to CEO is the best avenue for PartnerRe's future success » EXOR will seek to initiate talks with senior management after the AXIS agreement is terminated PartnerRe's franchise will be preserved under EXOR's ownership: » Incumbent management team will be empowered to operate the business with autonomy » PartnerRe Board will continue to have independent directors » PartnerRe's highly respected brand will remain in place » EXOR will continue to manage PartnerRe's investment portfolio in a conservative manner In contrast, the AXIS transaction entails significant execution and integration risks, along with meaningful job losses for PartnerRe employees 1

25 APRIL 2015 PARTNER RE 25 C AN EXOR “ WALK AWAY ” FROM THE TRANSACTION WITH MINIMAL RISK ? 2

26.2 CAN EXOR “WALK AWAY” FROM THE TRANSACTION WITH MINIMAL RISK? Parties to EXOR Agreement are not “shell companies” » EXOR N.V. capitalized with € 300 million ($333 million 1) since 2013 » EXOR S.p.A., a public company with approximately $15 billion of NAV, is a guarantor of all EXOR party covenants (including the one related to obtaining regulatory approval) and its payment obligations EXOR has no financing condition or contingency of any kind EXOR has committed and syndicated financing from institutions that are contractually obligated to finance the transaction, with the same exact regulatory covenants as the AXIS transaction John Elkann, in his individual capacity, has provided a legally binding commitment to provide all information necessary to obtain regulatory approvals Additionally, EXOR’s commitment is demonstrated by $609 million investment in PartnerRe, becoming its largest shareholder with a 9.9% stake 1 – Based on 1.11 EUR/USD (exchange rate as of July 1, 2015)

27 APRIL 2015 PARTNER RE 27 W HY IS THERE NO REVERSE TERMINATION FEE ? 3

28 WHY IS THERE NO REVERSE TERMINATION FEE? 3 There is not a single example in the last 10 years of reverse termination fees for regulatory reasons in M&A deals with a value of $1 billion or more in life & annuity or property & casualty insurance or reinsurance Reverse termination fees are just not part of the M&A landscape in the (re)insurance industry The claim that such reverse termination fees are customary is false In addition, the examples cited by PartnerRe (e.g., Microsoft, Google) are completely irrelevant and target antitrust risk not present in the EXOR transaction EXOR public company guarantee, backed by approximately $15 billion of NAV , provides stronger commitment and greater certainty to closing

29 APRIL 2015 PARTNER RE 29 H OW WILL THE EXOR TRANSACTION IMPACT P ARTNER R E ' S
CAPITALIZATION AND LEVERAGE ? 4

30 HOW WILL THE EXOR TRANSACTION IMPACT PARTNERRE'S CAPITALIZATION AND LEVERAGE? 4 PartnerRe's capitalization and leverage will be improved by the EXOR transaction » To the contrary, the AXIS transaction involves $1.3 billion of extraordinary capital distributions around closing, significantly weakening PartnerRe's balance sheet » AXIS/PartnerRe also intend to distribute more than 125% of earnings from 2015 to 2017 ; less than 67% earnings distribution – one of the lowest in the industry – until December 31, 2020 under EXOR ownership (legally binding commitment for EXOR) PartnerRe's leverage will be lower under the EXOR transaction than the AXIS transaction » Less than 21% compared to more than 24 % PartnerRe has published highly misleading calculations which purport to aggregate the debt of EXOR and its investee companies » According to S&P rating methodology, EXOR's debt is not attributed to its investee companies, and the debt of its investee companies is not attributed to EXOR 1 1 – Please refer to EXOR press release issued on June 16, 2015

31 APRIL 2015 PARTNER RE 31 A S A PRIVATELY - OWNED SUBSIDIARY OF EXOR, WILL P ARTNER R
E BE ABLE TO ACCESS NEW CAPITAL IF NEEDED ? 5

32 AS A PRIVATELY - OWNED SUBSIDIARY OF EXOR, WILL P ARTNER R E BE ABLE TO ACCESS NEW CAPITAL IF NEEDED? EXOR's ownership will be a source of strength and stability for PartnerRe » EXOR is currently ranked 24th in the Fortune Global 500 list » By definition, capital base will grow more quickly under EXOR because of its more conservative capital distribution policy EXOR has significant financial resources with approximately $15 billion of NAV and has over 100 - year track record of consistently supporting its portfolio companies when needed » PartnerRe could draw on these resources if needed PartnerRe will remain an SEC registrant and will access debt and preferred markets as it has in the past Additionally, EXOR itself is a public company with full access to the capital markets 5

33 APRIL 2015 PARTNER RE 33 W HAT ASSURANCE IS THERE THAT THE EXOR TRANSACTION WILL BE ACCEPTED BY P ARTNER R E ' S B OARD WHEN THE AXIS TRANSACTION IS VOTED DOWN ? 6

34 6 Following a “no” vote on the AXIS transaction, EXOR expects the PartnerRe Board to act in a rational fashion and accept the EXOR Binding Offer in accordance with the expressed will of its shareholders EXOR has now included a go - shop provision in its Merger Agreement » Go - shop provision affords PartnerRe the opportunity to seek proactively other interested buyers after accepting EXOR’s Binding Offer » Guarantees a superior transaction at $137.50 per share (+$1.40 per share of ordinary dividends until closing) should other buyers not emerge or should PartnerRe face catastrophe losses or other book value losses WHAT ASSURANCE IS THERE THAT THE EXOR TRANSACTION WILL BE ACCEPT ED BY P ARTNER R E ’ S BOARD WHEN THE AXIS TRANSACTION IS VOTED DOWN?
