(Air Products), to purchase all of the outstanding Airgas Common Shares at a price of $60.00 per share, net to the seller in cash, without interest and less any required withholding taxes. The tender offer is being made on the terms and subject to the conditions described in the Tender Offer Statement on Schedule TO (together with the exhibits thereto, the Schedule TO), filed by Air Products and AP Sub with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC) on February 11, 2010. The value of the consideration offered, together with all of the terms and conditions applicable to the tender offer, is referred to in this Statement as the Offer.

Air Products has stated that the purpose of the Offer is to acquire control of, and the entire equity interest in, Airgas. Air Products has indicated that it intends, as soon as practicable after the consummation of the Offer, to seek to consummate a merger of Airgas and AP Sub (or one of its or Air Products subsidiaries) (the Second-Step Merger). Air Products has also stated that it intends to nominate, and solicit proxies for the election of, a slate of nominees for election at Airgas 2010 annual meeting of stockholders (the Airgas Annual Meeting). In addition, whether or not Air Products proposes a merger or other business combination with Airgas and whether or not its nominees are elected at the Airgas Annual Meeting, the Schedule TO states that Air Products intends, as soon as practicable after consummation of the Offer, to seek maximum representation on the Board of Directors of Airgas (the Airgas Board) and, promptly after the consummation of the Offer, to request that some or all of the current members of the Airgas Board resign and that Air Products designees be elected to fill the vacancies so created.

Exhibit (e)(1) is incorporated herein by reference and includes the following sections from the 2009 Proxy Statement:

Compensation of Directors, Compensation Discussion and Analysis, Executive Compensation, Certain Relationships and Related Transactions and Security Ownership.

Any information contained in the pages from the 2009 Proxy Statement incorporated by reference herein shall be deemed modified or superseded for purposes of this Statement to the extent that any information contained herein modifies or supersedes such information.

Relationship with Air Products

According to the Schedule TO, as of February 11, 2010, Air Products was the beneficial owner of 1,508,255 Airgas Common Shares, representing approximately 1.8% of the outstanding Airgas Common Shares.

Airgas has a long-term take-or-pay supply agreement, in effect through August 31, 2017, with Air Products to supply Airgas with bulk liquid nitrogen, oxygen and argon. Additionally, Airgas purchases helium and hydrogen gases from Air Products under long-term take-or-pay supply agreements. Based on the volume of fiscal 2010 purchases, the Air Products supply agreements represent approximately $55 million annually in liquid bulk gas purchases.

Consideration Payable Pursuant to the Offer and the Second-Step Merger

If the Airgas directors and executive officers were to tender any Airgas Common Shares they own pursuant to the Offer, they would receive the same cash consideration on the same terms and conditions as the other Airgas stockholders. As of February 19, 2010, the Airgas directors and executive officers owned an aggregate of 8,404,200 Airgas Common Shares. If the Airgas directors and executive officers were to tender all of such Airgas Common Shares for purchase pursuant to the Offer and those Airgas Common Shares were accepted for purchase by Air Products, the Airgas directors and executive officers would receive an aggregate of approximately $504 million in cash. To the knowledge of Airgas, none of the Airgas directors and executive officers currently intend to tender shares held of record or beneficially owned by such person for purchase pursuant to the Offer.

As of February 19, 2010, the Airgas directors and executive officers held options to purchase an aggregate of 2,480,683 Airgas Common Shares, with exercise prices ranging from $8.99 to $60.84 and an aggregate weighted average exercise price of $32.24 per share, 1,699,708 of which were vested and exercisable as of that date. Any Airgas stock options held by the Airgas directors and executive officers were issued pursuant to the 1997 Stock Option Plan, the 1997 Directors Stock Option Plan and the 2006 Amended and Restated Equity Incentive Plan, filed as Exhibits (e)(2), (e)(3) and (e)(4), respectively, to this Statement, and incorporated herein by reference (collectively, the Plans). Under the Plans, consummation of the Offer would constitute a change of control of Airgas, and upon a change of control of Airgas, unvested options to purchase 780,975 Airgas Common Shares held by the Airgas directors and executive offers would vest.

Table of Contents

The following table summarizes, with respect to (1) each Airgas director, (2) each Airgas Named Executive Officer, and (3) all executive officers (other than the Named Executive Officers) (the Other Executive Officers) as a group, the aggregate, positive difference in value between $60 and the per share exercise prices (the Spread Value) of the options to purchase Airgas Common Shares held by such directors and executive officers as of February 19, 2010:

Potential Severance and Change in Control Benefits

Airgas has entered into change of control agreements (the COC Agreements) with Messrs. McCausland, Graff, McLaughlin, Molinini and Powers, and three other executive officers. The terms of the COC Agreements provide salary and benefit continuation if (1) there is a change of control of Airgas and (2) Airgas terminates a covered executive's employment without cause or if the executive terminates employment for good reason, in each case within three years following a change of control (a Qualifying Termination). Good reason includes a material diminution of position, a material decrease in base compensation, a material breach of any employment agreement, or a material change in location. The Offer, if consummated, would constitute a change of control for purposes of each of the COC Agreements.

Table of Contents

Under the COC Agreements, in the event of a Qualifying Termination, an executive would be entitled to:

a lump-sum payment equal to two times the sum of (1) the executive's annual base salary at the time of termination, or, if greater, at the time the change of control occurred, plus (2) the bonus amount last paid to the executive prior to the occurrence of the change of control under the Airgas annual executive bonus plan;

continuation of health and welfare benefits for up to three years; and vesting of all stock options and restricted stock.

The cash and non-cash amounts payable under the COC Agreements and under any other arrangements with Airgas are limited to the maximum amount permitted without the imposition of an excise tax under the Internal Revenue Code (the Severance Cap). Generally, the Severance Cap would limit an executive's benefits under a COC Agreement to 2.99 times the executive's average annual compensation for the preceding five years. The above description of the COC Agreements is qualified in its entirety by reference to the COC Agreement filed as Exhibit (e)(5) to this Statement and incorporated herein by reference.

Under an arrangement with Mr. McCausland originally entered into in 1992, which was amended and restated on May 29, 2009 (the Amended and Restated Executive Severance Agreement), in the event Mr. McCausland experiences a Qualifying Termination, he is entitled to a payment equal to two times his annual base salary, in addition to any severance payments and benefits under his COC Agreement. The aggregate payments and benefits to Mr. McCausland under the COC Agreement and the Amended and Restated Executive Severance Agreement are subject to the Severance Cap. The above description of the Amended and Restated Executive Severance Agreement is qualified in its entirety by reference to the Amended and Restated Executive Severance Agreement filed as Exhibit (e)(6) to this Statement and incorporated herein by reference.

The Airgas, Inc. Severance Pay Plan (the Severance Pay Plan) provides severance benefits to all Airgas employees, including the executive officers covered by the COC Agreements (other than Mr. McCausland), in the event of a termination of employment due to (1) a lack of work, (2) a reorganization of the Airgas business, (3) the closing of all or a portion of the executive's principal workplace or (4) economic conditions. Benefits under the Severance Pay Plan include two weeks of notice pay plus one week of salary for each completed year of service, up to a maximum of 24 weeks of salary. In addition, under the Severance Pay Plan, an eligible participant will be entitled to continued health and welfare benefits during the severance period at the same cost that Airgas employees pay. Benefits under the plan are not available to an executive officer if the executive officer is eligible for similar benefits under a separate severance agreement with Airgas, such as a COC Agreement.

Table of Contents

The following table presents, with respect to (1) each Airgas Named Executive Officer, and (2) with respect to all Other Executive Officers as a group, an estimate of the amounts of severance benefits payable in the event of a Qualifying Termination, estimated as of February 19, 2010. For a quantification of the Spread Value of vested and unvested options to purchase Airgas Common Shares based on a $60 per share value, see the table above under the heading Consideration Payable Pursuant to the Offer and the Second-Step Merger.

Directors Compensation

Under the Airgas director compensation policy, only directors who are not employees of Airgas receive compensation for their services as directors. Non-employee directors receive an annual retainer of $25,000, plus a fee of $1,500 for each Board or committee meeting attended. The Chairmen of the Governance and Compensation Committee and the Finance Committee also receive an additional $3,000 annual retainer, and the Chairman of the Audit Committee receives an additional $5,000 annual retainer. A majority of the directors' compensation is in the form of immediately exercisable stock options with an exercise price of each option equal to the closing price of Airgas Common Shares on the date of grant. Airgas also reimburses its non-employee directors for their out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attendance at Board, committee and stockholder meetings, and other company business.

Indemnification of Directors and Officers

Section 145 of the Delaware General Corporation Law (the DGCL) permits Airgas to indemnify any of its directors or officers against expenses (including attorneys' fees), judgments, fines and amounts paid in settlement, incurred in defense of any action (other than an action by or in the right of Airgas) arising by reason of the fact that he is or was an officer or director of Airgas if he acted in good faith and in a manner he reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of Airgas and, with respect to any criminal action or proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful. Section 145 also permits Airgas to indemnify any such officer or director against expenses incurred in an action by or in the right of Airgas if he acted in good faith and in a manner he reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of Airgas, except in respect of any matter as to which such person is adjudged to be liable to Airgas, in which case court approval must be sought for indemnification. This statute requires indemnification of such officers and directors against expenses to the extent they may be successful in defending any such action. This statute provides that it is not exclusive of other indemnification that may be granted by the Airgas by-laws, a vote of stockholders or disinterested directors, agreement or otherwise. The statute permits purchase of liability insurance by the registrant on behalf of officers and directors, and Airgas has purchased such insurance.

Article VII of the Airgas bylaws requires indemnification to the fullest extent permitted by, and in the manner permissible under, the laws of the State of Delaware to any person made, or threatened to be made, a party to an action or proceeding, whether criminal, civil, administrative or investigative, by reason of the fact that he, his testator or intestate is or was a director or officer of Airgas or any predecessor of Airgas or served any other enterprise as a director or officer at the request of Airgas or any predecessor of Airgas. The indemnification provided for in Article VII is expressly not exclusive of any other rights to which any director or officer may be entitled apart from the provisions of that Article.

Background of the Offer and Reasons for Recommendation

Background of the Offer

Airgas was founded by Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Peter McCausland in 1982, and became a publicly traded company in 1986. Through approximately 400 acquisitions and internal growth, including the acquisition from Air Products of its U.S. packaged gas business in 2002 in connection with Air Products exit from that business, Airgas has become the largest U.S. distributor of industrial, medical, and specialty gases and related hardgoods, such as welding supplies, and has built the largest national distribution network in the packaged gas industry. Airgas has also become a leading U.S. distributor of safety products, the largest U.S. producer of nitrous oxide and dry ice, the largest liquid carbon dioxide producer in the Southeast, and a leading distributor of process chemicals, refrigerants and ammonia products. Airgas more than 14,000 employees work in more than 1,100 locations including branches, cylinder fill plants, air separation plants, production facilities, specialty gas laboratories and regional distribution centers to serve a diversified customer base.

Airgas has delivered superior value to its stockholders since its initial public offering in 1986, with a cumulative total stockholder return (defined as stock price appreciation plus dividends reinvested) of 4,201%¹ since that time. This performance represents a compound annual growth rate of total stockholder return of 18% and places Airgas ahead of 94% of companies in the S&P 500 index. We believe that this consistently high growth has been achieved because of our entrepreneurial, service-oriented culture and decentralized management structure. The following charts demonstrate Airgas proven track record.

In mid-October 2009, John McGlade, the Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Air Products, contacted Mr. McCausland and requested to meet without identifying the topic of the meeting. In response to Mr. McGlade's request, Mr. McCausland met with Mr. McGlade at Airgas headquarters on October 15, at which time Mr. McGlade made an unsolicited oral proposal to Mr. McCausland to acquire Airgas for $60 per share on an all-stock basis. Mr. McCausland replied that, while his personal view was that the proposal was inadequate and that it would be a poor time for Airgas to enter into any merger transaction, any decision regarding the proposal would rest with the Airgas Board. Mr. McGlade stated twice during the meeting that Air Products would not proceed on a hostile basis.

Following the meeting with Mr. McGlade, Mr. McCausland telephoned W. Thacher Brown, Airgas presiding director at that time, informed him of Mr. McGlade's unsolicited verbal proposal and discussed whether to convene a special meeting of the Airgas Board in advance of the Airgas Board meeting that had previously been scheduled for November 5 - 7. Mr. McCausland and Mr. Brown decided to discuss the unsolicited proposal with the Airgas Board at the previously scheduled upcoming meeting.

On October 31, 2009, Mr. McGlade telephoned Mr. McCausland to reiterate his proposal and his expectation that it would be presented to, and considered by, the Airgas Board.

At the Airgas Board's meeting held from November 5 through November 7, 2009, the Airgas Board considered and discussed Airgas's strategic direction and reviewed Airgas's five-year strategic and financial plan, which was a product of Airgas's regular planning process that began in July and was completed in October. In addition, during the meeting, the Airgas Board discussed Air Products's unsolicited proposal. After careful consideration of presentations by management and advice from its legal advisors and a review of discussions with the Company's financial advisors, the Airgas Board unanimously concluded that Air Products's unsolicited proposal grossly undervalued Airgas and, accordingly, that the Airgas Board had no interest in proceeding to discuss further the proposal with Air Products. Mr. McCausland telephoned Mr. McGlade and informed him of the Airgas Board's determination.

On November 20, 2009, Mr. McGlade telephoned Mr. McCausland and informed Mr. McCausland that he would be sending Mr. McCausland a letter. Mr. McCausland replied that Mr. McGlade stated at their meeting on October 15th that Air Products would not proceed on a hostile basis, to which Mr. McGlade responded that he was under pressure from the Air Products's board of directors.

On November 20, 2009, Mr. McGlade sent a letter to Mr. McCausland making an unsolicited proposal to acquire Airgas for $60 per share on an all-stock basis, and requesting a meeting with Airgas and its advisors as soon as possible to move expeditiously toward consummating a transaction. The full text of this letter is set forth as Exhibit (a)(7) and is incorporated by reference herein.

On November 25, 2009, Mr. McCausland wrote to Mr. McGlade indicating that the Airgas Board would consider Air Products's stock-for-stock proposal at its upcoming meeting in early December.

On December 7, 2009, the Airgas Board met to consider Air Products's unsolicited stock-for-stock proposal. After careful consideration of presentations by management, advice from its legal advisors and financial information and analyses provided to the Company by its financial advisors, the Airgas Board unanimously concluded that Air Products's unsolicited stock-for-stock proposal grossly undervalued Airgas, was opportunistic and offered an unattractive currency. Accordingly, the Airgas Board unanimously rejected the proposal and concluded that no purpose would be served by meeting with Air Products to discuss further the $60 per share proposal made by Air Products.

In a December 8, 2009 letter to Mr. McGlade, Mr. McCausland confirmed that the Airgas Board had considered Air Products's unsolicited stock-for-stock proposal and had determined that the proposal was not in the best interest of Airgas's stockholders and should not be pursued, on the grounds that it grossly undervalues Airgas, proposed an unattractive currency, ignored regulatory issues raised by a combination of the companies and because Airgas's Board questioned Air Products's ability to manage Airgas's business, given Air Products's decision to exit that very line of business just seven years earlier. The letter also informed Air Products that Airgas objected to the law firm Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP representing Air Products in connection with any possible acquisition of Airgas, and that Airgas had no intention of waiving or ignoring the conflict created thereby. The text of the letter is set forth below:

Dear John:

The Board of Directors of Airgas has considered your letter of November 20, 2009.

As you know, the Airgas Board carefully considered the same proposal several weeks ago and concluded that the proposed stock-for-stock acquisition of Airgas by Air Products is not in the best interests of our shareholders and should not be pursued. We have again carefully reviewed your proposal and have consulted with our legal and financial advisors. At the meeting called to review your November 20 letter, the Board again unanimously authorized me to advise you that it believes that Air Products is grossly undervaluing Airgas and offering a currency that is not attractive. The Board has no interest in pursuing Air Products' unsolicited proposal.

We can certainly understand why Air Products would find an acquisition of Airgas to be appealing to Air Products and its shareholders. Over the last five and ten year periods, Airgas' stock has consistently and significantly outperformed Air Products' stock, having risen 83% over the last five years (vs. 44% for Air Products' stock) and 387% over the last ten years (vs. 166% for Air Products' stock). Airgas continues to effectively execute its business plan and is operating well in a difficult environment. We have taken a number of actions that position us to perform even better as the economy improves. Airgas' management and its Board are extremely enthusiastic about our company's prospects and are confident of achieving shareholder returns well in excess of what can be derived from Air Products' proposal.

We also have concerns about Air Products' ability to effectively manage our business, a business that your company exited just seven years ago. The consistently high growth that we have been able to achieve over many years owes much to our entrepreneurial, service-oriented culture and decentralized management structure. The organizational and management structure at Air Products conflicts with ours and would likely reduce rather than create value.

Your letter ignores any mention of the regulatory issues that a combination of our two companies would raise. These issues would slow the process considerably. In this regard, we note that Air Products failed to obtain U.S. antitrust clearance in its last attempt to acquire a major American industrial gas competitor.

While not a factor in our decision, it is important to mention that the advisors representing your company have serious conflicts of interest that we have no intention of waiving or ignoring. Cravath, Swaine & Moore has served as Airgas' counsel for financing matters continuously for the past eight years. They have advised us as recently as October (presumably while working with your company on its approach to us) on matters relating to our outstanding indebtedness and our future financing plans. Your legal and financial advisors, from the services they have rendered very recently to Airgas, well understand that the next several months are important ones for our company with respect to its financing plans. It is disturbing that the key advisors on Airgas' financing team are now representing an adverse party in a potentially hostile transaction.

The Board of Directors of Airgas reiterates the response which I conveyed to you several weeks ago. We are not interested in pursuing your company's proposal and do not believe that any purpose would be served by a meeting.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Peter McCausland

On December 17, 2009, Mr. McGlade sent a letter to Mr. McCausland revising Air Products' prior $60 per share stock-for-stock proposal, proposing to acquire Airgas for $62 per share with consideration including up to 50% cash. Mr. McGlade stated in the letter that the timing for this combination is excellent, citing the fact that the economy is just beginning to emerge from recession and Air Products' belief that waiting may make the combination less attractive in the future. Mr. McGlade also stated that Air Products and its advisors formally requested to meet with Airgas and its advisors as soon as possible and that the companies move expeditiously to consummate a transaction. Mr. McGlade objected to Airgas' characterization of Air Products' performance and other aspects of Mr. McCausland's December 8th letter. The full text of Mr. McGlade's letter is set forth as Exhibit (a)(8) and is incorporated by reference herein.

On December 21, the Airgas Board met to discuss Air Products' revised $62 unsolicited proposal and reviewed information provided by management, advice from its legal advisors and financial information and analyses provided to the Company by its financial advisors. On January 4, 2010, the Airgas Board met again to resume consideration of the revised $62 proposal as well as Air Products' request to meet as soon as possible to move expeditiously to consummate a transaction. After careful consideration of presentations by management, advice from its legal advisors and financial information and analyses provided to the Company by its financial advisors, the Airgas Board unanimously concluded that Air Products' revised $62 unsolicited proposal, at least half of which was to be paid in Air Products stock, grossly undervalued Airgas and its prospects for continued growth and shareholder value creation. Accordingly, the Airgas Board concluded that no purpose would be served by meeting with Air Products to explore further its unsolicited $62 per share proposal. Mr. McCausland sent the following letter to Mr. McGlade informing him of the determination of the Airgas Board:

Dear John:

Our Board of Directors met and thoroughly considered the proposal set forth in your December 17 letter. It is their unanimous view that the Air Products proposal grossly undervalues Airgas. Therefore, the Board is not interested in pursuing your company's proposal and continues to believe that there is no reason to meet.

Airgas' management has consistently created long-term shareholder value, as measured by stock price appreciation and total shareholder returns (stock price appreciation plus dividends).

In every cumulative annual period since 2000, measured from the first of each calendar year to Dec 31, 2009, Airgas' stock price has consistently outperformed Air Products' with the exception of 2009.

Airgas' stock price appreciated 80% over the last five years and 415% over the last ten years, compared to just 40% and 145% for Air Products' shares over the same periods.

Airgas has achieved total cumulative shareholder returns of 22%, 89%, and 434% over the last three, five and ten years respectively, versus Air Products' 23%, 56% and 197%. From the time of its initial public offering in December 1986, Airgas' total shareholder return has exceeded 4,400% as compared to approximately 1,300% for Air Products over the same period.

Airgas' entrepreneurial culture and customer-centric business model produced operating performance superior to that of Air Products through the last cycle, in expanding and contracting economic conditions. From CY2001 through CY2008, Airgas generated a 24% compound annual growth rate in operating income from continuing operations, compared to Air Products' 8%.

Airgas' associates, with the support of our Board of Directors and shareholders, have built the most valuable independent industrial gas company in the world. We have an outstanding performance record, and strong prospects for organic and acquisition growth in the coming years. Air Products' unsolicited approach is simply an opportunistic attempt to buy Airgas at a bargain price, exploiting a brief anomaly in the historic comparative equity market performance of our two companies, just as the economy begins its recovery. Recent performance alone is not indicative of what our respective companies are capable of achieving. Under the terms of Air Products' proposal, our shareholders would sacrifice real value and opportunity, and exchange a dynamic growth stock for one that has significantly underperformed Airgas stock over an extended period of time.

While we agree that the benefits of a letter writing campaign between our two companies have been exhausted, we strongly disagree with many of the assertions in your December 17th letter. In particular, we believe that a combination of our two companies could destroy rather than create value; that you underestimate the seriousness of your advisors' conflicts; and that your characterization of my one conversation with you is inaccurate and misleading.

Air Products' proposal grossly undervalues Airgas and its prospects for continued growth and shareholder value creation. Accordingly, our Board of Directors is not interested in pursuing your company's proposal.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ Peter McCausland

Peter McCausland

Chairman and CEO

On February 1, 2010, Air Products' legal advisor from Cravath telephoned Airgas' legal advisor, and stated that it was important that a meeting occur between Air Products and Airgas within days rather than weeks, and that it would be best for Air Products' stockholders, Airgas stockholders as well as for Peter for the parties to reach agreement rapidly on a negotiated sale of Airgas to Air Products. Airgas' legal advisor stated that they would consult with Airgas regarding the request for a meeting and that any decision whether to meet rested with Airgas.

Later on February 1, representatives of J.P. Morgan, Air Products' financial advisor, contacted an Airgas financial advisor, and also requested a meeting within days. A representative of J.P. Morgan also requested that the Airgas Board be involved in the decision as to whether to meet with Air Products. During the call, representatives of J.P. Morgan also said that a private negotiation would be better for Airgas, its management and Air Products. Airgas' financial advisor replied that they would promptly relay Air Products' urgent request for a meeting to Airgas.

In each of their respective conversations, both the Airgas legal advisor and the Airgas financial advisor noted that, in light of the Airgas Board's views concerning Air Products' prior unsolicited proposals, the Airgas directors may well conclude that the last price proposed by Air Products would not represent a sensible basis to hold any meeting to discuss a possible transaction.

On February 2, 2010, Airgas' financial advisors telephoned Air Products' financial advisor to inform them that the Airgas Board would evaluate their request to meet at Airgas' regularly scheduled Board meeting early in the week of February 8th.

Rather than waiting for the response requested from the Airgas Board, Mr. McGlade sent a letter to Mr. McCausland on February 4, 2010 with an unsolicited proposal to acquire Airgas for a reduced price of $60 per share on an all-cash basis. The letter stated again that the timing for this combination is ideal, noting that the economy was beginning to emerge from recession, and stated that the proposal offered Airgas stockholders immediate liquidity. The letter also stated that Air Products had decided to inform Airgas' stockholders of its proposal. The full text of this letter is set forth as Exhibit (a)(9) and is incorporated by reference herein.

Also on February 4, Air Products filed an action against Airgas and members of the Airgas Board in the Delaware Chancery Court, alleging breach of fiduciary duty by Airgas' Board in rejecting Air Products unsolicited proposals and seeking declaratory and injunctive relief. Please see Additional Information Litigation Matters for more information. Air Products' complaint stated that Air Products owned 1,508,255 Airgas Common Shares, which Air Products later disclosed that it had acquired in open market purchases from January 20 through February 4 at average daily prices ranging from $43.77 to $49.25. On February 5, 2010, Air Products publicly disclosed its February 4 letter.

The Airgas Board met on the morning of February 5, the fourth occasion on which its members discussed and considered the various unsolicited proposals of Air Products, to consider Air Products' $60 per share public proposal and, among other matters, to discuss Air Products' most recent letter. Also on February 5, Airgas commenced litigation against its long-time counsel, Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP, in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, seeking damages and an order requiring Cravath to withdraw from its representation of Air Products in connection with its attempted takeover of Airgas based on Cravath's prior representation of Airgas. Please see Additional Information Litigation Matters for more information.

In a meeting held on February 8 and 9, the Airgas Board again discussed and considered Air Products' unsolicited proposal, and after careful consideration of presentations by management and its financial advisors, and advice from its legal advisors, unanimously determined that the proposal grossly undervalued Airgas and its future prospects and was not in the best interests of Airgas stockholders. Accordingly, the Airgas Board unanimously rejected the proposal and concluded that no purpose would be served by proceeding to meet with Air Products to discuss the inadequate proposal. On February 9, Mr. McCausland sent the following letter to Mr. McGlade informing him of the Airgas Board's determination:

Dear John:

The Board of Directors of Airgas has received your letter dated February 4, 2010 proposing that Air Products acquire all of the outstanding shares of Airgas for $60 per share in cash. At a meeting held yesterday and today, the Board of Directors carefully reviewed your company's latest proposal with the assistance of its financial advisors, Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Bank of America Merrill Lynch, and its legal counsel. After thorough consideration, it is the unanimous view of the Airgas Board of Directors that your unsolicited proposal very significantly undervalues Airgas and its future prospects. Accordingly, the Airgas Board unanimously rejects Air Products' $60 per share proposal. Moreover, as we informed you in our letter dated January 4, 2010, your company's prior $62 per share proposal also grossly undervalues Airgas.

Airgas is the largest and most valuable packaged gas business in the world with an unrivaled platform. Airgas continues to effectively execute its business plan and is operating well in a difficult environment. We have taken a number of actions that position us to perform even better as the economy improves. Moreover, Airgas and its stockholders are poised to realize the significant benefits that will result from the substantial infrastructure investment and industry consolidation achieved by Airgas over the last decade. Our country is just beginning to emerge from the worst recession since the Great Depression and your undervalued proposal would deprive our stockholders of the greater value that they will receive simply with the passage of time.

As you are undoubtedly aware, due to the nature of our customers and markets, historically our business has emerged from recession later, but with much greater upside, than yours. Airgas' management and its Board are extremely enthusiastic about our company's prospects and are confident of achieving stockholder returns well in excess of what can be derived from Air Products' unsolicited and opportunistic proposal.

We note that in your presentation dated February 5th, you state that "Timing is excellent" as a justification for pursuing Air Products' unsolicited proposal at this time. We agree that the timing is excellent for Air Products but it is a terrible time for Airgas stockholders to sell their company. We can certainly understand why Air Products would find an opportunistic acquisition of Airgas to be appealing to Air Products and its stockholders. However, it makes no sense for the Airgas stockholders to transfer the future value of Airgas to Air Products at a bargain basement price.

Over the last five and ten year periods preceding the public disclosure of your company's latest proposal, Airgas's stock has consistently and significantly outperformed Air Products's stock, having risen 75% over the last five years (vs. 25% for Air Products's stock) and 471% over the last ten years (vs. 139% for Air Products's stock). It is in light of this history that we consider your increasingly urgent demands to negotiate concerning Air Products's various proposals, which in our Board's unanimous view grossly undervalue our company and its prospects. If the nascent recovery continues and the growth which we anticipate and are starting to see in our business were to become reflected in our stock price, Air Products would no longer be able to claim that its timing is excellent.

Airgas's business differs significantly from Air Products and your packaged gas operations in Europe have considerably different characteristics than our packaged gas business in the United States. In contrast to your European business, our U.S. business operates in a highly competitive marketplace which demands distribution of numerous products and services to provide value to our customers. Your company exited that business just eight years ago, selling it to us when it was in disarray. The consistently high growth that we have been able to achieve over many years owes much to our entrepreneurial, service-oriented culture and decentralized management structure. We are, at our core, a people business which has succeeded by effectively motivating our more than 14,000 associates. We believe, based upon our own extensive experiences with Air Products, that the acquisition you are proposing would reduce rather than enhance stockholder value.

We understand that market credibility is paramount and Airgas has, over time, performed significantly better than Air Products on almost any metric, often exceeding market expectations. But we believe that how a company conducts its business is important too. You have chosen legal and financial advisors that have conflicts, even after we expressed our strong objections. That is wholly inappropriate and why we commenced litigation against your legal advisor. We have an affirmative obligation to protect Airgas stockholders and this includes taking the necessary steps to protect our stockholders against grossly undervalued proposals. Our board, which collectively beneficially owns more than 10% of the outstanding common stock, is focused solely on the best interests of our stockholders.

Our Board of Directors, our management team and our thousands of associates are dedicated to creating value for all of our stockholders and that is exactly what we will continue to do by executing on our strategic plan.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Peter McCausland

On February 11, 2010, Air Products and AP Sub commenced the Offer at the same $60.00 price per share in cash as the proposal described in Air Products's letter dated February 4. On the same day, Airgas issued a press release requesting that its stockholders take no action in response to the Offer and informing its stockholders that the Airgas Board, in consultation with its independent financial and legal advisors, intends to advise stockholders of its formal position regarding the Offer within ten business days by making available to stockholders and filing with the SEC a solicitation/recommendation statement on Schedule 14D-9.

On February 20, 2010, the Airgas Board met to review the terms of the Offer with the assistance of its financial advisors, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated (which we refer to as Bank of America Merrill Lynch) and Goldman, Sachs & Co. (which we refer to as Goldman Sachs), and legal advisor, Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz. During this meeting Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs each rendered an oral opinion to the Airgas Board, subsequently confirmed in writing, that as of February 20, 2010 and based upon and subject to the factors and assumptions set forth in the written opinions, the consideration proposed to be paid to the holders of Airgas Common Shares (other than AP Sub and its affiliates) pursuant to the Offer was inadequate from a financial point of view to such holders. At the meeting, the Airgas Board unanimously reconfirmed its prior determination that the Offer grossly undervalues Airgas and is not in the best interests of Airgas and its stockholders. Accordingly, the Airgas Board unanimously determined to recommend that the Airgas stockholders reject the Offer and not tender their Airgas Common Shares into the Offer. The full text of the respective written opinions of Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs, each dated February 20, 2010, and each of which sets forth the assumptions made, procedures followed, matters considered and limitations on the review undertaken in connection with such opinion, are attached as Annexes B and C, respectively. Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs provided their respective opinions for the information and assistance of the Airgas Board in connection with its consideration of the Offer. The opinions of Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs are not a recommendation as to whether or not any holder of Airgas Common Shares should tender such Airgas Common Shares in connection with the Offer or any other matter.

Reasons for Recommendation

In reaching the conclusions and in making the recommendation described above, the Airgas Board consulted with Airgas management and financial and legal advisors, and took into account numerous factors, including but not limited to the factors listed below.

The Airgas Board believes that the Offer grossly undervalues Airgas in light of Airgas extraordinary track record and growth prospects, that the Offer's timing is extremely opportunistic, and that regulatory concerns and the Offer's litany of conditions create significant uncertainty as to when if ever Airgas stockholders would receive consideration under the Offer. In addition, Air Products' tactics are calculated to divert attention from the Offer's serious deficiencies. The Airgas Board is confident that Airgas will, consistent with its history, deliver greater value to its stockholders by executing its strategic plan than would be obtained under the Offer.

I) The Offer grossly undervalues Airgas

The Board believes that the Offer grossly undervalues Airgas as it does not reflect the underlying value of Airgas assets, operations and strategic plan, including its industry-leading position, unrivaled platform and future growth prospects. Since its founding, Airgas has delivered extraordinary results for its stockholders and, by virtue of its industry position, strategic direction, management and culture, Airgas is poised to continue to provide extraordinary results for its stockholders. Thus, the Board believes that the Offer is disadvantageous to Airgas stockholders:

The Offer does not reflect the value inherent in Airgas' future prospects. The Airgas Board has carefully reviewed, and in November approved, our Company's five-year strategic and financial plan, which was the product of our customary planning process, which for the current plan commenced in July 2009 and was completed in October 2009. The Airgas Board has a high degree of confidence in management's plans and in the strategic planning process. This confidence is supported by Airgas' history of achieving or exceeding its strategic plans over many years and through many business cycles.

The Board believes that the value to stockholders reflected in the Company's current strategic plan, derived by applying present value calculations to Airgas' projected future stock prices, is equal to or greater than the value achievable for stockholders with the Offer. The standalone values of Airgas from executing its strategic plan considered by the Airgas Board do not give effect to any control premium. The Airgas Board's belief has been corroborated by industry analysts and financial commentators who have issued reports and made statements that the Offer significantly undervalues Airgas' prospects. Thus, our Board believes that Airgas will deliver more value to Airgas stockholders by operating the business in accordance with the current strategic plan than by accepting the Offer.

Airgas' extraordinary historical results provide the Board confidence as to Airgas' future. Airgas has delivered superior value to its stockholders since its initial public offering in 1986, with a cumulative total stockholder return (defined as stock price appreciation plus dividends reinvested) of 4,201%² since that time, which represents a compound annual growth rate of 18% and places Airgas ahead of 94% of companies in the S&P 500 index. Our record of sustained growth for the calendar years 2001-2009 is similarly stellar: the compound annual growth rate during that period for revenues, EBITDA, adjusted cash from operations³ and diluted earnings per share are 11%, 17%, 21% and 20%, respectively. Importantly, the drivers of our historical success remain in place to enable our Company to continue its extraordinary performance.

A comparison of Airgas' performance to Air Products' is also instructive. With the exception of the 2009 calendar year, in every cumulative annual period since 2000, measured from the first of each calendar year to December 31, 2009, Airgas' stock price has consistently outperformed that of Air Products'. Airgas' stock price appreciated 80% over the last five years and 415% over the last ten years, compared to just 40% and 145% for Air Products' shares over the same periods. In addition, Airgas has achieved total cumulative stockholder returns of 89% and 435% over the last five and ten years, respectively, versus Air Products' 56% and 198%. Airgas has also significantly outperformed Air Products' in compound annual growth rate of revenue and earnings per share since 2001. For the calendar years 2001 through 2008, Airgas generated a 24% compound annual growth rate in operating income from continuing operations, compared to Air Products' 8%.

The Offer does not reflect the value of Airgas as the largest and most valuable packaged gas business in the world with an unrivaled platform. Airgas is the largest U.S. distributor of industrial, medical and specialty gases (delivered in packaged or cylinder form) and hardgoods, such as welding equipment and supplies. The U.S. remains the largest market for these products in the world and even Air Products has publicly acknowledged its expectations that North America will account for more than a quarter of global GDP growth in the next five years. Airgas' position in its industry is preeminent and the Company is poised to continue to enhance stockholder value through organic growth and acquisitions. Airgas' national scale, strong local presence and broad product and service offerings deliver a compelling value proposition to its diversified customer base in a very attractive market.

Airgas has a unique culture that propels its success. We believe that Airgas' record of successful growth and excellent results for our stockholders, sustained over many years, has been achieved because of our entrepreneurial, service-oriented culture and decentralized management structure. A major contributor to these results has been our ownership culture, as exemplified by our Board's ownership of more than 10% of the outstanding Airgas Common Shares, and by the fact that many of our associates have invested in Airgas through 401(k) accounts, the Employee Stock Purchase Plan and personal accounts. This ownership culture is one of Airgas' distinctive strengths.

We believe that our directors' substantial investment in the Company is a very positive factor, affirming their faith in our Company and indicating that their interests are aligned with the interests of the other stockholders. As a result of our ownership culture, our directors, management and associates are highly incentivized to maximize stockholder value.

² Market data as of market close on February 4, 2010, one day prior to Air Products' publicly disclosing its unsolicited proposal.

Table of ContentsII) The timing of the Offer is extremely opportunistic

The Board believes that the timing of the Offer is extremely opportunistic and disadvantageous to Airgas stockholders:

The timing of the Offer is extremely opportunistic. Airgas EBITDA has increased every year over the prior year for the past 22 years preceding the 2009 recession, with only a few very minor exceptions. The timing of the Offer seeks to exploit Airgas only significant decline in annual EBITDA in 22 years, as can be seen in the chart entitled Proven Track Record under Background of the Offer, as well as a 10% stock price decline in a single trading day (January 29) attributable to, in our view, a significant market overreaction to a 2 cent miss in quarterly earnings guidance. We believe that Air Products whose fiscal 2009 earnings were more than 20% below the low end of its initial guidance for that year clearly understands this, but is attempting to create and seize an opportunity by incorrectly attributing great significance to our most recent quarterly results. The Airgas Board believes the difference between the $0.67 low-end of earnings guidance and the reported $0.65 of adjusted earnings per share⁴ for Airgas most recently completed quarter does not affect Airgas earnings capacity or intrinsic value.

Airgas historically lags going into and out of recessionary periods and emerges with significant upside. Over the past decade, Airgas has made a substantial investment in infrastructure and achieved the preeminent position in a consolidating industry. Historically, Airgas has emerged strongly from recessionary periods, as evidenced by a 346% increase in the trading price of Airgas Common Shares in the 22 months from June 2000. Airgas same-store sales are now beginning to rebound, and the most recently completed quarter reflected the first sequential improvement in daily sales in a year. Airgas and its stockholders are poised to realize significant benefits as the economy emerges from the worst recession since the Great Depression, making this precisely the wrong time to sell Airgas.

Air Products tactics seek to disadvantage Airgas stockholders. We believe Air Products extreme urgency in launching the Offer an offer which in our view cannot be completed for many months reflects its desire to act when the claimed premium would appear attractive. For example, the average closing price of Airgas shares in January and February before public announcement of Air Products $60 proposal was $47.34; the average daily prices which Air Products paid in their open market purchases of Airgas shares prior to the decline in stock price on January 29 was between $47.09 and $49.25 per share. Thus, when the Airgas closing price was $43.53 on February 4, Air Products acted to take advantage of a temporary valuation anomaly in its attempt to transfer the future value of Airgas to Air Products at a bargain basement price.

Air Products well knows that the risk to the success of its Offer increases dramatically as Airgas resumes the growth and success which have been the hallmarks of its performance over its history. Air Products has repeatedly declared that the timing for this combination is ideal and the timing for this combination is excellent... [t]he economy is just beginning to emerge from recession... The timing is excellent for Air Products but very poor for Airgas stockholders in light of the depressed value of the Airgas Common Shares prior to the announcement of the Offer. We believe that Air Products decided that it could not wait any longer to launch its Offer because the improving economic conditions that Air Products observed were at risk of soon becoming reflected in Airgas stock price.

III) Airgas has received inadequacy opinions from its financial advisors

The Airgas Board considered the fact that Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs each rendered an opinion to the Airgas Board, subsequently confirmed in writing, that as of February 20, 2010 and based upon and subject to the factors and assumptions set forth in the written opinions, the consideration proposed to be paid to the holders of Airgas Common Shares (other than AP Sub or its affiliates) pursuant to the Offer was inadequate from a financial point of view to such holders. The full text of the respective written opinions of Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs, each dated February 20, 2010, and each of which sets forth the assumptions made, procedures followed, matters considered and limitations on the review undertaken in connection with such opinion, are attached as Annexes B and C, respectively. Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs provided their respective opinions for the information and assistance of the Airgas Board in connection with its consideration of the Offer. The opinions of Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs are not a recommendation as to whether or not any holder of Airgas Common Shares should tender such Airgas Common Shares in connection with the Offer or any other matter.

IV) The Offer is highly uncertain and would provide considerably deferred value

The Board believes that the Offer is highly uncertain and would require a significant amount of time to complete, even under the most favorable circumstances.

The Offer is subject to significant regulatory concerns. Despite Air Products' public statements designed to minimize the regulatory risks of its Offer, those regulatory risks are significant. In Airgas' view, the Offer is highly likely to result in the issuance of a second request by United States antitrust authorities under the HSR Act. A second request could result in a substantial delay before Airgas stockholders would receive the certain value which Air Products claims to be offering. Thus, any comparison of the current value which Air Products claims to be offering against the benefits of Airgas' continued operations must take into account both the time value of money and the likelihood, in our Board's view, that Airgas' historically excellent performance will resume.

The regulatory concerns are amplified because Air Products failed to clear regulatory hurdles in its last attempt to acquire a major American industrial gas company. In 2000, Air Products abandoned its offer to acquire the U.S. operations of The BOC Group following its failure to obtain antitrust clearance despite publicly claiming it had developed a detailed divestiture plan that addressed the competitive issues. Notwithstanding Air Products' failure to obtain U.S. antitrust clearance in its last attempt to acquire a major American industrial gas company, the Offer does not contain a commitment that Air Products will take all actions necessary to obtain the approvals required to consummate the proposed acquisition. Therefore, the carefully crafted statement in Air Products Offer that Air Products is prepared to make appropriate divestitures to obtain necessary regulatory approvals provides little comfort. These concerns are exacerbated by Air Products' history and by the many subjective and hair trigger conditions set forth in their Offer, as described below.

V) The quantity and nature of the Offer's conditions create major uncertainty and risk

The Board believes that the numerous conditions set forth in the Offer create significant uncertainty and risk as to whether the Offer can be completed and the timing for completion.

The Offer contains an extraordinarily lengthy list of conditions. As described under Item 2 and in Annex A of the Offer, the Offer is subject to numerous conditions, including, among others, the following conditions:

- the Impairment Condition,
- No Material Adverse Effect Condition,
- the Market Index Condition,
- the No Lawsuits Condition,
- the No Diminution of Benefits Condition,
- the No Material Change Condition,
- the No Adverse Effect on Contracts Condition,
- the Stockholder Ownership Condition,
- the Minimum Tender Condition,
- the Rights Plan Condition,

Table of Contents

the Section 203 Condition, the Certificate Condition, and the HSR Condition.

Airgas stockholders have no assurance that the Offer will ever be completed. The Offer is illusory, as some of the Offer's conditions will not be satisfied as a result of Airgas' publicly disclosed documents and previously announced plans, while others are subject to de minimis materiality standards and can be invoked by Air Products in its sole discretion. The illusory nature of the Offer is illustrated by the condition that will not be satisfied if Airgas pays its already-declared regular quarterly dividend. On January 28, 2010, Airgas raised its quarterly cash dividend to $0.22 per share, which was Airgas' fifth dividend increase in the past three years. Payment of this dividend, which was publicly announced prior to the Offer to be payable on March 31, 2010 to stockholders of record as of March 15, 2010 (which dividend declaration is described in Air Products' Schedule TO), will enable Air Products to terminate its Offer pursuant to its terms. Another example of the Offer's illusory nature is that Air Products, under the terms of the Offer, is permitted to terminate the Offer if any indebtedness of Airgas is subject to acceleration or otherwise adversely affected in connection with the Offer notwithstanding that Airgas' publicly available debt instruments, such as its credit agreement, provide for acceleration and/or similar rights in the event that the Offer is consummated. In addition, many of the conditions to the Offer are subject to Air Products' sole discretion and many establish a de minimis materiality standard making it easy for Air Products to claim that a condition is not satisfied and terminate the Offer. Indeed, Air Products would have the right to declare a condition not satisfied even if the failure to be satisfied was caused by the action or inaction of Air Products.

VI) Air Products' tactics have been designed to distract and divert attention from the grossly inadequate and highly opportunistic nature of its Offer

Air Products' increasingly shrill complaints are designed to divert attention from the grossly inadequate nature of Air Products' Offer—an offer that the Airgas Board believes is so deficient that it does not make sense as a starting point for any negotiations.

Air Products' attempt to treat Airgas' third quarter earnings as indicative of Airgas' intrinsic value is a deliberate effort to talk down the value of the company it seeks to opportunistically acquire and to divert attention from Airgas' sustained record of extraordinary performance as well as the grossly undervalued price Air Products is seeking to pay.

Air Products' pre-planned strategy of attacking Airgas' Chairman reflects, in our view, a total misunderstanding of Airgas' culture, which would impede Air Products' ability to run Airgas successfully. This strategy was foreshadowed by Air Products' legal advisor in the urgent request for a meeting in early February and the cynical, spurious assertions about indisputably lawful option exercises. The shocked reactions of Airgas' associates to Air Products' tactics portend serious problems for Air Products if it were to succeed in acquiring Airgas.

Air Products' assertions that our Chairman, who is Airgas' largest stockholder, has a conflict of interest in considering the Offer, is, in our Board's view, illogical and disingenuous. The Airgas Board regards these assertions to be part of Air Products' pre-planned strategy of attacking our Chairman. In stark contrast to Airgas' ownership culture, seven of Air Products' eleven directors own no stock in Air Products according to Air Products' definitive proxy statement for its recent annual meeting of stockholders. In addition, Air Products' Chairman's disclosed annual compensation for fiscal year 2009 is more than five times greater than the value of the unrestricted shares of Air Products that he owns.⁵

⁵ This calculation is derived from Air Products' definitive proxy statement for its most recent annual meeting of stockholders and assumes an Air Products stock price of $70. It does not include awards made to Mr. McGlade of restricted stock, stock options and deferred stock units.

Table of ContentsVII) An acquisition of Airgas by Air Products would likely reduce rather than enhance stockholder value

Air Products has a poor acquisition track record, little experience relevant to Airgas' business and a synergy plan that demonstrates its fundamental misunderstanding of our business. This is particularly concerning if Air Products again revises its Offer to include stock.

Air Products has intentionally downplayed the significant differences between the European and U.S. packaged gas industries. The packaged gas industries in the U.S. and Europe, in fact, have very little in common. In contrast to Air Products' European business, Airgas' U.S. business operates in a highly competitive marketplace in which customers demand distribution of numerous products and services, commonly on a just-in-time basis. Air Products' European packaged gas business, which is much smaller than Airgas', operates in a more consolidated and vertically integrated environment. Airgas' concerns were significantly heightened by remarks which Air Products' Chairman made on February 17 at an industry conference. In these remarks, Air Products' Chairman touted supply chain synergies to be derived by Air Products from consolidating filling locations, consolidating gas plant locations, moving from local delivery to hub-and-spoke delivery and utilizing shared services for packaged gas operations and project management.

Air Products' repeated suggestions that a lack of scale was the reason they were unsuccessful in the U.S. packaged gas business years ago, and that the scale of Airgas' business in the U.S. will allow for synergies to be achieved now, are misguided. In this regard, when we acquired Air Products' packaged gas distribution business in 2002, the business had been deprived of capital and was struggling to provide competitive levels of customer service. We are concerned that Air Products is once again demonstrating a fundamental misunderstanding of the highly local, customer-centric nature of the U.S. packaged gas distribution business. We believe that its restructuring of our business model would significantly harm relations with customers, strengthen competitors, ultimately cause severe damage to the business that we have nurtured and developed over nearly 30 years, and reduce rather than enhance stockholder value.

Air Products' acquisition history raises serious concerns. Air Products' acquisition history raises serious questions about its ability to successfully manage Airgas were it to succeed in acquiring our company. In the past 10 years, Air Products has spent $1.8 billion on acquisitions and recorded approximately $400 million of impairments and losses related to those acquisitions. In contrast, Airgas has executed more than four times the number of acquisitions as Air Products in the last decade, while recording less than 1/10th of the acquisition and restructuring charges related to acquisitions as Air Products did during this time. Included in this destruction of stockholder value through acquisitions is Air Products' failed integration of American Homecare Supply, which it purchased in 2002 for approximately $165 million. Over the ensuing three years, Air Products spent over $200 million on acquiring additional homecare businesses. After continued underperformance of its home healthcare businesses, Air Products announced a strategic option review in April 2008. Air Products proceeded to sell its entire home healthcare portfolio in 2008 and 2009 and recorded pre-tax impairment charges of $329.2 million in 2008 and $48.7 million in 2009. In addition, a similar example of stockholder value destruction is Air Products' incurrence of $730 million in charges and losses on unwinding currency hedges related to its aborted attempt to acquire The BOC Group, an acquisition Air Products could not complete because it failed to obtain antitrust clearance for the proposed transaction.

The foregoing discussion of the information and factors considered by the Board is not meant to be exhaustive, but includes the material information, factors and analyses considered by the Board in reaching its conclusions and recommendations. The members of the Airgas Board evaluated the various factors listed above in light of their knowledge of the business, financial condition and prospects of Airgas and considered the advice of the Board's financial and legal advisors. In light of the number and variety of factors that the Board considered, the members of the Board did not find it practicable to assign relative weights to the foregoing factors. However, the recommendation of the Board was made after considering the totality of the information and factors involved. In addition, individual members of the Board may have given different weight to different factors.

In light of the factors described above, the Airgas Board has unanimously determined that the Offer is not in the best interests of Airgas stockholders. Therefore, the Airgas Board unanimously recommends that the stockholders reject the Offer and not tender their shares to Air Products for purchase pursuant to the Offer.

ITEM 5. PERSONS/ASSETS RETAINED, EMPLOYED, COMPENSATED OR USED

Airgas has retained Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Goldman Sachs Group in connection with, among other things, Airgas analysis and consideration of, and response to, the Offer. Both financial advisors will be paid customary fees for such services, will be reimbursed for their respective reasonable out-of-pocket expenses (including fees and disbursements of their respective legal counsel), and will be indemnified against certain liabilities relating to or arising out of the engagement.

Airgas has engaged Innisfree M&A Incorporated (Innisfree) to assist it in connection with Airgas communications with its stockholders in connection with the Offer. Airgas has agreed to pay customary compensation to Innisfree for such services. In addition, Airgas has agreed to reimburse Innisfree for its reasonable out-of-pocket expenses and to indemnify it and certain related persons against certain liabilities relating to or arising out of the engagement.

Airgas has also retained Joele Frank, Wilkinson Brimmer Katcher (Joele Frank) as its public relations advisor in connection with the Offer. Airgas has agreed to pay customary compensation to Joele Frank for such services. In addition, Airgas has agreed to reimburse Joele Frank for its reasonable out-of-pocket expenses and to indemnify it and certain related persons against certain liabilities relating to or arising out of the engagement.

Except as set forth above, neither Airgas nor any person acting on its behalf has or currently intends to employ, retain or compensate any person to make solicitations or recommendations to the stockholders of Airgas on its behalf with respect to the Offer.

ITEM 6. INTEREST IN SECURITIES OF THE SUBJECT COMPANY

No transactions with respect to Airgas Common Shares have been effected by Airgas or, to Airgas knowledge after making reasonable inquiry, by any of its executive officers, directors, affiliates or subsidiaries during the past 60 days, except as described below:

The transactions described above were executed in accordance with applicable law and company policy, including preclearance by company counsel of stock option exercises.

ITEM 7. PURPOSES OF THE TRANSACTION AND PLANS OR PROPOSALS

Airgas routinely maintains contact with other participants in its industry regarding a wide range of business transactions. It has not ceased, and has no intention of ceasing, such activity as a result of the Offer. Airgas policy has been, and continues to be, not to disclose the existence or content of any such discussions with third parties (except as may be required by law) as any such disclosure could jeopardize any future negotiations that Airgas may conduct.

Except as described in the preceding paragraph or otherwise set forth in this Statement (including in the Exhibits to this Statement) or as incorporated in this Statement by reference, Airgas is not currently undertaking or engaged in any negotiations in response to the Offer that relate to, or would result in, (i) a tender offer for, or other acquisition of, Airgas Common Shares by Airgas, any of its subsidiaries or any other person, (ii) any extraordinary transaction, such as a merger, reorganization or liquidation, involving Airgas or any of its subsidiaries, (iii) any purchase, sale or transfer of a material amount of assets of Airgas or any of its subsidiaries or (iv) any material change in the present dividend rate or policy, or indebtedness or capitalization, of Airgas.

Except as described above or otherwise set forth in this Statement (including in the Exhibits to this Statement) or as incorporated in this Statement by reference, there are no transactions, resolutions of the Board, agreements in principle or signed contracts in response to the Offer that relate to, or would result in, one or more of the events referred to in the preceding paragraph.

ITEM 8. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Litigation Matters

On February 4, 2010, Air Products filed an action against Airgas and members of its Board in the Delaware Court of Chancery, styled Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. v. Airgas, Inc., et al., Civil Action No. 5249-CC (the Delaware Action). In the suit, Air Products seeks an order declaring, among other things, that members of Airgas Board breached their fiduciary duties in considering and rejecting Air Products offers and by not forming a special committee of independent directors to consider and negotiate Air Products offers; compelling the members of Airgas Board to form a special committee of independent directors to consider and negotiate Air Products offer; enjoining Airgas and the members of its Board from actions that would interfere with Air Products offer in violation of their fiduciary duties; and awarding Air Products costs and attorneys fees. On February 11, 2010, Air Products filed an amended complaint, adding a claim that members of Airgas Board breached their fiduciary duties by permitting Airgas Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Peter McCausland to exercise options to purchase 300,000 shares of Airgas stock. In addition, the Amended Complaint seeks an order declaring that Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP, counsel to Air Products, is not disqualified from advising Air Products. On February 15, 2009, Air Products filed a motion in the Delaware Action seeking a determination that Cravath is not disqualified from advising Air Products and may appear in the action on behalf of Air Products. On February 22, 2010, the Company and its directors will file an Answer in the Delaware Action denying the material allegations of the Amended Complaint. The Company and its directors believe that the claims made by Air Products are without merit and intend to defend them vigorously.

On February 5, 2010, Airgas commenced litigation against Cravath in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, styled Airgas, Inc. v. Cravath, Swaine & Moore, LLP, Civil Action No. 000857 Feb. 5, 2010) (the Pennsylvania Action). In the action, Airgas alleges that Cravath is conflicted from representing Air Products in its attempted acquisition of Airgas because Airgas is a client of Cravath and seeks, among other things, an injunction restraining Cravath from representing Air Products in connection with its offer for Airgas and damages. On February 9, 2010, the Court in the Pennsylvania Action denied Airgas motion for a temporary restraining order and scheduled an evidentiary hearing on Airgas motion for a preliminary injunction for February 16, 2010. On February 12, 2010, Cravath removed the Pennsylvania Action to the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, styled Airgas, Inc. v. Cravath

Swaine & Moore, LLP, No. 10-CV-612. On February 16, 2010, Cravath filed a motion asking the Court to abstain and/or stay consideration of Airgas' motion to disqualify Cravath in light of Air Products' claim in the Delaware Action, which motion Airgas opposed on February 17, 2010. If Cravath's motion is granted, the Company will proceed with its motion to disqualify Cravath in the Delaware Action.

Five putative class action lawsuits have been commenced by Airgas stockholders against Airgas and/or the members of the Airgas Board in the Delaware Court of Chancery, styled Hollywood Police Officers' Retirement System v. Airgas, Inc., et al., Civil Action No. 5256-CC (filed Feb. 9, 2010); Montgomery County Employees' Ret. Fund v. Airgas, Inc., et al., Civil Action No. 5259-CC (filed Feb. 9, 2010); City of Pontiac Gen. Employees' Ret. System & City of Pontiac Policemen's & Firemen's Ret. System v. Peter McCausland, et al., Civil Action No. 5262-CC (filed Feb. 9, 2010); La. Mun. Police Employees' Ret. System v. Airgas, Inc., et al., Civil Action No. 5264-CC (filed Feb. 10, 2010); and Plumbers Union Local No. 12 Pension Fund v. W. Thacher Brown, et al., Civil Action No. 5271-CC (filed Feb. 16, 2010). These suits variously allege, among other things, that the Airgas Board violated its fiduciary duties to Airgas stockholders in considering and rejecting Air Products' offers. The plaintiffs variously seek an order declaring the Airgas Board breached its fiduciary duties; requiring the Airgas Board to evaluate Air Products' offers and/or alternative transactions that would maximize stockholder value, including conducting an auction of Airgas and/or a market-check of Airgas' value; restricting the Airgas Board's use of certain defensive provisions including its Rights Plan; and awarding compensatory damages, costs and attorneys' fees. The Company and its directors believe that the claims made by the stockholder plaintiffs are without merit and intend to defend them vigorously.

Regulatory Approvals

U.S. Antitrust Clearance

Under the HSR Act, Air Products is required to file a Notification and Report Form with the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice (the Antitrust Division) and the Federal Trade Commission (the FTC) relating to its proposed acquisition of Airgas. Airgas will be required to submit a responsive Notification and Report Form with the FTC and the Antitrust Division on or before 5:00 p.m. on the tenth day following Air Products' filing of its Notification and Report Form. In its Schedule TO, AP Sub stated that Air Products plans to file a Notification and Report Form as promptly as possible after the date hereof. To our knowledge, Air Products has not yet filed any Notification and Report Form with the Antitrust Division or the FTC in connection with the Offer.

Under the provisions of the HSR Act applicable to the Offer, the acquisition of Airgas voting securities pursuant to the Offer may be consummated following the expiration of a 15-day waiting period following the filing by Air Products of its Notification and Report Form with respect to the Offer, unless Air Products receives a request for additional information or documentary material from the Antitrust Division or the FTC or unless the antitrust agencies grant early termination of the waiting period. If, within the initial 15-day waiting period, either the Antitrust Division or the FTC issues a request for additional information or documentary material concerning the Offer, the waiting period will expire 10 days after the date Air Products certifies substantial compliance with the request, unless otherwise extended by court order.

At any time before or after Air Products' acquisition of Airgas voting securities pursuant to the Offer, the Antitrust Division or the FTC could take such action under the antitrust laws as either deems necessary or desirable in the public interest, including seeking to enjoin the purchase of Airgas voting securities pursuant to the Offer, or seeking the divestiture of Airgas voting securities acquired by Air Products or the divestiture of substantial assets of Airgas or its subsidiaries or Air Products or its subsidiaries. State attorneys general and private parties may also bring legal action under the antitrust laws. There can be no assurance that a challenge to the Offer on antitrust grounds will not be made, or, if such a challenge is made, the result thereof.

If any waiting period under the HSR Act applicable to the Offer has not expired or been terminated prior to the expiration date of the Offer, or if the FTC, the Antitrust Division, a state attorney general, or a private party obtains an order enjoining the purchase of Airgas voting securities, then Air Products will not be obligated to proceed with the Offer or the purchase of any Airgas voting securities not previously purchased pursuant to the Offer. Additionally, Air Products may terminate the Offer if any action, proceeding, injunction, order or decree becomes applicable to Air Products that seeks to restrain or prohibit the exercise by Air Products of its full rights of ownership or operation of all or a portion of Air Products' business or assets or those of Airgas. Please see Annex A for more information regarding conditions to the Offer.

Foreign Antitrust Considerations

Airgas conducts operations outside the United States, principally in Canada and to a lesser extent Mexico, Russia, Dubai and Europe. In the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009, Airgas' revenues derived from foreign countries based on the point of sale were $86 million. The Offer may be subject to antitrust filings in those countries. Competition authorities in those countries may refuse to grant required approvals or clearances, bring legal action under applicable foreign antitrust laws seeking to enjoin the purchase of Airgas voting securities pursuant to the Offer, or seek the divestiture of Airgas voting securities acquired by Air Products or the divestiture of substantial assets of Airgas or its subsidiaries or Air Products or its subsidiaries. There can be no assurance that Air Products will obtain all required foreign antitrust approvals or clearances or that a challenge to the Offer by foreign competition authorities will not be made, or, if such a challenge is made, the result thereof.

Delaware Business Combinations Statute

Airgas is subject to the provisions of Section 203 of the DGCL, which imposes certain restrictions upon business combinations involving Airgas. The following description is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the provisions of Section 203 of the DGCL. In general, Section 203 of the DGCL prevents a Delaware corporation such as Airgas from engaging in a business combination (which is defined to include a variety of transactions, including mergers such as the Second-Step Merger proposed by Air Products) with an interested stockholder for a period of three years following the time such person became an interested stockholder unless:

prior to such time the board of directors of the corporation approved either the business combination or the transaction which resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder;

upon consummation of the transaction which resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, the interested stockholder owned at least 85% of the voting stock of the corporation outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, excluding for purposes of determining the voting stock outstanding those shares owned (i) by persons who are directors and also officers and (ii) employee stock plans in which employee participants do not have the right to determine confidentially whether shares held subject to the plan will be tendered in a tender or exchange offer; or at or subsequent to such time the business combination is approved by the board of directors and authorized at an annual or special meeting of stockholders, and not by written consent, by the affirmative vote of at least 66 2/3% of the outstanding voting stock which is not owned by the interested stockholder.

For purposes of Section 203 of the DGCL, the term interested stockholder generally means any person (other than the corporation and any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the corporation) that (i) is the owner of 15% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the corporation, or (ii) is an affiliate or associate of the corporation and was the owner of 15% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the corporation at any time within the three-year period immediately prior to the date on which it is sought to be determined whether such person is an interested stockholder; and the affiliates and associates of such person.

A Delaware corporation may elect not to be covered by Section 203 of the DGCL in its original certificate of incorporation or through an amendment to its certificate of incorporation or bylaws approved by its stockholders. An amendment electing not to be governed by Section 203 of the DGCL is not effective until 12 months after the adoption of such amendment and does not apply to any business combination between a Delaware corporation and any person who became an interested stockholder of such corporation on or prior to such adoption.

Table of Contents

Neither Airgas Certificate nor Bylaws exclude Airgas from the coverage of Section 203 of the DGCL. Unless Air Products acquisition of 15% or more of the Airgas Common Shares is approved by the Board before the Offer closes, Section 203 of the DGCL will prohibit consummation of the Second-Step Merger (or any other business combination with Air Products) for a period of three years following consummation of the Offer unless each such business combination (including the Second-Step Merger) is approved by the Airgas Board and holders of 66-2/3% of the Airgas Common Shares, excluding Air Products, or unless Air Products acquires at least 85% of the Airgas Common Shares in the Offer. The provisions of Section 203 of the DGCL would be satisfied if, prior to the consummation of the Offer, the Airgas Board approves the Offer.

The Airgas Certificate

Article 6 of the Airgas Certificate provides that approval of a merger or other business combination with an Interested Stockholder (generally, a stockholder who is the direct or indirect beneficial owner of 20% or more of the voting power of Airgas outstanding voting stock or an affiliate or associate thereof) requires the affirmative vote of holders of 67% of the voting power of the outstanding voting stock unless such merger is approved by a majority of Airgas disinterested directors or certain fair price conditions are met.

Stockholder Rights Agreement

With its stockholders interests in mind, and like many companies, Airgas has taken measures to protect its value for its stockholders. One of these measures is the Rights Agreement, which is similar to rights agreements adopted by many other public companies. The purpose of the Rights Agreement is to prevent third parties from opportunistically acquiring Airgas in a transaction that the Airgas Board believes is not in the best interests of Airgas stockholders. The Rights Agreement requires any party seeking to acquire 15% or more of the outstanding Airgas Common Shares to obtain the approval of the Airgas Board or else the Rights held by Airgas stockholders other than the acquiror become exercisable for Airgas Common Shares or preferred stock of Airgas, or common stock of the acquiror, at a discounted price that would make the acquisition prohibitively expensive. The Airgas Board believes the Rights Agreement has helped Airgas stockholders at this time by effectively preventing Air Products from opportunistically acquiring Airgas at a price that the Airgas Board believes is inadequate for the reasons discussed above. At the meeting of the Airgas Board on February 20, 2010, the Airgas Board unanimously resolved that the Distribution Date under the Rights Agreement will be deferred until the earlier of (i) the close of business on the tenth calendar day after the Stock Acquisition Date (as defined in the Rights Agreement) and (ii) such date as may be determined by the Airgas Board.

Appraisal Rights

Holders of Airgas Common Shares do not have appraisal rights as a result of the Offer. However, if the Second-Step Merger is consummated, holders of Airgas Common Shares in connection with the Second-Step Merger will have certain rights pursuant to the provisions of Section 262 of the DGCL to dissent and demand appraisal of their Airgas Common Shares. Under Section 262, dissenting stockholders who comply with the applicable statutory procedures will be entitled to receive a judicial determination of the fair value of their Airgas Common Shares (exclusive of any element of value arising from the accomplishment or expectation of the proposed merger) and to receive payment of such fair value in cash, together with a fair rate of interest, if any. Any such judicial determination of the fair value of the Airgas Common Shares could be based upon factors other than, or in addition to, the price per share to be paid in the proposed merger or the market value of the Airgas Common Shares. The value so determined could be more or less than the price per share to be paid in the proposed merger.

Delaware Law

The Second-Step Merger would need to comply with various applicable procedural and substantive requirements of Delaware law. Several decisions by Delaware courts have held that, in certain circumstances, a controlling stockholder of a corporation involved in a merger has a fiduciary duty to the other stockholders that requires the merger to be fair to such other stockholders. Air Products would be a controlling stockholder if the holders of at least a majority of the Airgas Common Shares accept the Offer and their shares are purchased by Air Products pursuant to the Offer. In determining whether a merger is fair to minority stockholders, Delaware courts have considered, among other things, the type and amount of consideration to be received by the stockholders and whether there were fair dealings among the parties.

Forward-Looking Statements.

This Schedule 14d-9 contains statements that are forward looking, as that term is defined by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, as amended, or by the SEC in its rules, regulations and releases. These statements include, but are not limited to: our having strong prospects for organic and acquisition growth in the coming years; the economy just beginning its recovery; the view that under the terms of Air Products' proposal, our stockholders would sacrifice real value and opportunity; our belief that a combination of our two companies could destroy rather than create value; our belief that the Offer would be highly likely to be subject to substantial delays related to U.S. antitrust clearance; and our prospects for continued growth and stockholder value creation. We intend that such forward-looking statements be subject to the safe harbors created by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, as amended. All forward-looking statements are based on current expectations regarding important risk factors and should not be regarded as a representation by us or any other person that the results expressed therein will be achieved. Airgas assumes no obligation to revise or update any forward-looking statements for any reason, except as required by law. Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statement include: adverse changes in customer buying patterns resulting from further deterioration in current economic conditions; weakening in the operating and financial performance of our customers, which can negatively impact our sales and ability to collect our accounts receivable; postponement of projects due to the recession; customer acceptance of price increases; the success of implementing and continuing our cost reduction programs; supply cost pressures; increased industry competition; our ability to successfully identify, consummate, and integrate acquisitions; our ability to achieve acquisition synergies; our continued ability to access credit markets on satisfactory terms; significant fluctuations in interest rates; increases in energy costs and other operating expenses eroding planned cost savings; higher than expected implementation costs of the SAP system; conversion problems related to the SAP system that disrupt our business and negatively impact customer relationships; the impact of tightened credit markets on our customers; the impact of changes in tax and fiscal policies and laws; the potential for increased expenditures relating to compliance with environmental regulatory initiatives; the impact of new environmental, healthcare, tax, accounting, and other regulation; continued potential liability under the Multiemployer Pension Plan Amendments Act of 1980 with respect to our participation in or withdrawal from multi-employer pension plans for our union employees; the extent and duration of current recessionary trends in the U.S. economy; the effect of catastrophic events; political and economic uncertainties associated with current world events; and other factors described in Airgas' reports, including its March 31, 2009 Form 10-K, subsequent Forms 10-Q, and other documents filed by Airgas with the SEC.

(10) performed such other analyses and studies and considered such other information and factors as we deemed appropriate. In arriving at our opinion, we have assumed and relied upon, without independent verification, the accuracy and completeness of the financial and other information and data publicly available or provided to or otherwise reviewed by or discussed with us and have relied upon the assurances of the management of the Company that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make such information or data inaccurate or misleading in any material respect. With respect to the Company Forecasts, we have been advised by the Company, and have assumed, that they have been reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and good faith judgments of the management of the Company as to the future financial performance of the Company. We have not made or been provided with any independent evaluation or appraisal of the assets or liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of the Company, nor have we made any physical inspection of the properties or assets of the Company.

We express no view or opinion as to any terms or other aspects of the Transactions (other than the Consideration to be paid in the Offer, to the extent expressly specified herein), including, without limitation, the form or structure of the Transactions. Our opinion is limited to the adequacy, from a financial point of view, to the holders of Company Common Stock of the Consideration offered to such holders (other than Purchaser and any of its affiliates) in the Offer and no opinion or view is expressed with respect to any consideration to be received in connection with the Transactions by the holders of any other class of securities, creditors or other constituencies of any party. Furthermore, no opinion or view is expressed as to the relative merits of the Transactions in comparison to other strategies or transactions that might be available to the Company or in which the Company might engage. We are not expressing any opinion as to the prices at which the Company Common Stock will trade at any time. In addition, we express no opinion or recommendation as to whether any holder of shares of Company Common Stock should tender such shares in connection with the Offer or any related matter.

We have acted as financial advisor to the Company in connection with its consideration of the Offer and other matters pursuant to our engagement by the Company. We expect to receive fees for our services in connection with our engagement, including advisory fees that will be payable whether or not the Offer is consummated. It is understood that this letter is for the benefit and use of the Board of Directors of the Company in connection with and for purposes of its evaluation of the Offer.

Our opinion is necessarily based on financial, economic, monetary, market and other conditions and circumstances as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof. It should be understood that subsequent developments may affect this opinion, and we do not have any obligation to update, revise, or reaffirm this opinion. This opinion addresses only the adequacy from a financial point of view, as of the date hereof, of the Consideration proposed to be paid to the holders of Shares (other than the Offeror and any of its affiliates) pursuant to the Offer. We do not express any view on, and our opinion does not address, the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Consideration or any other term or aspect of the Transactions. In addition, we do not express any view on, and our opinion does not address, the adequacy or fairness of the Consideration or any other term or aspect of the Transactions to, or any consideration received in connection therewith by, Offeror and any of its affiliates, the holders of any other class of securities, creditors, or other constituencies of the Company; nor as to the adequacy or fairness of the amount or nature of any compensation to be paid or payable to any of the officers, directors or employees of the Company, or class of such persons in connection with the Transactions, whether relative to the Consideration proposed to be paid to the holders of Shares pursuant to the Offer or otherwise.
